Ray Changes Mind, Wants To Face Trial

Letter to Judge May Result in A New Hearing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray wants the judge to reopen the Martin Luther King Jr. murder case, void his plea of guilty and give him a trial by jury.

Ray's intention to seek a new hearing was stated in a letter he wrote from his cell in the state penitentiary to Judge W. Preston Battle, who on March 10 accepted the guilty plea and imposed a 99-year sentence.

"He said he's going to file a post conviction petition and get a lawyer," Judge Battle said Wednesday in disclosing receipt of the letter. "If he does, then we'll have an evidentiary hearing."

Such a hearing would give Ray a chance to show that his legal rights were impaired to the extent that a new start in the case is warranted.

Expressing no surprise at Ray's move, Judge Battle commented: "Everybody does it." Petitions from prisoners have flooded the courts in recent years in the wake of Supreme Court decisions more sharply delineating the pretrial rights of accused persons.

"Enjoys Spotlight"

Percy Foreman, the lawyer who advised Ray to plead guilty and who says his connection with the prisoner is now ended, said in New York.

"I think that James Earl Ray enjoys the spotlight and any way he can keep the center of the stage he will do it. I wish him well. I don't think it advisable, but that's his responsibility, not mine."

"James Earl Ray decided, and he alone decided, to kill Martin Luther King so that he could claim the glory," Foreman declared.

"I think James Earl Ray was a racist. He thought he would be a hero. He completely misconceived the thinking of the white race."

Only a day after his guilty plea Ray told officers taking him from Memphis to the Nashville penitentiary:

"I was convinced if I didn't plead guilty I was going to the electric chair. I wish the hell I hadn't now because with what they had on me I believe the worst I'd gotten would have been life."

Under a 99-year sentence, Ray, now 41, is ineligible to seek parole until he has served 30 years. With a life sentence he would be eligible in 13 years 7 months.

First Objective of U.S.: Prevent Nuclear Raids

Laird Presents Nixon's Plan for ABM System Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States "cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities" but contended the modified antiballistic missile (ABM) system would "protect people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Opening the Nixon administration's fight for public and congressional approval of the controversial ABM project, Laird said the system is based on the theory, "We must rely on our deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start."

Laird rejected the contention by ABM opponents that the project is an escalation of the arms race. He called it instead "a building block for peace" which "opens the door wider to mutual arms control" with the Soviet Union.

"It strengthens our ability to prevent nuclear war," Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Calling the revised ABM by the same "safeguard" name given it last week by President Nixon, the defense secretary said it "is not a stumbling block to arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union," adding: "The Soviet Union is given an added incentive to negotiate a meaningful agreement."

Greater Protection

In the event the Soviets fail to take advantage of this opportunity, Laird said, the safeguard strengthens the nation's defense posture by providing greater protection of its strategic deterrent force.

Laird made clear his program is aimed both at the possibility of a Communist Chinese missile attack in the 1970s and the growing offensive missile force of the Soviet Union.

"We cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities," Laird said. "We just don't have the know-how. We must rely on our nuclear deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start in the first place."

He added that the system "truly protects people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Laird said that China cannot provide a strategic threat for some years but added that the Red Chinese are devoting "an astonishing portion" of their resources to long-range nuclear weapons.

"Adequate Reaction"

"By the mid 1970s," he said, "China could pose a threat to our people and our property." And he contended the ABM system recommended by the President "is carefully designed to meet these threats adequately without overacting."

Deputy Secretary David R. Packard, who followed Laird to the witness stand, said flatly the proposal rejects the idea of a later expansion into a "thick" network designed to protect American cities from Soviet attack.

Thus, Packard sought to counter in advance the argument of ABM critics that the Nixon plan could be the opening wedge for an expanded and vastly more expensive system.

In a change of plans the Armed Services Committee opened the hearings today to television. Hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the missile system Friday also will be televised.

Packard also reported:

—That Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles deployment and development are continuing and that "parity has been reached" with U.S. missile forces.

—That a Chinese ICBM threat "is still likely to come about sometime soon."

Soviet "Polaris"

—That the Russians have "a rather active program" for production of Polaris-type missile submarines. Packard said: "We are very much concerned about this threat which could reduce the ability of our bombing force to get off."

Packard said the United

16 Feared Dead In Plane Crash At New Orleans

Several May be Safe; Small Craft Attempting to Land

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A chartered plane carrying a group of Tennessee sportsmen on a hunting trip crashed and burned while landing in heavy fog this morning at New Orleans International Airport and the coroner reported 16 men killed.

"We believe there are 16 dead," said Dr. Charles B. Odom, Jefferson Parish coroner. "It fits in with the number of those on board the plane—27—three crewmen and 24 passengers." Odom said he believed all the bodies had been removed from the charred aircraft.

Earlier, Fire Chief William Mancuso of Kenner, who helped set up a temporary morgue at the airport, said 19 bodies were visible in the wreckage.

Eleven survivors, none of them in serious condition, were rushed to Ochsner Foundation Hospital. Only three were admitted.

The plane, a DC3, had been sold Wednesday by Avion Corporation to a broker and had been chartered by the West Tennessee Sportsmen's Association.

"A doctor said he counted 10 bodies in sight in the plane," said Jay Charrier, a lineman for the General Aviation Corp. "Myself, I saw about three bodies."

Authorities said the plane came from Memphis and was headed for Belize, British Honduras. It was landing here to refuel and go through customs.

The plane crashed at 7:02 a.m. (CST) on the east-west runway. The crash left a gaping hole in the fuselage, and propellers and other parts were scattered across the runway for 1,000 yards.

Charrier said he was alerted by the control tower to rush to the crash scene and to take another man with him "because we might get lost in the fog."

"I saw fire just in the front part of the plane," Charrier said. "Just a wing and part of the fuselage were left."

"When I went out there I saw a young man walking around in a daze. I also saw some persons bent over others, apparently trying to give first aid. Some were bleeding from their heads and arms. Most of them were in a daze."

"We went out there and at first, because it was so foggy, we didn't see anything," said Earl Williams, the other General Aviation lineman. "We looked around some more and then saw flames through the fog."

One of the survivors, Billy Joe Spencer, who operates a riding academy in Memphis, called his wife from the hospital after the crash.

"He was not seriously hurt and expects to be released from the hospital today," Mrs. Spencer said.

"He said the plane tried to land in heavy fog, that it came in at an angle. The pilot tried to correct it but couldn't, and one of the wings came off. My husband got out through a small hole in the side of the plane. He said if he had weighed 10 pounds more, he wouldn't have been able to get out."

U.S. Casualties Near Mark of Korean War

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U.S. battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war.

The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Viet Cong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U.S. troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive.

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month. More Americans then will have been killed in Vietnam than in any other war in U.S. history except the Civil War and the two world wars.

The U.S. Command said 1,401 Americans were wounded last week, compared with 1,694 the week before.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said. Despite the mounting allied casualties, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were paying a far heavier price for their offensive.

U.S. headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465,479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead, according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U.S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns Wednesday night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

U.S. spokesmen said more than 20 rounds of 100-pound rockets and mortars hit two buildings at the U.S. Navy's Camp Tien Sha, a Navy cargo loading pier, a Seabee base, a Navy hospital and a Marine air base.

Two rounds missed Camp Tien Sha and landed in a nearby village, killing two Vietnamese civilians and wounding six others.

Casualties Light

Spokesmen said military casualties and damage were light, with about half a dozen Americans wounded but none killed. One mortar round did light damage to a ward in the hospital.

Peru Grabs, Frees 2 More U.S. Boats

Negotiations Still Scheduled To Take Place

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru seized two more U.S. tuna boats but released them Wednesday night after their captains paid $25,000 in fines.

The incident could complicate the negotiations John Irwin, a special representative of President Nixon, is beginning with the Peruvian government over the expropriation of U.S. oil properties.

Irwin, who arrived last week, declined to comment on the seizure of the two ships from San Diego, Calif., the Cape Anne and the San Juan, 23 miles off the north coast of this Andean nation.

A Peruvian torpedo boat took the two U.S. ships in tow. Peru claims a 200-mile territorial fishing limit while the United States and most other nations recognize a 12-mile limit.

For the San Juan, whose captain had to pay a $17,000 fine, it was the second encounter with Peruvian naval power. Last Feb. 14, when a gunboat seized another U.S. ship, the San Juan was fired on.

The Cape Anne, whose captain paid an $8,000 fine, was involved in a similar incident in 1965 when it sailed under the name Mayflower, maritime sources here said. Then it was sailing 75 miles offshore when a Peruvian vessel fired at it, slightly wounding an American seaman.

In Washington, several congressmen called for reprisals against Peru.

92 Killed in Plane Crash at Egypt Airport

CAIRO (AP) — A Soviet-built Egyptian airliner returning from a Moslem pilgrimage to Saudi Arabia with 101 persons aboard crashed in flames at the airport in Aswan in upper Egypt today. Officials said 92 persons were killed.

The Ilyushin 18, delivered to United Arab Airlines two weeks ago, exploded and burst into flames after a wing hit the runway, officials reported. Wreckage was scattered 800 yards.

Fourteen persons were taken alive from the wreckage but five of them died shortly after reaching a hospital.

Among the dead were 33 women and 2 babies. One of the survivors was a woman.

135 Britons Begin Task of Occupying Isle in Caribbean

ANGUILLA (AP) — British troops broiled under the Caribbean sun today as they went through the motions of military occupation. The Anguillans remained quiet following the bloodless invasion of their tiny island.

"Doesn't this sun ever go down?" complained a sunburned paratrooper manning a highway checkpoint.

The 35-square-mile island has few trees, and many of the young men flown out from cold, gloomy Britain were badly sunburned a few hours after their dawn landing Wednesday. Temperatures were in the upper 80s.

Shout Support

The 6,000 Anguillans offered no armed resistance to the occupation by 135 British paratroopers and marines, and there was only one major emotional outburst. When acting President Ronald Webster called on British officers at their command headquarters Wednesday, a crowd of about 300 of his people hoisted him to their shoulders, shouted their support and sang the Anguillan freedom song to the tune of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Webster went to the schoolhouse headquarters to arrange a meeting with the occupiers, which he said would be held today. However, he said he would hold no formal negotiations until the British troops are withdrawn.

Webster also protested the invasion in a note to London Wednesday night.

Anthony Lee, an official from London installed by the invasion force as commissioner for the island, said the British occupation might last several years. But the paratroops and marines are expected to depart soon, leaving a detachment of London

Spring Begins, So Does Winter

Fox Cities — The beginning of spring brings with it a chance of rain mixed with snow early tonight, diminishing to flurries late tonight. Increasing cloudiness Friday. Low tonight near 26, high Friday near 33. Northwest winds 10 to 18 m.p.h. tonight and Friday. Precipitation probability 30 per cent tonight, 20 per cent Friday.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours: high 43, low 33. Barometer 29.52 and falling. Winds east at 8 m.p.h. Humidity 93 per cent. Dew point 39 degrees. Skies cloudy. Precipitation .28 inch in overnight rain.

Road Report — Many highways in the state's northern areas are slippery due to rain and fresh snow, although conditions were expected to improve later today. More snow tonight will cause many Fox Valley area roads to be slippery.

Sun sets at 6:06 p.m., rises Friday at 5:56 a.m. Moon sets at 9:15 p.m.

Search for Equality

Women to be Better Criminals?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing numbers of American women will turn to serious crime as they search for independence and equal status with men, a California sociologist predicts.

Gilbert Geis of Los Angeles, in a special report for the Joint Commission on Correctional Manpower and Training, warns that the nation's correctional system must make plans to deal with the changing prison population.

He forecasts rapid increases in crime among both women and the young—women because they seek independence, youth for a variety of reasons compounded by the national migration to the cities.

"As the woman strives for a more independent, less protected role," he asserted, "she will commit, and be convicted of, more serious crime."

Less Protected

Already, he said, this trend is becoming evident through "the growing convergence of crime rates of Negro men and women, as a consequence of the less well protected position of the black female."

Geis' report declared that the problem posed by increasing juvenile crime is especially serious because "offenders begin their criminal activities at an early age."

"It is discouraging to see how early an 'early age' really is," he added. "More youths under 15 are arrested for serious crimes than adults over 25. One out of every two persons arrested for burglary in 1967 was under 18."

PLAY BIG Name BINGO You can WIN $100

Just look for 20 famous faces under bottle caps of Coke. Match the faces with brief descriptions and paste the faces on the game card at left. For each description, look through all 20 famous faces to see if any match correctly. For example, get the "Abraham Lincoln" picture liner and glue it in the space marked "Freed Slaves." It's that simple. Correctly completed card wins you $100. But remember, there are 20 liners showing famous faces, and only 10 descriptions on the playing card. So play carefully. Fill in as many spaces as you can correctly and send card to: "Big Name Bingo", P.O. Box 582, Westport, Connecticut 06880. Read the official rules below for complete details. Play Big Name Bingo—the most refreshing way in the world to win $100! (Famous faces for Big Name Bingo are also found under caps of Tab.)

OFFICIAL RULES

1 Picture liners are available under caps of Coca Cola and Tab. Pictures are also printed on the bottom of can cartoons. You may trade any picture liner for any other that you want by sending the undersized picture liner plus the name of the picture liner you want together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to "Picture Liners", P. O. Box 582, Westport, Connecticut 06880. Additional playing cards also are available from this same address.

2 On the playing grid you will find 10 "questions". Adjacent are pictured examples of 20 possible "answers", which may be obtained as provided in Rule #1. There are no other picture liners in the contest. Answer each question by gluing the correct picture liners face up and clearly visible over the the appropriate questions (be careful, in some instances the same picture liner may be used to answer more than one question and certain questions may not be answered by any of the picture liners).

3 When you glued as many "answers" as you can correctly, sign your card and send it along with your name and address to BIG NAME BINGO, P O Box 582, Westport, Connecticut 06880, for verification and awarding of prize if you are a winner. DO NOT SEND METAL BOTTLE CAPS IN THE MAIL -- only the liners themselves. Entries must be postmarked no later than May 31, 1969. Winners will be notified by mail about June 20, 1969. Limit one prize to a family.
If your entry is judged incorrect, you will not be notified unless you enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope with your entry. You will be notified following the official closing date of the contest. No other correspondence will be entered into regarding this contest.

4 Players submitting a card which is judged exactly correct will be awarded $100.00. The decision of the judges will be final and entry in the contest signifies the agreement of the entrant to abide by the judges decision. All entries become the property of The Coca-Cola Company and none will be returned.

5 Except for incidental help from family and friends, entries must be wholly the work of the person in whose name the entry is submitted, and will be disqualified for professional or compensated help. Contest materials are void and may be rejected if not obtained through legitimate channels, or if any part is illegible, mutilated, smeared or tampered with. No facsimiles are eligible. Void where restricted by law. Applicable taxes are the responsibility of winners. Promotion ends May 31, 1969.

6 Offer open to all U.S. residents except employees (and their families) of The Coca Cola Company, its bottlers, marketing agencies and parties engaged in the development, production and distrution of contest materials.

INVESTMENT FIRMS CALL FOR TRAINED MEN AND WOMEN

Critical Need For Trained Non-Selling Operations People

The acute shortage of Administrative Operations personnel is one of the most urgent problems facing the investment industry. It even has resulted in the periodic closing of stock exchanges and shortening of the investment (trading) day to allow investment firms to "catch up" with the mushrooming volume of business.

And yet, good jobs go begging. Today, there are far more excellent non-selling positions available than there are qualified men and women to fill them.

Openings exist practically everywhere, in large and small cities throughout America—wherever there are stock brokerage houses, banks, mutual fund organizations and insurance companies.

An Answer—designed by and for the investment industry

To meet the growing demand for trained Administrative specialists, a revolutionary new training program has been developed by Career Academy.

Prepared by experts to meet the needs of today and tomorrow, it is considered by many to be the finest, most comprehensive traing of its kind. It is a complete course and can provide one of the most direct routes to a rewarding career in the exciting world of stocks and bonds.

The traing may be taken at one of several Career Academy schools located in major cities across the United States or through a special home study course which is accredited by the Accrediting Commission of the National Home Study Council.

At a resident school, the training can be completed in only four months. Home study students can complete their training in their spare time.

Nationwide placement assistance

As each student approaches the conclusion of this training, the Academy's placement department swings into operation. This department provides each and every graduate with personalized, nationwide jobfinding assistance at no additional cost.

FREE BOOK AVAILABLE

Complete facts about the exciting opportunities in the investment industry are presented in a just-published 36-page booklet, now available free and without obligation to those who are seriously interested in bettering themselves and earning more money.

To receive a copy in the mail send your name, age, address (include zip code) and phone number to Career Academy's Division of Investment Banking Operations, Room 341, 825 N. Jefferson St., Milwaukee, Wis. 53202, or call 272-4822.

Warren to Appeal Order Reinstating 3 UW Students

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren has announced plans to appeal a federal judge's order to reinstate three students suspended recently after a destructive protest on the University of Wisconsin campus.

Warren made his decision after U.S. District Judge James E. Doyle ordered Tuesday that the three students be reinstated by noon Wednesday.

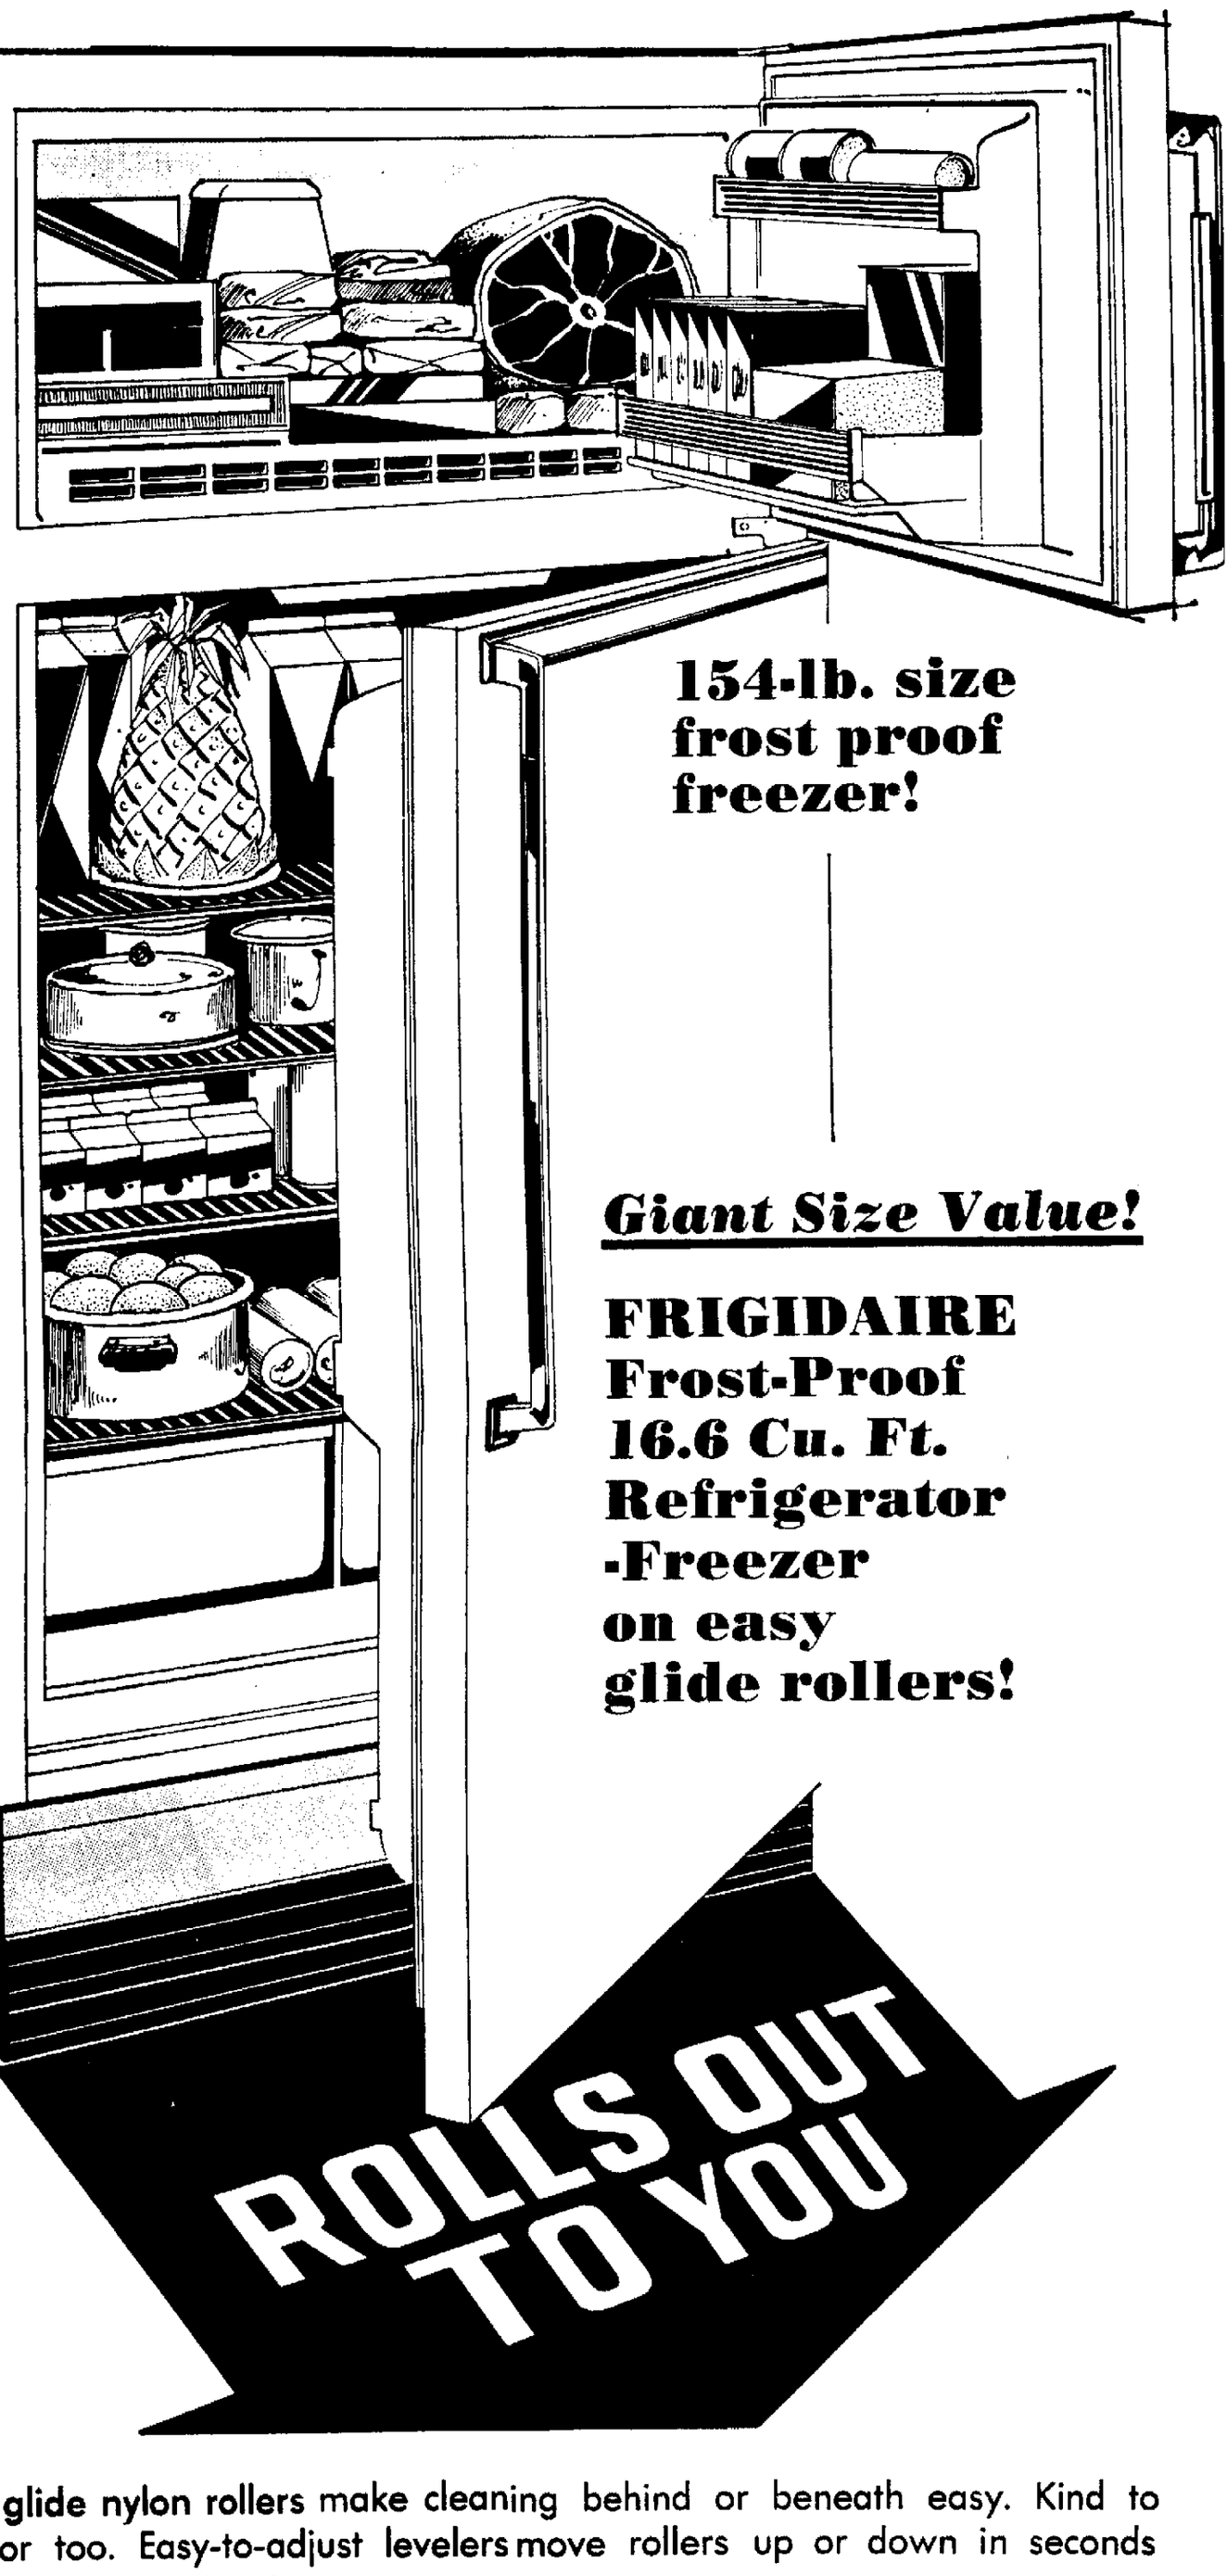

The attorney general said the appeal would be filed with the U.S. 7th Circuit Court in Chicago.

Doyle said his ruling would not prevent the university from suspending the students following a hearing in which the "requirements of procedural due process" are met.

The students are Ronnie Stricklin of Milwaukee, Richard B. Rosenfelt of Olivette, Mo., and James Strickler of Teaneck, N.J.

In his ruling, Doyle said the only time a university may suspend students without a hearing is when there is "reasonable cause to believe that danger will be present if a student is permitted to remain on the campus."

She proposes legalized gambling; health foods in city hall cafeteria, and 10 minutes of morning exercise for the council. (AP Wirephoto)

Housewife Candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles

By KELLY SMITH TUNNEY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A comely red-haired housewife who says Los Angeles "deserves a swinging mayor" is going after the job with green stockings, songs and mini-skirts.

"Politicians are asleep on the job," Eileen Nora Andreson, 32, tells political rallies. Then she launches into song.

"I would like to do lots of good things for this great big city.

Lower all your taxes, do away with smog and pity.

"Legalize gambling and control it by the city.

"Yeh, Yep, Yeh."

Eileen admits "It's a new approach." So is her garb: green mesh opera hose, green miniskirts to accent her long flowing red hair and green eyes. "People remember me."

Eileen, 5-foot-4 mother of three, with a 37-21-31 figure, is one of 13 candidates trying to unseat Mayor Sam Yorty in this city's April primary.

"I feel very qualified," she says, in her clipped British accent. "I've fought city hall before."

She once fought her own auto-injury case against her insurance company. In open court, she whipped off an outer garment and stood before the startled jury clad only in a swim suit "to show my scars." The jury awarded her the decision and she sang "God Bless America" to the judge.

When the insurance company appealed, she picketed its offices in a swim suit. Police challenged her garb, or lack of it. Eileen won a city permit to continue, and the insurance company agreed to settle for $14,000.

Concerned about smog, she wore a mermaid costume to appear before the county's air pollution board. Her smog solution: "Dig a hole through the San Gabriel mountains and fan the air out."

Does Eileen have a chance in the race? "My name's first on the ballot. And my mother, who reads tea leaves, says I will."

Eileen's husband, Bill, says "I'm trying to keep my sense of humor."

About Being a Good 'Scout'

BY ERMA BOMBECK

From time to time readers make suggestions as to what they want to see in the column. Three letters in my mail today asked me to say something about the Girl Scouts. May I remind you this is a humor column.

My experience as a Girl Scout's mother spans eight years As you know scouting sustains itself by the valuable contributions of volunteer mothers. It is quite scientific. A mother lists her skills, interests, background and whatever unique contribution she can make to the life of a girl. The leader and her assistant pour over these qualifications accordingly.

My first assignment was to transport three Girl Scouts and five cans of garbage home from Girl Scout camp. Normally, they would have buried it (the garbage, not the Girl Scouts) but it was out of season.

Next, I volunteered to help the girls with a homemaking badge. This was not only voted down by the council but I was adopted by Troop 375 (a shock troop) who came in every evening after school and vacuumed popcorn out of the sofa and cleared paths to the fire exits.

I was likewise discouraged from assisting with the cooking badge ("We don't cater our cook-outs, Mrs. Bombeck.",) the creative writing badge ("We've read your book"), and sewing badge ("We feel that any mother who requested iron-on badges could handle a group of beginners."). Finally, in desperation, they asked, "Do you know anything about television?"

"Are you serious?" I said. "I haven't missed a day of 'Love of Life' in eight years Why when Arthur Tate died I drank my coffee black for three days" I got to make the phone call to the television station to arrange for a tour. Big deal.

Perhaps my biggest contribution to scouting was four years ago when I hustled cookies. As a cookie chairman I racked up $54 in sales. That's what I bought.

There are other memories of scouting, of course. . the day I made 34 phone calls trying to find three mothers to drive the girls to a Flipper movie. . the night my daughter missed the ceremony for her social dependency badge because she couldn't figure out how to ride to the church social room. . and the wonderfully warm human beings who give up countless volunteer hours to care for other people's children.

This month is Girl Scout cookie month. Won't you observe it by taking a Girl Scout mother out for a drink?

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR EASTER

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel.This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at H. C. Prange Company and other stores with fashion spirit.

Self-Cleaning Oven Boon For Today's Homemaker

A range cooks — all by itself For years, homemakers have only had to set the controls The range did all the rest

But what the range did not do was the clean up afterward The sauces it simmered to a smooth perfection became sticky residue caught under the burner drip bowl The memorable steaks, savory broiled in natural juices, left behind another kind of reminder — a crusty broiler pan. That favorite apple pie — well, some of the spicy sweet filling oozed out and hardened to the oven bottom

The range cooked. That was its job But the homemaker cleaned. That was her job Ranges today are still doing their job of cooking — and doing it better than ever But they're helping with the job of cleaning too

Self-Cleaning Ovens

The most independent of this new breed of ranges are the ones with self-cleaning ovens The homemaker has only to remove all cooking utensils from the oven and set the controls to begin the range's cleaning process, during which the oven is heated up to about 880 degrees F At this temperature, food soil disintegrates into a small amount of ash, similar to that of a cigarette, that can be easily wiped from the oven bottom.

Other advantages of this self-cleaning oven were enumerated at an appliance conference recently by an industry engineer who helped develop the first one.

The cooking performance of a self-cleaning oven is even better than that of a standard range. Its design is such that, during normal baking temperatures, the range is almost cool to the touch, and during automatic cleaning, is not much warmer than a standard range at high bake temperatures

Built-in Safety

Safety is a built-in feature of the self-cleaning oven The door cannot be opened inadvertently during the cleaning cycle. Nor can the homemaker get the high cleaning temperatures in the oven unless she deliberately sets the controls for it or unless the range is in safe operating condition.

Self-cleaning ranges are now available in both electric and gas models.

Other range design innovations which help the homemaker keep her oven sparkling clean, easily, include. removable Teflon-lined oven walls, Teflon-coated oven racks, removable oven bottoms, disposable foil oven linings, improved oven ventilating systems, smokeless closed door broiling and removable storage drawers

Surface Easier to Clean

Cooking surfaces of today's ranges are also easy to clean On some self-cleaning models, the drip bowls can be cleaned in the oven during the automatic cleaning cycle Other features which make the homemaker's clean-up tasks easier are hinged lift-up cooktops, cooktops with raised rims to prevent scorching.

With drudgery of oven cleaning ended, and the entire range easier to clean, what is there left for range engineers to do? They tell us that behind closed doors in their laboratories, they're dreaming up ways to make tomorrow's ranges — easier since their proper use well, wait until tomorrow.

Don't Wash Meat

Never wash meat. Merely wipe it off with a damp cloth. Washing it will dull the edge of its fine flavor.

EMPHASIS ON ELEGANCE for Easter

Welfare Circle to Lead Public On Tours at Silvercrest Sunday

People in the Fox Valley area are invited to view Silvercrest, the new group foster home for girls at 1041 Green Acres Lane, Neenah, from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Members of the Welfare Circle of The King's Daughters will escort visitors through the home in groups of six to 10, and explain the purpose of the home.

Total capacity of the foster home is eight girls, all of whom are referred from private and public social agencies in all counties of the state because for some reason they are not able to remain in their own homes.

The project is under the sponsorship of the Wisconsin Chapter of The International Order of The King's Daughters, which includes about 375 women in 24 circles in the state. In February the first girls moved in with their foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Logue, who also have three adopted children of their own.

Members of the Circle, who will welcome the public Sunday, include the officers: Mrs. Elmer V. Johnson, president; Mrs. William F. Kennedy, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Hahn, recording-secretary; Mrs. David D. Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Scott, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Duane Sweet, cancer chairman.

Other members will be Mrs. W. W. Allmandinger, Mrs. James Arnold, Mrs. Addison Davis, Mrs. Murray Funk, Mrs. Herbert Gaustad, Mrs. George Hildebrand, Mrs. Clark Hook, Mrs. Gordon Matson, Mrs. John Pierce, Mrs. Melvin Rausch, Mrs. Don Rawson, Mrs. B. B. Spafford, Mrs. Paul Stordock, Mrs. Charles Tewksbury and Mrs. Waldo Varberg.

The Welfare Circle meets the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) building at which time the members also make cancer dressings. Money - making projects are a bridge marathon and rummage sales. Proceeds go, in addition to Silvercrest, to Theda Clark Hospital, YWCA Community Center and to the VNA for equipment.

Women's Wear Daily Feuds With Designers

NEW YORK — Designer James Galanos today accused Women's Wear Daily of a "disgraceful personal grudge" against Givenchy, according to a magazine article on the "gusty, gossipy trade paper of the fashion industry."

"Women's Wear Daily's reaction to a collection of clothes often determines how that collection sells," McCall's New York edition asserted in its current issue, just released, and noted that the New York paper recently dismissed one of Givenchy's collections as "Flop Art."

"In addition, WWD is currently feuding with Bill Blass and does not cover his collections or mention his name," the article said.

"I'm persona non grata at Women's Wear," Blass told McCall's. "And this has an enormous effect on business."

The article noted that "when WWD likes a look it pushes it relentlessly. Like it or not, most 'in' women seem to end up buying the clothes WWD likes and gossiping about the people WWD photographs," and revealed that in the next few months the paper will be pushing transparent, lacy pants, and embroidery in place of prints.

The trade paper's fashion editor, June Weir, said: "I think people are sick of youth, youth, youth Now they're looking for older women with substance." This means, the article noted, that "the young idols — Mia Farrow, Twiggy and Jane Fonda — will be replaced by mature movie stars like Anouk Aimee, Ann Bancroft and Joanne Woodward.

"But the surprise of the year may be that Jackie O is becoming old hat," magazine revealed, and quoted Miss Weir as asserting: "She's so much out of what's happeing today. With her yachts and servants she's the Marie Antoinette of the twentieth century."

The article commented: "There may be yet another reason for Jackie O's possible fall from grace. WWD fumed when on a recent two-day trip from Athens to New York that superconsumer of fashion never changed her gray wool dress. After all, what good is one of the world's wealthiest and most beautiful women to WWD if she wears the same dress two days in a row?"

Top Hat Dance Club Bids Winter Adieu

Spring Posies, harbingers of sunny days ahead, help to animate the conversation of Top Hat Dance Club members, Dr. and Mrs. Neil Brahe, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Vaughn and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fenlon.

No tears were shed Saturday evening at the Conway Motor Inn., where Top Hat Dance Club members bid adieu to winter and said hello to warm, sunshiny days at a semi-formal "Waltz into Spring" dance.

The remnants of the last few months were in evidence at the entrance adorned with snowflakes, but just a few steps beyond lay a land of bright spring flowers and budding trees fashioned by the club's decorating committee.

Before the dance, members were entertained at cocktail parties at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Menning, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kafura, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barlament and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gray.

Afterwards at the Conway Motor Inn, new officers were introduced in the persons of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fenlon, presidents; Mr. and Mrs. John Rouman, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Britton, secretaries, and Mr. and Mrs. Rod Vaughn, treasurers.

Co-chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn.

Parents and Children

By Arnold Arnold

For Kids Only: Prepare Now for the Kind of Life You'd Like to Live

Sometime between the ages of 13 and 20, every teen-ager and young adult asks himself: "Who am I, and who am I going to be?" These sound like silly questions to many adults who think they know who they are. But these questions are not silly. They are real, relevant and important.

Being young means that you are in the process of being. Unfortunately, most of the real life you see around you convinces you more of what you dont' want to be than who you would like to be. I can't say I blame you. And the fantasy image of life, portrayed in commercials, isn't very encouraging either. Who wants to see himself cast in the life-long role of a rotor rooter and "Preparation H" consumer?

It's up to you to prepare yourself for the kind of life you think you'd like to live. Don't wait till you get out of high school, college or vocational school. These are primarily designed to help you become the person you want to be. So you'd better start looking around now for models after which to pattern your future. This doesn't mean that you can't change your mind. But you should try, at every moment in your life, to be committed to some special interest, way of life, or future. This will let you know right now who you are.

Take a look at those who have already arrived at adult careers in different fields. Their lives can give you clues to the number of "identity" choices available to you. Losing yourself in the popular uniform of the moment, owning a car or mod clothes, will not give you an identity. You may be able to forget your lack of identitiy in the crowd. But at odd moments, before you go to sleep, or while taking a shower, you'll be bound to face your facelessness, unless you choose an identity for yourself. The same principle still holds true that allowed you to have a ball when, as a tot, you wanted to be a fireman. You had no identity crisis at age 5.

Your choice may be larger, now that you are a near adult. And you may feel that any premature choice may close doors to you later. But that's a myth. Any commitment allows you better to change horses whenever you feel like it. Without a commitment, you'll have to start from scratch every time you change your mind.

Your Problems

She's Told Not to Mention Missent Letter

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 and engaged to marry a 21-year-old G. I. who is now in Vietnam.

Last week I received a letter from Bruce. It was a love letter which he had put in the wrong envelope by mistake. From the places he mentioned it is clear that he met this girl during basic training at Fort Dix. He asks her to "keep fresh the memories of those tender moments." I am sure they did more than hold hands.

Should I send Bruce the letter and tell him I'm through? Or should I act like everything is O. K. and settle the matter when he gets home? I am deeply hurt and would like to break the engagement. I don't want to marry a man I can't trust.

What do you advise? — The Girl He Left Behind

Dear Girl: Give no hint that all is not well. Eventually Bruce will learn of his mistake because the damsel with whom he did his "basic training" undoubtedly received the letter intended for you. Sit back and see how he handles it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you honestly believe that people who don't want to raise children are psychologically disturbed?

When you say the drive to reproduce is one of the strongest in animals and healthy humans, you are equating the sex drive with the desire to beget offspring. Animals can't separate sex from reproduction, but people can.

Landers

There are plenty of people who like sex but don't happen to care for children. This attitude does not always stem from fear of childbirth, laziness, marital discord, or any other kind of hangup. Some women simply don't relish the thought of spending the best years of their lives cooped up in a house with screaming kids from morning till night. What's so nutty about that? — Career Woman

Dear Woman: You are confused. I suggested professional help for a 23-year-old reader who wanted to adopt children instead of have them because she was terrified of labor pains.

This unfortunate lady has a deep-seated fear from which she should be liberated, for her own sake as well as in fairness to the man she marries. Her mother and Aunt Tillie probably scared her to death with stories of their agonizing labor. (Those stories get better every year.)

It may surprise you, but not all women view raising a family as spending the best years of their lives cooped up with a house full of screaming kids. Some women find satisfaction, fulfillment and pride in raising a family. And what's so nutty about that?

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Non-Peeker Is a Good Husband

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"Please give me some advice in an affair of the heart," a young lady pleads. "We played bridge recently against my father and mother, and my father accused my fiance of peeking at his hand. Bob just laughed and said something about counting. What did he mean, and do peekers make good husbands?"

Opening lead — ♡ 2

The fiance ruffed the second heart with the king of trumps (the letter goes on) and led the queen of trumps to the ace. West led a diamond to the ace, and a diamond then came back. South took the king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy and drew the last trump.

South then took the ace of clubs and led a club from dummy. East played the eight, and the young man played the nine of clubs and claimed the rest of the tricks before West could play, saying that he would get to dummy with a trump to take another club finesse.

That's when the girl's father accused the young man of peeking. A hasty accusation, it seems. The young man simply counted the hand.

Marked with 4 Clubs

West's raise and the opening lead showed four hearts, which meant that East held six hearts. East followed to only one spade and only two diamonds. Since these three suits accounted for only nine of East's cards, his other four cards simply had to be clubs.

After taking the ace of clubs declarer knew that East had the missing three clubs. He could safely claim the rest of the tricks.

I advise my correspondent to marry this young man before he gets away. A man who can laugh when he is accused of peeking is beautifully secure. But a smart girl would tone her man down so that he doesn't rile ole-timers with early claims. The ideal husband, like the ideal bridge player, knows how to conceal his brilliance.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S- K Q J 4 3, H- 10, D- K J 4, C- K J 9 8. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. This aceless hand is not quite worth its apparent point count, but it is more than strong enough for an opening bid.

Enemy Plans Forced Takeover Of S. Vietnam, U.S. Charges

Lodge Makes Assertion at Peace Talks; Hanoi Counters With Claims of Intensification

PARIS (AP) — The United States charged today the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam "is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

At the ninth session of the Paris peace talks, South Vietnam accused the other side of preparing a massive new attack on Saigon and said unless it is called off it will have an adverse impact on the negotiations.

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front defended the offensive as an answer to what it called "terrorist and sweep operations against the South Vietnamese people." It asserted President Nixon's warning of an "appropriate response" to the current offensive was a threat to escalate the war.

North Vietnam declared the United States and its allies had intensified the war, a charge rejected by the American delegation.

The meeting adjourned after four hours and the participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Careful Preparations

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said that the Communist command planned its offensive long ago and made detailed and careful preparations which were in no way a response to U.S. acts.

Lodge presented arguments, purportedly supported by captured documents, to back this charge and told the other side the Americans had not escalated the war.

"Ladies and gentlemen, the fact is that the military offensive launched by your side is not a response to the so-called escalation of the war by the United States. It is a calculated part of a plan to take over South Vietnam by force."

Addressing the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, Ambassador Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam said "many divisions of your soldiers are about to engage in a hopeless attack on Saigon."

"If that attack occurs," Lam declared, "it will surely be smashed and it will also cause heavy losses to your side and much mourning to the people. Therefore I call on your side not to proceed further on that costly adventure, in order to keep alive the prospects for these meetings."

Troops in Laos

Ambassador Xuan Thuy accused the Americans of escalating the war including action in neighboring Laos. He said Melvin R. Laird, secretary of defense, had admitted the encroachment of U.S. troops into Laos and denied that Hanoi has any soldiers there. The Americans say there are at least 50,000 North Vietnamese troops in Laos.

Thuy said no settlement of the Vietnam problem is possible if it is not based upon the fundamental demands of Hanoi—"not a reduction of troops" by the Americans, but "the withdrawal of all U.S., and satellite troops from South Vietnam." Nixon's recent statements, said Thuy, show the American leader "is not willing to do this."

Tran Buu Kiem of the National Liberation Front, speaking first, in effect discounted the allied charges in advance. He said the Viet Cong had won sweeping victories and the United States "must bear full responsibility for the waste of GI's lives."

Chinese attacks or small attacks from other nations, we must act to do so."

He said the revised ABM system is unmistakably defensive and "it will be deployed in a manner clearly related to the emerging threat."

The Nixon administration's ABM is designed to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force at an estimated cost of $6 billion to $7 billion.

The original ABM approved by the Johnson administration would have guarded 15 major cities at a cost of $5.5 billion. The administration is asking almost $900 million less than Johnson to get its Sentinel going and says that ultimately it will be less expensive because it won't expand with a much larger Sentinel.

Attempted Piracy

FBI Agent Foils Gunman on Plane

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A gunman who had ordered a flight to Cuba was disarmed and arrested aboard an airliner by an FBI agent among the passengers when the plane landed here to refuel.

As the agent, big, graying John Reed, struggled with the would-be hijacker, the man's 22-caliber pistol went off, but the bullet richocheted off the floor without hitting anybody.

The FBI identified the gunman as Douglas Alton Dickey, 27, and said documents in his possession showed he was born in Casa Grande, Ariz. He was held on a federal charge of air piracy, which carries a maximum penalty of death.

Boarded in Dallas

Robert E. Rightmyer, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said Dickey boarded the plane Delta Airlines Flight 918 Wednesday night at Dallas.

Rightmyer said the man produced his pistol and took over the plane about five minutes before it was scheduled to land at New Orleans. He agreed to a landing when the pilot said he could not make it to Cuba without refueling.

Once the plane was on the ground, Rightmyer said, the gunman said the 89 other passengers could get off. The last passenger to approach the exit door, where the man stood gun in hand, was Reed, assistant special agent in charge at Oklahoma City.

Reed stopped in front of the man and informed him he was under arrest. He said the man replied:

"I do not intend to kill you but I am going to Havana and I am going to shoot you in the leg."

Reed subdued him in a quick struggle, during which the pistol fired once.

Reed's presence on the plane was due to his recent transfer from the FBI office at Mobile, Ala., to Oklahoma City. He was flying back to Mobile to move his wife and six children to their new home.

Red China Is Selling To U.S., Russia Says

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist China has been selling war materials to the United States for use in Vietnam, a Soviet newspaper charged today.

The newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya (Soviet Russia), reprinted a report from a Ceylonese newspaper that the U.S. 7th Fleet "bought from Hong Kong firms secretly controlled by Peking a consignment of various goods and 15 transport barges which were then shipped to South Vietnam."

Two Soviet correspondents reported in another newspaper that Soviet warplanes and tanks are operating near the disputed island where Russian and Chinese troops have clashed three times this month.

Generally Quiet

The border area around the island known to the Russians as Damansky and to the Chinese as Chenpao has been reported generally quiet since the last major clash a week ago.

But the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, in a report from the scene, said that one morning this week "a shot sounded somewhere in the area of Damasky Island, and as if reacting to it, aircraft painted with the (Soviet) Red Star began to rumble, and tanks and armored vehicles were rattling near the border."

Sovetskaya Rossiya and Moscow Radio also claimed that special trains are transfering large numbers of farmers and skilled workers from Moscow and other parts of European Russia to the Far Eastern frontier.

Hundreds of families were said to have made the 10-day train trip to the sparsely populated Ussuri River border region, and 127 more families were reported ready to go on an express train Saturday.

Increase Salaries

The reports hint that salaries and living conditions will be considerably improved for persons willing to make the journey, apparently to reinforce Russia's hold on the thinly settled border lands claimed by China.

Red China continued to report progress in its "preparedness against war" and claimed that production has increased as a rebuff to Soviet intrusions into China.

The New China News Agency said "the eight million heroic people" in the northern border province of Sinkiang "are transforming their hatred for the Soviet revisionist renegade clique into a mighty fighting force."

War Casualties Mount

but no casualties were reported there.

South Vietnamese headquarters said several other rocket rounds slammed into a prisoner of war camp but caused no casualties there either.

The rockets that hit Da Nang Tuesday night killed 14 civilians and wounded 24.

Hard ground fighting also was reported close to Da Nang. South Vietnamese headquarters said enemy squads slipped into Vinh Dien, a district capital 10 miles south of Da Nang, before dawn Wednesday, and government militiamen, infantrymen and armored personnel carriers battled all day to root them out.

A government spokesman said 116 enemy soldiers and 19 government men were killed and 74 of the defenders were wounded.

Civilians wre caught in the crossfire, with five killed, 11 wounded and 33 homes destroyed.

Elsewhere in the northern sector, a North Vietnamese force overran a militia compound near Tam Ky, but U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops took it back and killed 18 of the enemy in a sharp fight.

Government casualties were termed light and there were no Marine casualties in the fighting, spokesmen said. Tam Ky is on the coast about 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

Avoid Contact

U.S. spokesmen said enemy troops appeared to be avoiding contact with the 10,000 American infantrymen sweeping the jungles and rubber plantations northwest of Saigon. The counteroffensive, Atlas Wedge, is intended to forestall an attack on Saigon. Spokesmen said American forces had killed 174 enemy soldiers since the operation began Tuesday. Dive-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery got most of them.

In one Atlas Wedge action Wednesday night, enemy machine guns and small arms opened up on tanks and armored personnel carriers from the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment five miles northeast of Dau Tieng. The American armor replied with 90mm cannon and .50-caliber machine guns while helicopter gunships and artillery raked the enemy positions.

After about 20 minutes the surviving enemy troops withdrew, leaving 20 bodies behind. U.S. headquarters said there were no U.S. casualties.

Before Atlas Wedge was launched, intelligence reports had indicated as many as 7,500 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were trying to push along the Saigon River for an attack on the capital. But "the enemy is avoiding us," said a spokesman for the 25th Infantry Division.

"There are no big contacts. We're digging out abandoned bunkers, some of them in complexes 200 yards long. They're leaving behind weapons and rice. Yesterday we found 15 motors for 122 millimeter rockets."

The spokesman said the enemy also had left many booby traps.

He added that the sweep has taken the pressure off Dau Tieng, a major base for his division. He said the base had not been attacked in the past two days but prior to that had come under rocket attack almost every night.

Britons Begin Business of Occupying Isle

police to keep the Union Jack flying.

The British government has assured the Anguillans they will not be forced back into federation with the island of St. Kitts. They seceded from the federation May 31, 1967, complaining that the federation's prime minister, Robert L. Bradshaw, treated them as stepchildren.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the British House of Commons the occupation would give all concerned a breathing space to determine where their real interests lie. He made clear that the government feared Anguilla's secession, if it succeeded, would inspire other islands to break away from other British-sponsored federations, leaving Britain to take care of the rebels when they couldn't support themselves.

For the most part, Anguilla's 6,000 Negro inhabitants stood about in small groups and watched impassively as the white invaders set up roadblocks and posted guards at such strategic points as the island's partially paved airstrip.

American Deported

No arrests were reported, but a white American, Jack Holcomb, was put on a chartered plane by British soldiers and flown to St. Thomas, in the U.S. Virgin Islands. Holcomb, a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., real estate developer, had been advising Webster.

Holcomb flew from St. Thomas to San Juan, Puerto Rico, to catch a flight to Miami.

Holcomb rejected any charges that he was connected with the underworld and said his interests in Anguilla were connected to legitimate hotel development projects. He accused the British of making him "the goat—due to my relationship with Webster."

As the invasion force went about its work in a business-like manner, the Anguillans were ordered to stop at each major intersection and show identification.

Laird Gives Nixon's Plan for ABM System

States must assure itself and any potential enemy that at least several hundred of the nation's 1,000 Minuteman missiles would survive a first strike and hit back against enemy cities.

"Even a few hundred surviving Minutemen could kill tens of millions of the enemy and thus would deter him from attacking," Packard said.

The Armed Services Committee is heavily weighted with backers of the revised ABM that President Nixon called for last Friday.

The disarmament subcommittee, however, is weighted the other way with its chairman, Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, an outspoken opponent of any ABM.

The subcommittee also includes such Sentinel critics as Chairman J. W. Fulbright, of the parent Foreign Relations Committee, Democrat Frank Church of Idaho, and Republican John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

After Laird presented a general defense budget rundown behind closed doors Wednesday, Stennis said today's session was set aside to explore "the positive side" of the ABM.

But Laird touched on the Sentinel in the closed session when asking for $800 million to get construction started on the first two sites and to procure 10 more.

Laird, in what was the administration's initial presentation of its ABM case on Capitol Hill, said the new system is needed because of the growing nuclear threat from Communist China.

Laird warned an operational nuclear capability would give "Communist China the possibility of being one of our gravest national security problems in the 1970s."

"The Chinese threat against our population, as well as the danger of an accidental or small attack from some other source, cannot be ignored," he said, adding:

"Since it is within our power to reduce U.S. fatalities to a minimum level or to prevent them altogether in the event of

American Airlines Strike Over; Wage Hikes in New Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines resumed flight operations today after a 21-day strike by ground service employes.

The first flight in the New York area left La Guardia Airport at 8:30 a.m. for Boston. Other morning flights were scheduled from Boston and Cleveland.

The airline had a fleet of 22 jets ready at Kennedy Airport, planning to increase its flight schedules steadily and building to normal operations by Sunday.

The workers voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to accept a new contract providing hourly wage increases of 25.5 per cent for line mechanics.

American, the nation's second largest domestic airline alerted 7,500 furloughed employes, mostly flight crews, to return to work today even before the vote results were formally announced.

During the strike by 12,700 Transportation Workers Union members, the line's 225 jet airplanes were maintained by supervisory and management personnel.

Multi-Function Rooms Popular Decorating Idea

Multi-purpose, 'round the clock, or whatever term is used, much of today's furniture is designed for several uses in rooms that serve many functions.

Bedrooms, basic to every home, need not go unused during the day or be furnished only with bed, dresser and chest. Beds can be sleeper sofas or disguised with bolsters and pillows for day time use. A trundle bed in a child's room can add hidden storage — without added furnishings — or hide a spare bed for unexpected visitors.

A family room, den or recreation room also can have a second life. A sleeper sofa or bed behind cupboard doors can turn this room into a spare bedroom. The addition of a cozy recliner, music system, television games or mother's sewing equipment makes this room beneficial to all family members and keeps activities centralized so other members of the family can relax quietly in their rooms or — in other parts of the home.

The wide range of new bunching or stacking tables and chairs allows for ample seating and serving space, yet requires a minimum of space. With the addition or removal of a cushion, many new items serve a double life as tables or seating pieces.

Patio furniture, once made strictly for outdoor use, is equally at home today in the kitchen, lower level dining areas or in the family or recreation room during the winter months. In summer, these casual furnishings, again can be moved outdoors for use in the yard.

The variety is endless — limited only by a family's need and imagination.

Registration for Conference Closed by GOP

Because 100 women from Wisconsin have signed up to attend the 17th annual Republican Women's Conference, April 14 to 17, in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Byron Ising, Oshkosh, Republican National Committeewoman of Wisconsin, announced that state registrations would have to close immediately.

Outstanding teen-age girls, two from each state, will serve as pages for the conference and will be sponsored by the national committeewoman of each state.

Mrs. Ising has chosen Miss Mary Thompson, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Thompson, Mount Horeb, and Miss Rene Johnson, a Bayside teen-ager, to serve as Wisconsin pages.

WIN A 2-Week Trip For Two Anywhere On Earth!

What To Do: Fill out the coupon (or use a postal card facsimile) to guess the year, month, day, hour, minute and the second that the first American Astronaut steps onto the surface of the moon.

RULES

1. Any man, woman or child residing in the United States and District of Columbia is eligible to submit an entry, except for employes of Gannett newspapers, radio and television stations and their families and employes of Post Corporation newspapers, radio and television stations or other Post Corporation facilities and their families.
2. Deadline for entries is May 1, 1969.
3. Entries must contain year, month, day, hour, minute and second to be eligible. Specify the day as the actual date. Official time will be that registered by NASA as the time the first American astronaut steps on the moon. If the astronauts do not leave the Lunar module, the time will be the instant the lunar module landed on the moon's surface.
4. Entries are to be sent to The Post-Crescent for local registration, then will be sent to TODAY, Cape Kennedy where they will be judged for the national prizes.
5. The winning entry will be that with the exact Cape Kennedy Time (Eastern Standard Time) . . . or closest to that time. In case of ties, entry received earliest will be judged the winner. The Post-Crescent prizes will be awarded whether or not the entrants are national prize winners.
6. The first prize winner and one other person of his choice will be given an expense paid vacation for two weeks anywhere on earth he selects. The prize will include transportation to and from point selected, living accommodations, meals, specified entertainment and sightseeing trips in the immediate location. Trip must be completed within one year from the date of notification. The Post-Crescent will award a handsome set of Tourister luggage, first prize. Second prize will be an Instamatic camera.
7. The decision of the judges will be final. No entries will be returned.

Five Empty Cars of an eight-car Chicago and North Western freight derailed late Wednesday afternoon in Kaukauna on the approach to the bridge over Lock No. 2 of the Fox River. The derailment occured as the second engine of a double diesel was rounding a curve. It derailed, but stayed on the embankment. Three cars in the center of the train rolled down the 20 foot embankment. Firemen estimated that about 2,000 gallons of diesel fuel spilled when a tank on an engine ruptured. Mediation Asked in Teacher Negotiation

Salaries Remain Major Point of Disagreement In Stalemated Bargaining

Bargaining for Appleton teacher contracts has reached an impasse, and teachers have requested the assistance of a state mediator, a joint press release revealed this morning.

The salary schedule reportedly is the crux of the dispute, although the release refers only to "areas of dispute." The board of education has offered a $6,700 beginning salary for teachers with a bachelor degree, while the Appleton Education Association (AEA) is seeking a $7,400 base, $100 below the initial demand.

A similar impasse was reached in 1968 bargaining, and led to fact-finding.

Appoint Mediator

Appleton Attorney Gordon Myse, chief AEA negotiator, said a letter has been sent to the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) requesting that it appoint a mediator.

The release indicates both sides have consented to mediation.

"Although negotiations have been conducted since October of 1968, it does not appear that the Appleton Education Asssociation and the Appleton School Board will be able to reach agreement on the terms for a 1969-70 employment contract," according to the release.

Under an agreement, no information on negotiations can be released unless both sides give approval to the release.

Base Salary

The deadlock apparently became unresolvable last week in a bargaining session when both sides agreed they could not come to terms on base salary. The amount of base salary affects the annual pay increases (increment) and the salary levels of the total pay schedule.

Another major point of contention is the index, or the percentage figure to be used for determining base salary. The board is standing firm on 4 per cent, the current index, but the AEA reportedly is again trying to make it 5 per cent, the figure they argued for a year ago.

Assuming a $6.700 base salary would be accepted, the 4 per cent index would produce annual increases of $268 and the 5 per cent, $335. The index has a spiraling effect on salaries.

The board also has proposed that the master contract which carries the salary schedule be on a full calendar year instead of a school year. With it on the school year, the board is forced to estimate the amount of money it will need for the September to December period for teachers' salaries in the budgeting the prior autumn.

Board Offer

The board offered with the $6.700 base for September a proposed adjustment to $6.850 in January of 1970. This averages out to about a $6.800 base salary for the 1969-70 school year.

The AEA reportedly is most strongly opposed to the $6.850 base for January.

Bargaining started last fall but was stalled temporarily when the board took action to hire Milwaukee Atty. Lawrence Gooding as its chief negotiator. Since January, fairly regular negotiation sessions had been held.

Gooding reportedly has pushed for settling the base salary item before moving to other bargaining items.

Management Holds Key

Fox Cities 'Missing Economic Boat'

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Top Fox Cities business and community leaders hold the key to this area's economic growth, a sales and marketing expert said Wednesday night.

Lester Gingold, president of Evaluations, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., said, "It's the people that control the finances" that must bring the area out of its sluggishness.

"This area really isn't growing fast," he said, noting it's also not as rich as people think.

Gingold, also an executive of a major national retailing organization, expressed his views in an interview following his presentation to over 300 business, professionals and students. The Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Northeastern Wisconsin was the organizer and initial sponsor of the audit.

He emphasized the need for the area "to pull together as a team" in economic pursuits.

Pull Together

"Neenah can't go in one direction, Appleton in another and Menasha in another," he said.

People must relax intense loyalties to a single community and develop this as an entire area, Gingold said.

"There's unity in strength," he noted.

The only people who can bring this about are the biggest and most influential business leaders, he said. They must be willing to spend their own money on the first joint effort, he added.

One Chamber

He also called for a single Chamber of Commerce for the Fox Cities and suggested the "top man" in each business and organization should be an active participant and willing to try new ideas.

He pointed out that this area has missed the boat in not promoting itself up to its capacity for attracting tourists, as well as industry.

He noted that industries last year spent $64 billion to locate new plants and communities spent $35 million to attract them. He urged community promotion for both, but noted that tourism particularly can be lucrative.

Expand Museum

He suggested the Dard Hunter Museum at The Institute of Paper Chemistry held the key. "This museum could be the finest of its kind in America," he said, adding it is now "buried" and not promoted for tourism.

He urged that it be expanded and opened up to provide a complete history of paper, including the modern uses of paper.

"Twenty tourists are equal to an industry hiring 125 people," he said.

Gingold said that major industry looks at this area as a whole, not as individual communities. He noted that it is a natural area for industry to locate.

Businesses Need Push

Salesmen 'Mediocre'

The Appleton, Neenah and Menasha business community hasn't gone back to school, but maybe it should. In overall salesmanship, it's been graded a "C-plus."

The economy is in fairly good shape, but there's a possibility of stagnation, which is like moving backwards.

The middle and older age groups generally have a "don't rock the boat" attitude, and like management, are willing to accept mediocrity in themselves and their associates.

Fox Citians are a friendly, warm lot, but lack sales aggressiveness. The young are critical of this lacking and it's driving them from the area.

These were some of the observations revealed Wednesday night by Lester Gingold, president of Evaluation, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., who conducted a personal, telephone and by-mail incognito audit the past 90 days of the Fox Cities' selling ability. He has conducted similar surveys in 35 cities.

He spoke informally in a friendly and constructive but firm vein before an audience of more than 300 businessmen and professionals, and students of distributive education courses in the two public high schools and the Vocational, Technical & Adult Education District 12. After his talk at Madison Junior High School, he offered comments and suggestions to all who sought him out at a gathering at Alex's Crown.

He was frank about the Fox Cities' shortcoming, but he was positive in his approach, especially in naming individual businesses, business heads and sales people who impressed him as "good salesmen" or "real professionals."

He discounted the idea that good selling is pressure selling, but pointed out that "aggressive selling" requirse truth, energy, sincerity and tenacity.

Gingold said that he met those who were opposed to new ideas, but he added the "newspaper (The Post-Crescent) reflects a healthy, growing economy."

Rated High

Gingold, who had read The Post-Crescent thoroughly for the past 90 days, rated it high in comparison with more than 200 newspapers he has surveyed in recent years.

"It's on a par with the finer newspapers of the country," he said.

Ginghold, who described himself as a "one-man candid camera crew," said that "this is a warm, friendly area." He

Switch Train Is Derailed In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Five cars of an eight-car Chicago and North Western Railway switch train were derailed near Government Lock 2 about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Three of the cars rolled down a 20-foot embankment while the other two, and a diesel engine, which also was derailed, remained upright.

The fuel tank on the diesel was punctured and firemen were called to the scene to flush over 2,000 gallons of fuel into the river.

A large portion of track also was torn up and company officials still are investigating the cause of the accident.

The tracks are on a spur line used for switch and hauling pulp to the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.

No one was injured.

Firemen Seek Cause of Blaze

Early Morning Fire Destroys Garage, Contents in Appleton

Appleton Fire Department officials and police have been unable to establish the cause of an early morning fire that destroyed a 1½-car garage at the home of Mrs. Gladys Van Ryzin, 500 E. Roosevelt St.

The fire was discovered at 12:10 a.m. by a neighbor, Herman Schulze, 430 E. Roosevelt St. Fire fighters said flames had broken through the frame structure by the time they arrived with four units. They were at the scene about an hour.

Alan J. Stuart, 22, an Appleton fireman, suffered minor burns to his left hand while battling the blaze.

There was no car in the garage, but there were many other items, including a power lawn mower, tools, suitcases, fishing tackle, and a tricycle, according to fire fighters. All of the contents were destroyed.

An officer in the fire department's inspection bureau said this morning it would be difficult to determine how the fire started because the damage is too great. He said virtually the whole garage was burned.

Although the garage is not attached to the Van Ryzin house, there was some heat damage to the house and to the side of the Schulze home.

Bicyclist Hurt in Freedom Mishap

Michael Ebben, 15, route 2, Kaukauna, suffered a fractured right arm when his bicycle was struck by a motor bike on a sidewalk in Freedom about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Outagamie County police said the motorbike was being ridden in a northerly direction on the sidewalk by John Vander Logt, route 1, Kaukauna.

Ebben, who was taken to a doctor by his parents, was delivering newspapers at the time of the accident.

Snow Forecast Tonight

Spring Duds Upsettin' Old Man Winter?

Were you also fooled by the unexpected warm weather of the past few days?

Well, if so, you had better put your snow tires back on, repack your spring clothes and keep your putter in the living room for awhile because Old Man Winter hasn't had his last "snort."

Admittedly, today is officially the first day of spring and better days are ahead, but the weatherman isn't cooperating at the moment. He paints a rather bleak picture for the Fox Cities area.

Light rain occasionally mixed with snow is forecast for tonight. Accompanying the snow will be a drop in the temperature, as low as 26 tonight, and only a high of 33 on Friday. On Wednesday, .28 of an inch of rain fell in Appleton the past 24 hours.

We Fox Citians aren't alone. Winter weather will surge back into other parts of Wisconsin.

Spring arrived officially at 1:08 p.m., amid swirling snow in the north, and a mixture of snow and rain in the southern area of the state.

A travelers warning was issued for all of Wisconsin today, with one to four inches of snow predicted. Eagle River had received three inches of snow by mid-morning after the white stuff started falling about 6 a.m. It also was snowing in Milwaukee. Highways are slippery and snowpacked in many parts of Vilas, Forest and Iron counties.

The snow reportedly was coming down heavy at Alma in west central Wisconsin, making driving difficult. Highways northwest of a line from La Crosse to Niagara were slippery.

Cloudiness had increased during the night, and precipitation moved eastward across the state. Thunder accompanied the rain in many areas.

East Students Named To 1970 All-State Honors Orchestra

Ten Appleton High School-East students have been selected for the 1970 All-State Honors orchestra, choir and band after statewide auditions in performing and sightreading.

Selected were Kathy Conrad, Joan Gander, and Judy Kurka, violins; Su Willing, flute; Lee Bauman, clarinet; Steve Spina a member of last year's all-state band, trumpet; Tom Stevens, baritone voice; Cyndy Harrant and Sherrie VanWyk, altos; Mark Vlossak, cello; and Rick Schomisch, string bass.

Alternates include Gregory Menn, Ruth Bretheim, Robert Buesing, Sue Dell and Lois Loescher.

All the students will rehearse for three days with guest conductors in June at Green Lake and will peform in January, 1970, for the state music convention in Madison.

Spring May be Officially Here but, try to convince these women huddled under umbrellas on W. College Avenue this morning. Overcast skies and a drizzling rain, which should turn to snow tonight, hit the Fox Valley and much of Wisconsin today. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Motorist Hospitalized After Car Runs Into Ditch at Private Road

James F. Hill, 28, 514 W. Summer St., was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by private auto early today with forehead and rib injuries he suffered when his car went into a ditch on Gillett Street, four miles north of Appleton.

Hill told Outagamie County police he was westbound on a private road and when he got to Gillett Street the auto went into the ditch. He said he was unaware the private road ended at Gillett Street.

The accident occurred at 3:30 a.m.. Police said there was damage to the undercarriage of the 1968 auto.

County Given Extension on Plans for Jail

Outagamie to Show Proof of Intentions To State in 90 Days

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Department of Health and Social Services today reluctantly granted a 90-day extension to Outagamie County for compliance with an earlier order for remodeling or relacing the county jail to bring it into compliance with law and the state agency's rules.

Wilbur J. Schmidt, department secretary, wrote Sylvester Esler, Outagamie County board chairman, that the 90-day extension was granted to allow the county time to employ an architect to prepare actual drawings.

Esler had written Schmidt that the project has been started and asked an extension on that basis. Two earlier extensions of six months each had been issued by the department at the request of the county, after the formal requirements for the reconstruction or replacement of the detention facility was promulgated by the state department.

Needs Proof

But Schmidt said he is not convinced of the "commencement" of the project, and said that unless an actual architectural contract is completed within the next 90 days, no further postponement will be permitted.

But if the county retains an architect to draw plans, shows that an agreement has been reached on a site for a new building and that steps have been taken to acquire the necessary land, "we will regard these steps as sufficient progress to permit us to extend the

'Good Judgment'

Board Wins Council Praise for Reopening Washington School

The Appleton Board of Education—frequently a target of city council criticism—was complimented Wednesday night by aldermen for deciding to reopen Washington School next fall.

Council President Alvin E. Tews (5th) broached the subject with the observation that the council often sees fit to be critical of the board, especially in its new school construction programs.

"Instead of building another new school," Tews said, "the school board has exercised good judgment in making plans to reopen Washington School and should be complimented for taking such action."

Cooperate With Council

Tews expressed the opinion the board of education is indicating its intent to cooperate with the city council.

Several months ago the council asked the school board to consider reopening and renovating some closed schools rather than building more new ones. At the time, the board indicated there was no future plans for Washington. However, the enrollment complexion apparently changed

It was Tews who had suggested use, if possible, of schools the board had closed.

Fiscal Policy Critic

Ald. John Stiedl (18th), chairman of the council's school advisory committee and frequent critic of school board fiscal policy, also favored Washington School reactivation.

"I concur wholeheartedly with what has been said," Steidl said

The council also authorized

Meter Thefts Prove Costly To Appleton

Police Chief Says Vandalism May be Spreading in State

The siege of parking meter thefts and vandalism which has gripped Appleton in recent weeks may be spreading to other cities in the state, Police Chief Earl O Wolff said today

Thefts and meter damage here has cost the city well over $3,000 and Parking Meter Supt Donald Heinritz reported the supply of meter replacements has been exhausted

An estimated 150 parking meters in ramps and other locations in the downtown area have been struck in recent days

Chief Gives Rundown

The matter drew the attention of the city council when it met Wednesday night and at the request of Ald. Orville Strutz (17th), the chief gave aldermen a rundown of what has been happening

Wolff said that a person or persons were rapping the meters with a hammer, the type used in metal shop work. The meters are being broken open and coins removed.

"Whoever is hitting the meters has been outguessing us," Wolff commented.

Far Out Investments - 4

Investing in Rare Books No Field for Amateurs

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(Editor's Note: — This is the fourth of five columns devoted to the unorthodox investments which are making big money for unconstitutional investors.)

Q. What if, instead of buying a cross - section of top - grade stocks last year, you had invested a chunk of your nestegg in well chosen rare books and manuscripts? How would you have made out?

Porter

A.: Very well, indeed! The value of your "portfolio" would, in fact, have soared 60 per cent over 1967, about 14 times the rise in the familiar Dow-Jones industrial average. One striking illustration of the long-term trend: a 13th Century English illuminated Bible sold last year for $500,000 up from $180,000 in 10 years.

Also in the past decade, prices of hand-written (by scribes) books from the period around 1400 A.D., especially those containing illuminated miniatures, have tripled.

In a related field, autographs of famous composers such as Beethoven and Mozart have risen in value 10 to 15 times in 15 years. During this same span, autographs of George Washington have soared from several hundred dollars to several thousand.

The soaring values of rare books, manuscripts and autographs have not made front-page or financial page news and you, as an average investor, almost surely do not consider this an appropriate field for your funds.

But the price rises are indisputable. And what's more, the likelihood is overwhelming that values will continue to climb in the years immediately ahead.

Can you, an amateur, cash in on today's rare book boom? Are there basic rules to guide you? When I put these questions to H. P. Kraus of New York City, the world's top buyer and seller in this field, his first reaction was:

"The book business is strictly for the connoisseur; an amateur would be a complete fool to try to make a killing in this game." And here's why:

Let's say a neophyte buys a prize first edition for $10,000. But he then finds that the "errata" page or the fly leaf (before the title page) is missing. Suddenly, the book's value plunges to $6,000.

Or he buys a rare book and finds it has been rebound, slashing it to one-fourth of its value if it were in its "original boards." (On the other hand, if it is the only copy of a rare book in its original boards, it may be worth 20 times the value of other copies.)

Notes Kraus: "Even many experts don't know some of these fine points, so how can the amateur be expected to know?"

Another problem is that there are very, very few hard, universal rules on rare book values. (Sample rule: any book printed in Boston before 1700 is valuable because these were the earliest Anglo-American books.)

In addition, Kraus warns that while the most valuable books and manuscripts (in the $3,000 to $300,000 range) are virtually recession-proof, even a minor economic downturn can glut the market with "weakly held" lesser valued books and manuscripts and force their prices down.

Finally, the "real diamonds" of rare books today are exceedingly rare, primarily because they are all traveling a one-way street into the world's great libraries, museums, universities, or the hands of enormously wealthy collectors who, for tax purposes, plan to leave their libraries to such institutions.

(Examples are Gutenberg Bibles; first editions of Shakespeare, Dante Caucer, the illuminated manuscripts of the 9th to 16th centuries.).

Nevertheless, there are a few fields in which you, the amateur, can invest modest sums in the expectations that your investment can swell significantly. Details tomorrow.

7 Drivers Fined $475 For Speeding

Appear in Calumet County Court, All Licenses Suspended

CHILTON — Seven motorists paid fines totaling $475 and their licenses were suspended for traffic violations when they appeared Monday before Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebora.

Raymond L. Blair, 19, 156 Garfield St., Kaukauna, was fined $98. He was arrested March 1 in the Town of Harrison for speeding 98 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone. His license also was suspended for 30 days.

Earl A. Sprangers, 19, route 1, Menasha, was fined $72 for speeding 82 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone, and his license was suspended for 25 days. Sprangers was arrested Feb. 28 in the Town of Harrison.

John J. Grissman, 23, 433 W. 102 St., Kaukauna, paid a fine of $82. He was arrested March 2 at Kaukauna for speeding 82 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone. His license was suspended for 22 days.

Howard D. Danke, 19, route 1, Fremont, was fined $68 for speeding 78 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone, and his license was suspended for 18 days. He was arrested March 1, in the Town of Harrison.

Gary M. Femal, 19, 1001 Desnoyer St., Kaukauna, was arrested Feb. 22 in the Town of Harrison for racing. He was fined $50 and his license suspended for 18 days.

Donald P. Gerrits, 19, 404 E. 15th St., Kaukauna, was arrested Feb. 28 for speeding 78 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone in the Town of Harrison. His license was suspended for 20 days and he was fined $60.

David F. Fredericks, 27, route 1, Menasha, was fined $45 for speeding 79 m.p.h. in a 55 m.p.h. zone and his license was suspended for 15 days. He was arrested Feb. 16 in the Town of Harrison.

City Council Gets Advice

Poor Parliamentarianism?

Appleton aldermen had a few blushing moments Wednesday night.

And it resulted in the mayor and the city's legislators polishing up on their parliamentary procedure.

It came on the heels of constructive criticism in a letter from Mrs. Robert A. Forester, Kansas City, president of the Parliamentarians Association of Kansas.

Unbeknown to city officials, Mrs. Forester visited her sister here recently and attended the last city council meeting.

Timely Observations

In a March 8 letter to Mayor George Buckley she passed along a few timely observations.

One was that by "supporting" motions instead of "seconding" them, the city council was using an expression dating back to Continental Congress times of 1776.

"I wish to congratulate both you and the council on the smooth manner in which the meeting progressed from a parliamentary viewpoint," Mrs. Forester wrote.

But in the interest of good parliamentary procedure, Mrs. Forester said, she wanted to call "a few glaring errors" to the council's attention.

"Support It"

"The first is that a few of the council members have the habit of saying 'support it' when they mean 'second it' or 'I second the motion'," she explained.

The No. 1 parliamentarian in Kansas made it clear the expression "support it" may never take the place of the word "second."

She said the word "second" must be used in order to get the proposition on the floor.

Commenting further on the aldermanic habit of supporting something when it should be seconded, Mrs. Forester advised, "It is not a true second and the expression itself is no longer used in modern legislative bodies which have abandoned it as archaic or old fashioned."

Buckley Recognition

She also noted that Buckley on at least four occasions recognized a "support it" expression as a second to a motion.

Mrs. Forester noted the mayor in the interest of speed, sacrificed the accuracy which she considered all-important in parliamentary law.

"I hope you will take these as constructive criticisms and in the same good nature in which they are sent," Mrs. Forester concluded.

And they did.

"I support that," Council President Alvin E. Tews (5th) quipped.

"And, I'll second that support,' chimed in Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) with a mile-long grin.

Mayor Buckley was good-natured about the whole thing.

"Gentlemen, the lady is 100 per cent correct," Buckley declared, "What are we going to do about it?"

The remainder of the meeting spoke for itself.

Aldermen were seconding instead of "supporting" motions.

Buckley also sent a letter to Mrs. Forester thanking her for her parliamentary short course.

Riding Club Elects Officers, Plan Events At Greenville Meeting

The board of directors are Louis Weyers, Larry Weyers, June Evert, Russell Bishop, Carla Schnur, Gordon Schnur and Arlene Bishop.

The club will go to the horseman's clinic at Madison Saturday. The clinic will include horse care, how to halter and how to ride different styles.

The group will have a roller skating party from 8 to 11 p.m. March 29 at the Fox Valley roller skating rink.

WERC Enters Labor Talks In Twin Cities

Stalled Negotiations Concern Policemen, Street, Park Workers

NEENAH-MENASHA — Municipal labor problems involving both Neenah and Menasha and three departments will come to a head today and Friday with the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) stepping in on bargaining in both cities.

A WERC officials will re-enter stalled negotiations between Menasha and police patrolmen, meeting with both parties at 10 a.m. Friday.

This afternoon, the WERC is conducting an election for Neenah street-sanitation and park-recreation workers to decide if they want the Teamsters union as their bargaining agent.

The election was called following a hearing on Jan. 13 into a claim by General Drivers and Dairy Employes Union, Local 563 that it had been selected as the representative of the two departments.

William Wilberg, a WERC member, called the meeting between Menasha and its police. He once before interviewed representatives of both sides to determine whether a stalemate existed.

The inquiry, in response to a request by the police for state factfinding to recommend settlement, was followed by renewed negotiations.

Negotiations ended when police rejected the city's last offer. Wilberg said the Friday meeting will determine whether the dispute goes to factfinding.

Local 563 in a written claim to Neenah officials said they represented 24 of 31 street-sanitation workers, and seven of eight park-recreation employes.

Neenah employes will be voting on two issues this afternoon: if they want to be represented as separate bargaining groups, or if they want the Teamsters as their representative.

Bargaining between the city and the two departments will start as soon as the results of today's election are final.

Klapp Bound Over to Face Arson Charge

OSHKOSH — Court Commissioner Silas Spengler ruled today that a 26-year-old Neenah man, charged by the district attorney with arson, must enter a plea to the charge.

The man, Jules Edwin Klapps, 1520 Cold Spring Rd., is charged with intentionally setting fire to a residence starting a fire March 9 in a home located at 747 Cleveland St., Neenah.

Henry Fiege, Wausau, deputy state fire marshal, testified in today's preliminary examination, that he interviewed Klapps March 10 at the Neenah fire department station.

During the interview, he said, Klapps signed a written statement saying that on March 9 he went to his brother's house, the house which burned, and set fire with matches to clothing in a chair and davenport in the living room.

In a statement which was entered today as state exhibit number two, Klapps indicated he then lay down on the davenport and watched the fire. The next thing he knew, his statement said, he was being pulled out of a back doorway by neighbors.

In his statement to Fiege, Klapps said that he went to the Cleveland Street house at about 2 p.m. Earlier in the day, the statement said, he had been drinking due to a family problem.

Student Pushes Voting Age of 18

MADISON (AP) — Lowering the voting age to 18 would allow more students to participate in the Democratic process and ease tensions between campuses and their surrounding communities, a student leader told a legislative committee Wednesday.

The statement was made by Robert Rasmussen of River Falls, president of the United Council of Wisconsin State Student Governments.

Assemblyman David Obey, D-Wausau, told the committee his bill would enlarge voter turnouts.

Assemblyman Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, called for enactment of his bill which would give 18-year-olds the vote and legal privileges of adulthood.

The committee took no action on the bills.

Utility Gets Okay to Seek Rate Release

NEENAH — Councilmen Wednesday night gave the water commission the go ahead to seek a water rate increase through the Public Service Commission (PSC).

Ald. Peter Fara, the council's representative on the commission, said it had been 10 years since the last water rate increase. "With the installation of the new filters and the employes needed to beef up the force, we just need more money," Fara said.

Before a rate increase is put into effect, the PSC conducts a thorough study into the present rate structure, water usage and income the utility makes on its investment.

Earnings Drop

The PSC allows a 6 per cent return on the investment and during the past couple of years it has dropped to about 3½ per cent according to R. V. Hauser, clerk-comptroller.

The commission has discussed possible increases up to 25 per cent but the final determination is up to the PSC which will set up a complete new rate schedule.

Dialogue Set on Communications By Youth, Adults

LITTLE CHUTE — Juniors and seniors in high school and their parents will participate at 7:30 p.m. today in an adult education program concerning communication between youths and adults. The program will be held in the St. John High School auditorium.

The program will open with the Rev. Leon Schneider, religion teacher and counselor at St. Catherine High School, Racine, speaking on the topic, "Communication With Kids."

Group discussions will follow with parents and students dividing into groups of 15 to 20 to talk over such topics as "Crisis In Faith" and "How to Communicate In Moral Values."

Participating in the group discussions will be area priests including the Rev. Alfred Hietpas, Freedom; the Rev. John Dewane, Menasha; Rev. Dennis Worzella, Shiocton; Rev. Thad Kozarek, Oshkosh; Rev. Donald Burkart, Appleton Apostolate, and the Rev. Brian Punty, Premontre High School, Green Bay.

Arpin-Engeldinger Contest

Judge Candidates Step-Up Campaigns

NEENAH — The two candidates for judge of the newly created second circuit court have eleven full days planned to meet and talk with voters in Winnebago and Calumet counties.

Billboards are blossoming in both counties for candidate Edmund P. Arpin, Neenah attorney. A special information center is open to the public at former Republican headquarters in Oshkosh for Gerald L. Engeldinger, Winnebago County corporation counsel, who started campaigning Jan. 2.

"I am hopeful that within the remaining time I can get my message out to all the people in both counties," Engeldinger said today.

"I have prepared myself for a career in public life and feel that I have the know-how and capacity to keep up the busy schedule this second circuit court will have," he added. The 35 year old attorney has served as assistant district attorney, district attorney and corporation counsel for the county, and feels that this "uniquely qualifies" him for the judgeship.

"People have the right to trial as soon as possible, if that is their wish to go to court, and the circuit court calendar will continue to be heavy," Engeldinger said. "I feel I can help."

Arpin, 45, has practiced law in Neenah for 14 years. He has been a circuit court commissioner since 1963.

"I have chosen to seek the judgeship because I feel it is a most important position in our judicial system," Arpin said. "It requires maturity, as well as knowledge of the law.

"The record shows this circuit court is one of the busiest in the state and the trend in criminal and civil litigations is that there will be more, rather than less.

"I feel certain that we will be as busy with two branches as we have been with one. Our circuit judges have worked tirelessly, but clearing the calendar in one branch is an impossibility," he concluded. "I want to share that responsibility.

The Winnebago and Calumet Bar Associations have not been asked by either candidate for their endorsements.

The second branch of the Third Judicial District Circuit court was established by the legislature and is scheduled to open Jan. 1, 1970. Assemblyman Jack Steinhilber, first district, has prepared a bill which will, if passed, accelerate that date to July 1.

Edwin Wilkie, court administrator, Madison, said today that court room facilities provided by the county, using the board of supervisors' room, will be adequate.

Island Park Shelter

'Outhouse 'Ruled Out

NEENAH — Deciding $10,944 was too much to pay for "an outhouse" city councilmen Wednesday night turned down a requrest by the park and recreation department for a shelter at Island Park.

The finance committee had recommended the building in a split vote but council rejected the proposal, 6-4.

A total of $8,000 had been budgeted this year for the shelter which would include rest room facilities, a small storage area and heating to keep the facility open longer to serve fishermen.

Ald. Peter Fara, explaining his no vote on the project, told the council, "I can't see why they can't move the building closer to E. North Water Street to cut down on the cost of extending water and sewer to the shelter."

The cost for extending services to the building was just over $3,000.

"I'm not against the shelter," Fara said, "But that's too much money to pay."

Ald. Harry Miller, arguing for the shelter, asked, "Does anyone know how much it has cost us for planning this shelter."

"Every time it comes before us, we turn it down, and another $1,000 is spent on planning," he explained.

The project was referred back to the park and recreation department with the directive to check on feasibility of moving it closer to the street to cut down on construction costs.

$1 Fine or 15 Minutes

NEENAH — A Neenah man elected to pay a $1 fine, plus $8 in court costs, rather than accept the alternative of 15 minutes in jail for failing to obey a traffic signal.

Glen Palmbach, 21, 213 Spruce St., was found guilty of the charge after a trial before Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter Wednesday.

Palmbach told the court his wife, who was a passenger, was pregnant and he had wanted to avoid a sudden stop at N. Lake and Main streets when the light turned yellow.

Judge Sitter noted that Palmbach would have considerable expense ahead of him and imposed the $1 fine.

Form 1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year 1968, ending Dec. 31, 1968, or other tax year beginning ... Treasury — Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Does it make any difference whether I file the red, white and blue tax form I got in the mail or one of the plain ones the Post Office has?

A — Either form is acceptable, but the colored form is preferable. However, if you do not file the return mailed you, please be sure to remove the name label and put it on the return you do file. Use of the address label will properly identify your return and speed any refund due.

The use of color on some of the 1968 tax returns is an experiment to determine whether the use of color to highlight certain sections of the form will reduce errors.

Q — Where can I hire someone to help me with my tax return?

A — Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association and ask them for the names of qualified people.

In choosing an advisor, here are things to look for:

1 — avoid the man who "guarantees" you a refund

2 — be on guard, if he suggests the refund be sent to his address

You should never sign a blank tax return or one that has been prepared in pencil. You are legally responsible for every item on the return even though someone else has helped you prepare it.

Your advisor should sign the return, too, indicating that he helped you with it.

Q — Are gifts ever taxed?

A — The recipient has no Federal income tax to pay but the giver may be taxed if the gift is sizable. The law generally requires a gift tax return to be filed by the donor when a gift or gifts to any one person during the year exceeds $3,000.

However, income earned on gifts is taxable to the recipient.

Q — I sold my house just before my 65th birthday. Does that mean I won't be entitled to the special benefits for the elderly on those sales?

A — The law requires you to be 65 or over before the date of sale or exchange to qualify for these special benefits.

Q — I was married last month. Sincy my name has changed do I have to change my Social Security number?

A — When your name changes, notify your local office of the Social Security Administration as soon a possible. Your number will not be changed, but your record will be corrected to reflect your married name.

Q — Who can file the short form, 1040A?

A — This form can be used in the following circumstances:

1 — income is under $10,000; and

2 — income consists entirely of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 from dividends, interest, and other wages.

The Form 1040A cannot be used by taxpayers who either itemize their deductions, or who claim special tax credits or deductions such as the retirement income credit, sick pay exclusion, or moving expense deduction.

Further details on filing requirements are given in the instructions that accompany both the 1040 and 1040A tax forms.

Mrs. Splitt Named To Committee on Equal Rights Council

An Appleton woman has been named as a member of the Wisconsin Equal Rights Council's committee on government.

Mrs. Harley Splitt was appointed to the post at the annual meeting of the organization last week in Madison.

Other Equal Rights Council committees include those working on industry and labor, churches, schools, law enforcement, and Indians and migrants.

Two Admit Carrying Uncased Guns in Car

Gordon E. Much, 29, Medina, and Dale A. Drath, 46, route 2, Shiocton, were each fined $15 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Wednesday after they changed their pleas to guilty of carrying an uncased shotgun in a moving auto.

Trial had been scheduled for Wednesday. A state conservation warden stopped the car in which they were riding Dec. 1 in the Town of Liberty.

Urban Planning Students to Work With COG Staff

Four Oshkosh State University students will get firsthand training the next six weeks working with planners of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG).

The students are part of the school's first semester of urban planning classes and will be put on various COG projects, said Arno Haering, COG director of regional planning.

They will work with staff members on a part-time basis, adjusting according to their regular classes, he said. Each must write a paper on his work at the end of April.

They will receive no pay, he said.

Students from the new class also will work with the Oshkosh city planning department and the Fond du Lac County planning department.

No Action Taken on Purchasing Plan

Kaukauna Aldermen Differ on Procedure for Approving Bills

KAUKAUNA—A recommendation on purchasing procedurese proposed by the legislative committee Tuesday night ran into difficulty before the council when aldermen could not agree on procedure

The committee recommended committee approval of all bills over $100 Presently the approval of the council and mayor is needed before bills are approved Ald Russel Dix (4th) claimed many bills were not going through proper committees and were costing the city additional money

Other aldermen pointed out that this was the purpose of the recommendation but contended that since all bills were approved by the council and mayor proper procedure was being followed They pointed to initials opposite many bills which indicated department heads had approved the purchase

Further Study

Mayor Gilbert Anderson said he had expressed dissatisfaction on some bills therefore the new procedure was being recommended Ald Robert Vondracek (1st) felt the council has to place some faith in committee heads and the mayor who represent the city on purchases The recommendation was referred back to the legislative committee for further study

In other action, a recommendation to contribute $450 to the Jaycees to help promote a parade, fireworks and other special events to be held in conjunction with the June Town 'N Country promotion ran into a little trouble after a committee recommendation proposed a $300 contribution

Ald James McDaniel (3rd) felt $300 was adequate and said the Jaycees should have appeared before the committee to explain their need for additional funds rather than before the council Ald Lloyd Kloehn (2nd) agreed that the $300 contribution is adequate The motion to donate $450 was approved with McDaniel Kloehn and Aloys Peters (5th) voting against the move

A request from the American Legion for $300 to help stage a Memorial Day celebration was referred to the finance committee

Ojections Filed

Two applicants for the position of assistant building inspector filed earlier this month by the council filed a letter of objection to the council for hiring the man from outside the city and voiced objection to the proposed salary

Anderson informed the council that a study of building and other permit fees currently was being made by himself and the building inspector in an effort to learn whether local charges were in line with those of neighboring communities Approval was given to naming the Richard U Landreman & Co to examine state income tax returns to determine whether the city was being allotted the proper tax rebate

Low bid of $10,254 for sidewalk installation was accepted from C I Hughes Appleton, with the understanding the contractor was to furnish the city with a firm date for completion of the work Low bid of Paul's Lawn and Marine route 3, for $1,415 for a garden tractor was approved

William Driessen and Leander Petit were given the contract to tear down a city-owned house on Lincoln Avenue at a cost of $100 City Engineer Robert Natrop was instructed to review measurements on Seventh Street and Brill Road after property owners objected to assessments for installation of a sanitary sewer lateral

Aldermen made plans to view a sanitary sewer interceptor at County Trunks Z and Q after complaints were received about river pollution from the sewer line The city planning commission was authorzed to study a request for annexation of one-half acre of land from the Town of Buchanan east of the city The commission also is to study a request for vacating a portion of an alley between County Trunk K and Kenneth Avenue

The council approved a committee recommendation to deny use of city-owned bleachers at the athletic field to outside groups and to have a basketball standard erected at the Boyd Avenue play area The welfare director was instructed to attend any area meeting on making city welfare a county operated program and voice objection to the county takeover of this function

Black Creek Man Hurt

Kenneth C Threlman, 35, route 1 Black Creek, suffered a back injury when his car was struck from behind by a car driven by Gerald E Larson, 27, 636 E Coolidge Ave

Appleton police said the accident happened about 5 p m Tuesday on S Oneida Street, in the Flats Theilman was southbound and had stopped for traffic when his car was struck by the southbound Larson auto

ETV Board Restructuring Is Suggested

Bill Would Give Stronger Voice to Private Education

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A move to give private education a voice in the administration of Wisconsin's embryonic educational television system and to end the alleged "imbalance" of power favoring the University of Wisconsin on the state Educational Communications Board has been offered to the Legislature

Author of a bill to restructure the ETV board is Assemblyman Wesley L Packard, R-Lodi

Packard's bill would remove one of the two UW representatives from the board and increase the board's size from 9 to 13 members

He would add five public representatives to the already existing three members appointed by the governor, and give the public members staggered four-year terms

Four of the public members would be considered citizen members and of the remaining four he would allocate one each from private higher education private or parochial elementary or secondary education, a professional representative of public elementary or secondary education, and a representative of a public school board or of a kindergarten through twelfth grade district

The existing ETV board is the product of legislative struggles in the 1967 session The board was created by the lawmakers to serve with legislative members as well as public and system representatives, but Gov Warren P Knowles used a "line veto" to knock out references to the legislative members on the board when he signed the act into law

He said that such legislative involvement would be an improper infringement of the Legislature on the day-to-day operations of state government

The existing board has nine members. Included are a representative of the governor, the state superintendent of public instruction, represenatives of the UW and of the UW board of regents, the director of the state university system, the head of the state vocational system, and three public members appointed by the governor

Critics have maintained that the two UW representatives have given too much power to the UW in certain policy issues Packard's bill would delete membership for a representative of UW regents

Asked for Study

The ETV board proposed an ambitious six station, $9 million construction plan to Knowles for inclusion in his 1969-71 budget. Also included was a proposal for a $2.4 million operating budget for that proposed system

Knowles chose instead to recommend that additional studies be carried out with demonstration projects, at an estimated cost for the biennium of about $350,000

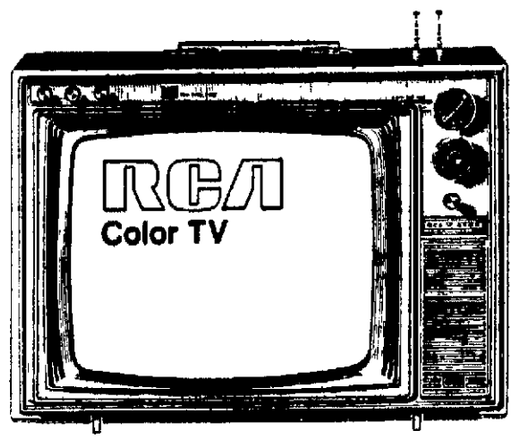

Packard's proposal would not affect that recommendation

One of the issues that has brought the charges of UW demination has been the question of what agency is to hold the Federal Communications Commission licenses for the two operating educational television stations in the state

The UW operates one ETV channel in Madison area, and a statewide FM educational network. The Milwaukee Technical College operates an educational television station of two channels in the Milwaukee and Southeast Wisconsin area.

Appleton Council Vote

Alliance Role Backed

The role the Buckley administration is playing in the Alliance of Cities received a vote of confidence from the Appleton city council Wednesday night.

At the same time, the 16-4 roll call vote defeated a resolution by Ald. James Bethke (9th) to limit attendance at Alliance meetings to the mayor or his representative

The Alliance, comprised of 18 state cities with a population total of 2 million, is representing the interests of cities on legislative and other matters

Earlier, aldermen received a condensed report on recent Alliance activities before the Legislature, including support of the Tarr Task Force recommendations, from Finance Director David Champion

Tax Formula

Champion explained the key points of the Task Force tax and shared aids redistribution formula now being considered by the legislature.

The League of Municipalities, of which the city is also a member, took no position on the Tarr tax proposal. It has both city and village members.

The council has gone on record in support of the new tax bill, as asked by Buckley, and has ordered that copies of the action be sent to Assemblyman Harold Froehlich and Sens. Gerald Lorge and Ervin Conradt, who represent Appleton in the Legislature

Later in the meeting, Bethke moved for suspension of the rules to have his resolution acted on immediately.

Opposing Motion

Ald. John Steidl (18th) followed up with a motion that limiting Alliance attendance be denied.

"There are several reasons why I submitted this resolution," Bethke said

"You, as mayor, should represent the City of Appleton and obtain the information in advance of Alliance meetings from other city officials instead of taking them out of their offices for a day," Bethke told Buckley.

Bethke felt work at home should be completed before becoming concerned with statewide matters at Madison.

"Vital Role"

Ald. John Ayers (12th) said the Alliance is playing "a vital role in looking out for the best interests of the city and working for property tax relief" and suggested there may be times when aldermen and other department heads should attend its meetings

"If we restrict attendance at Alliance sessions, it will hinder our participation," Ayers cautioned

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) also disagreed with Bethke and said various council committee chairmen might well benefit from attending Alliance meetings when such matters as annexation, tax reform, welfare, industrial development and others are up for discussion and action.

At this point Bethke noted he submitted his resolution about a week ago and was willing to amend it to the point that elected city officials other than the mayor not attend Alliance meetings.

Backlog of Work

"I've received reports of a backlog of work in a few municipal departments because some are running around the state attending these meetings," Bethke declared.

Buckley said the Alliance meets every two weeks while the Legislature is in session so it can keep tabs on current bills and voting records of the senators and assemblymen.

"I know our finance director has joined in the discussions on very important matters affecting Appleton and other cities, and he has raised some very important points concerning local financing," Buckley said.

At the same time, the mayor said City Atty. David Geenen also played an important part in Alliance deliberations at his request.

Buckley said he took no city official away from his work.

Reversionary Clause Added To Land Sales

Council Moves to Prevent Speculation Of Industrial Sites

City-owned land should not be sold to industries or anybody else if it is to be used for speculative purposes, a northeast side alderman told the Appleton City Council Wednesday night.

Colleagues agreed with Ald. William Errington (15th), who has the Northeast Industrial Park in his ward, that a reversionary clause should be included in every land transaction involving the city

Several council members had been of the impression the clause had been a part of previous land sale transactions, but it apparently was not.

The city has been purchasing properties for a "land bank" and then selling to industries and others for commercial and industrial expansion. The advantage to the buyer is that the city sells the property at cost

Heard Rumor

Errington said he had heard a "rumor of possible speculation" by one group that obtained an industrial park site for a new building.

Errington said, and the council agreed, that any property not used for the purposes for which it was purchased from the city should then revert back to the City of Appleton at the original price.

He brought the matter up when the council was about to act on the report of the commerce-industrial committee. He indicated, however, that none of the prospective buyers were involved in the "speculation rumor."

In other action, the council voted to sell the old city home property to R. Sabee Co., 230 S. Linwood Ave., for $25,510. The firm intends to clear the site and construct a $300,000 manufacturing facility.

Three other city land sales to industries were referred back to committee so the reversionary clause could be included in the sales agreement

Other Action

The council also:

—Amended the special assessment policy so cemeteries will be charged the minimum front lot frontage (60 feet) for sewer and water installations.

—Approved final plans for the addition to the East Ramp, and an overhead pedestrian walkway, and authorized advertising for bids.

—Purchased the land contract interest of the Appleton Industrial Development Corp. (AID) on 79 acres adjoining the Northeast Industrial Park for $249,553

—Asked Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl to propose future fire station sites.

—Awarded a $190,306 contract for sewer trenching and laying pipe to the low bidder, P & B Excavating Co., Appleton.

Businesses Rate Low in Salesmanship compared it with southern hospitality.

But, he pointed out, the average Fox Cities business could increase its sales 10 per cent a day by more enthusiastic and effective selling. This amounts to millions of dollars a year, he added, noting this money is now in savings and investments.

Attitude Spreads

This attitude of mediocrity in business leaders, normally the community leaders, rubs off on the entire community, he said.

"There can be a healthy aggressiveness for selling that I don't seem to feel," he said, noting people apparently are satisfied with their incomes and "the way things are going."

This is why the Fox Cities got only a C-plus, he noted.

What must be done, he continued, is for management to train and educate its people.

"You need dedicated, professional salesmen," he said, noting the image of the sales person is high today.

He suggested a two-part program of training and education.

Training Program

Management must bring spirit and leadership into a program of training sales personnel in skills necessary for professionalism. These salesmen must be educated, he said, to realize that they "are an important part of America's economy."

He said salesmen must understand their role.

"Your area is not becoming stagnant, but you've got to plan ahead," he said, noting new ideas and concepts must be introduced into retailing.

Too many business people have had one year's experience 25 times instead of 25 years of experience, he commented.

Kimberly School Science Fair to Be Held Sunday

KIMBERLY — Over 100 students will have science exhibits on display in the gym of Holy Name of Jesus Elementary School Saturday and Sunday for the annual science fair.

Almost 185 students have submitted projects for consideration, but many had to be eliminated due to duplication of topics and lack of space. Youngsters from the third through eighth grades prepared exhibits.

Judging will be held Saturday. Visitors may view the projects from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday. Trophies will be awarded the first three place finishers in three different age categories.

original order for an additional three months," the state official said

The original order was issued in March, 1968.

Schmidt said the state department would want a copy of the architectural contract and a description of the land to be acquired, because of the requirements of state law.

Esler wrote to Schmidt last week to ask for another extension, explaining that the county board and the city council have entered into an agreement to build a city-county building on a cooperative basis.

been "staked out" at one of the parking ramps where there had been a pattern of break-ins, they were unsuccessful in catching anyone.

Lack of Manpower

He indicated the police department did not have the manpower to station officers in all of the ramps where meters are located.

Wolff said meters have been broken into and looted anytime from 10:30 a.m. to 3 a.m.

"It's one of those things where it becomes a game to outguess the violators as to where they will commit their next crime," Wolff told the council.

The chief said he was hopeful some citizen may take note of individuals tampering with meters and notify police immediately.

Wolff said today the City of Cudahy has been experiencing a similar problem.

Sen. Dirksen Wants Republican as VA Head

May Clash With Nixon Who Favors Reappointing Democrat William Driver

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the senate Republican leader, is about to lose a red-hot patronage fight inside the Nixon administration to a Democrat — fueling Republican discontent on Capitol Hill.

Barring a last-minute change (always a possibility when the wily Dirksen is involved), President Nixon will override Dirksen's wishes and defer to Rep.

Evans

Novak

Olin (Tiger) Teage of Texas, chairman of the House Veterans Committee, in the appointment of the Veterans Administration (VA) director.

That means William Driver, a lifelong Democrat named to head the VA by Lyndon Johnson, will keep his job.

The President has tentatively made the decision despite the danger that Dirksen will use his immeasurable influence in the senate to defeat Driver's nomination. Mr Nixon is expected to resubmit Driver's name to the senate instead of just leaving him in the job he now holds without formal reappointment.

His Strong Backing

Teague's imminent victory stems in no small part from his warning to the White House that veterans' legislation backed by Mr. Nixon would have difficulties if Driver were not kept in the job.

Moreover, Teague's warnings were bolstered by some key Republicans — including Rep. William Ayers of Ohio, a high-ranking member of the veterans committee. Acting on a White House suggestion, Teague and Ayres tried in vain to sell Driver to Dirksen several weeks ago in a confrontation that got nowhere.

But Driver's support transcends Capitol Hill. Having gone to work for the VA under Gen. Omar Bradley 23 years ago, Driver has the backing of all major veterans' organizations and of the two former national commanders of the American Legion now in Congress. The major reason for this Pro-Driver sentiment in the veterans' lobby: he keeps the VA out of politics.

This sentiment was reflected during the presidential campaign by Ayres and Rep. Charles Teague, of California, a Republican who is no relation to the chairman but is also on the veterans committee. Each wrote Mr. Nixon asking him to keep Driver on grounds that he is a career man and only nominally a Democrat. Simultaneously, Tiger Teague wrote Hubert Humphrey a similar letter.

All this, however, fails to convince Dirksen and other Republicans angry over the slow pace of jobs for the party faithful. Indeed, the battle over Driver reveals one reason for this slow pace: the influence brought on the President by powerful chairmen of congressional committees in a congress controlled by Democrats.

Proxmire and the NAM

The unusually severe criticism of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation efforts delivered by the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) revealed the strange though strong working alliance between that venerable bastion of conservatism and liberal Democratic Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin.

The NAM asked that its chief economist, George G. Hagedorn, be permitted to testify at the joint economic committee's hearing on the economy. Rep Wright Patman of Texas, the joint committee chairman who is habitually uncongenial to big business, declined on grounds that the hearings were limited to government witnesses.

But as the committee's vice chairman, Proxmire insisted that Hagedorn be heard and, eventually, prevailed on Patman. Moreover, Hagedorn's testimony — surprisingly critical of the new administration — fully agreed with Proxmire's contention that President Nixon has not done nearly enough to fight inflation and has been laggard in cutting government spending.

Proxmire's intervention with Patman in behalf of the NAM bolstered the position of the NAM's Washington staff, who has been criticized by some member industrialists for being too palsy with a liberal like Proxmire. The NAM staffers are willing to forgive Proxmire's anti-business stands in consumer affairs and tax reform because of his fiscal conservatism.

Nixon's Southern Exposure

White House aide Robert Brown, dispatched by President Nixon to Laurel, Miss., as his personal envoy to inspect the damage from a recent train wreck, was met in Mississippi not by a Republican party official but by Aaron Henry, head of the state's NAACP and leader of the state Democratic party's loyalist faction.

Brown, in fact, never did see any Republicans in Laurel for the simple reason that no Republicans had been notified he was coming to Mississippi.

This oversight by White House political operatives, in a relatively obscure case, symbolizes the rising discontent, tinged with anger, by southern Republican leaders who feel they are being neglected by the man they were instrumental in electing President.

The committee that came out to welcome Brown, the top-rank Negro in the White House, was composed wholly of Democrats. Thus local Republicans lost a rare opportunity to show their concern for the family of one Laurel resident killed in the disaster and several other families whose houses were destroyed.

Southern party leaders make the point that if Laurel were a northern town local Republican leaders would have been out in force to welcome Brown They are angrily insisting that the Nixon White House treat the South the same way — not as the party's poor relation.

Knowles Backs Bill To Replace Bridges

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles Tuesday came out in favor of a measure before the legislature to finance replacement of 49 highway bridges and the relocation of 30 more.

The governor, in remarks prepared for a Wisconsin Road Builders gathering in Milwaukee, noted the collapse of three bridges during 1968.

Knowles said many of the bridges were built more than 50 years ago and obviously needed replacement.

Test Your Feats of Strength With These Wrestling Stunts

BY CAPPY DICK

The wrestling stunts described here today are intended for use indoors or, if outdoors, on a lawn where there are no large rocks or broken glass that could cause injuries.

Stunt No. 1 (illustrated in the picture). Two opponents sit facing each other with feet thrust forward so the soles of their shoes are pressed together. They clasp hands. At a signal they start pushing with their feet and pulling with their hands until one player has forced the other to a standing position.

Stunt No. 2 (for use in a gymnasium or outdoors). Two ropes are placed parallel on the ground about 10 feet apart. Two contestants stand back-to-back in the space between the ropes, their arms interlocked. At a signal, each player tries to pull the other behind him until he reaches the rope he is facing. The first to reach the rope while dragging the other player behind wins the bout.

Stunt No. 3 (also for a gym or outdoors). Two contestants face each other with feet planted well apart. They thrust their arms forward and one player presses his palms against the palms of his opponent. At a signal they start pushing, each trying to avoid moving either of his feet. The winner is the one who finally forces the other to move one of his feet to steady himself.

Ray Bolger Only Bright Spot in Musical

'Come Summer' Quaintly Dated, Music Unmemorable; Pleasant but 'Very Square'

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Fashions change in entertainment, too, and that's the formidable challenge faced by "Come Summer," a pleasant, bland and very square musical which opened Tuesday night at Broadway's Lunt-Fontanne Theater.

Going for it strong are Ray Bolger, tip-tap dancing as joyously as ever, several miles of scenic opulence, and the most dancing of any show this season.

The chief problem, echoing throughout with disheartening persistence, is the total concept of Agnes DeMille's quaintly dated staging.

About Yankee Peddlers

The mild yarn is based on a novel by the late Esther Forbes, "Rainbow on the Road," which saluted the happy-go-lucky peddlers who trudged New England byways in the early 19th century.

Bolger radiates infectious, low-key charm as a glib vagabond who briefly tries to lure a more youthful companion back to the open road after one of the speediest marriages in the history of romance.

Woven through are wistful wishing sequences which enable director DeMille to send platoons of handsome dancers into the swirls, leaps and gossamer glides that are her hallmark. All very nice, but save for a robust logging scamper, not very exciting. Bolger win ovations with three solo specialties.

'Folksy' Music

The music by David Baker with lyrics by Will Holt who also provided the libretto has folksy amiability, with 'Wild Birds Calling' and "So Much World" as neat ballads; "Fine Thank You Fine" and 'Rockin' ' for gentle amusement.

As Bolger's sidekick, David Cryer registers smartly. His love interest, Cathryn Damon, handles a tricky assignment well, and Barbara Sharma, the lusty young wife of a crotchety moneybags, has comic moments. Also on hand is Margaret Hamilton, as a Yankee shrew.

Credit Oliver Smith for the impressive settings and Stanley Simmons for the deft stovepipe hat and pantaloon costuming. But "Come Summer" has that problem.

"Other Critics Say"

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: "... Ray Bolger is a glorious dancer ... he can make every step seem a marvel of grace, agility and humor. The only trouble was that he was constantly being interrupted by a musical comedy called 'Come Summer' which ... kept getting insistently in his way."

John Chapman, Daily News: "When the incomparable Ray Bolger is dancing, or singing or cocking his head and just gazing at us with affection, 'Come Summer' is an enormously appealing new musical. When Ray is off somewhere, the show becomes a highly pictorial but rather sleepy representation of Old New England."

* * *

Clive Barnes, New York Times: "... 'Come Summer' is so awful that I suspect it will not last until the spring .. Yet it had some gorgeous things in it (the book) is so flimsy that it is almost unnoticeable (the music) was so unmemorable that you hopefully came out of the theater humming 'Oklahoma!' . Bolger dances with a deftness no words can really do justice to."

National Park Hearings

Red Cliff Indians Oppose Takeover Of Apostle Islands Lakeshore

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Legislation authorizing establishment of the Apostle Island National Lakeshore may strike a snag because of vehement testimony offered against it by the chairman of the Red Cliff Indian Tribal Council.

During hearings on the bill before a Senate parks and recreation subcommittee, Phillip Gordon, speaking for his tribe, ripped into the measure as "more of the paternalistic garbage that the federal government has fed to the Indians for far too many years

"We have held the land for 350 years and it is still unspoiled," he said in a statement prepared for delivery "We do not need the Department of Interior to teach us conservation"

Prior to Gordon's appearance, Sen Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis, verbally spanked Associate Director of the National Park Service Edward A. Hummel for insisting that certain parts of the reservation must be acquired so the territory could qualify as part of a national lakeshore plan

Vote Later

The main thing, according to Nelson, is to pass the bill, acquire the island and then let the tribe determine at a later date if it wants to relinquish or sell any part of its reservation.

"I don't blame the Indians for distrusting the white man," Nelson declared "I think, however, in time and it may be two or three years — the tribe may decide that the project is a worthwhile one and may negotiate the sale or lease of some of its land"

Gordon said the Indians don't want the money offered them "You cannot pay a fair market value to us, and there is no land just as good This is our tribal home and we want to keep it," he declared

Gordon said the Red Cliff band does not object to the establishment of a national park in the area so long as it takes only the offshore Apostle Islands and such land on the lakeshore off the Indian reservation as is available The chief of the tribal council said the council voted unanimously on March 13 to oppose any proposal which would take over the land of the Red Cliff Reservation.

9-10 Channel 5 — A strong and talented lineup makes The Dean Martin Show a good bet. There's a leggy, perky Barbara Eden. There's little, perky Mickey Rooney, teaming with Dean for a skit about musically inclined exterminators. There's Kate Smith, a perky legend, and there's Norm Crosby, a perky malaprop, malapropping.

Roslyn Kind, 18-year-old half-sister of singer Barbra Streisand, candidly admits she is taking advantage of her famous sister's fame. She also believes she has talent of her own and can prove herself in the pop-rock style she sings as a counterpoint against orchestral arrangements with a very classical sound. It's altogether different from the Streisand ballad style. (AP Wirephoto)

Charged With Beating Youth

Trial was set for July 24 Tuesday for Glenn Leeman, 38, route 1, Hortonville, who is charged with beating a 19-year-old rural Appleton youth early the morning of March 8

Duane Bauman, 19, route 2, brought the battery charge as a result of what he alleged was an attack on him by Leeman in the rural Hortonville man's restaurant

Bauman contended that Leeman forced him from the restaurant and once outside, pushed him down, struck him several times, and kicked him

Bauman, in the complaint, stated he was hospitalized in New London four days as a result of the beating Leeman, who asked for a jury trial, was freed on a $50 bond

NFL Becoming More Receptive to Big-Change Plan

AFL's Push for Total 1970 Realignment Seems to be Gaining Momentum

By MURRAY CHASS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif (AP) — The American Football League, which three days ago was expected to approve retention of the status quo in professional football, has turned its joint meeting with the National League around and appears to have insured realignment for 1970.

The AFL prepared a plan to present to National Football League team owners today in their first joint meeting on the matter since they received alternatives Monday

Although no one was saying much about the plan, The Associated Press learned that the AFL idea involves a general outline of the form pro football can take for 1970, the year the 1966 merger agreement takes final effect

For example, the 16-team NFL and 10-team AFL could be amalgamated into two divisions of seven teams each and two of six, or they could be integrated into two conferences with divisions of four, four and five.

NFL owners appeared to be more receptive to the AFL idea Wednesday.

"Both leagues worked on juggling teams from one league to another," Commissioner Pete Rozelle said, acknowledging for the first time that the NFL was thinking of anything but retention of the present 16-10 setup with the addition of inter-league games

At the beginning of the week, all but a small minority of AFL owners were thinking the same way.

But that minority, led by Paul Brown of Cincinnati and Gerald Phipps of Denver, has dramatically gained the sentiment of the rest of the teams.

Miami always has been for total realignment, and the world champion New York Jets surprisingly became an early convert.

San Diego also started leaning toward realignment, and Ralph Wilson of Buffalo more or less capitulated Wednesday.

"I prefer the two-league setup with the maximum number of inter-league games," said Wilson, a member of the six-man joint study committee that unanimously recommended retention of the status quo.

"But it's obvious we can't muster sufficient support to get the necessary three-fourths vote. It appears the AFL sentiment now is for total realignment of the two leagues into one.

"If this is what the others want, I'll not block it. Realignment is all right with me."

Oakland, Kansas City, Houston and Boston also apparently were willing to go along with the sentiment.

The idea of total realignment cannot make NFL owners deliriously happy, but there are ways they could be induced into accepting such a plan since they apparently have become resigned to some form of realignment.

Art Modell, owner of the Browns and president of the NFL, doesn't expect a formal vote this week.

"I think we will have acomplished something if we can narrow the alternatives and get down to specifics," he said.

"Then we can spend two months considering these and go to the meetings in New York in May and settle it there."

Modell referred to the league's spring meetings which most likely will be held in New York.

The 1968-9 Xavier High School basketball team posted a 22-1 record. The Hawks won their eighth straight Fox Valley Catholic Conference title. List Drake 13-Point Underdog to UCLA

Purdue '5', Tar Heels Play Opener

By BOB GREEN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Drake Coach Maury John, making the last minute preparations for tonight's encounter with awesome UCLA in the semifinals of the national collegiate basketball championships, made a slip of the tongue that must be indicative of something.

"We're loose and easy," he said, commenting about the team's attitude going into the game with the top-ranked Bruins. He nervously twisted a microphone cord and repeated:

"Loose and easy. We've played a lot of pressure games. And we've won 12 in a row. Yes, we've got a 12-game losing string going.

"Ahh, make that a 12-game winning string. Yes. Winning."

Ranked No. 11

But Drake, ranked No. 11 with a 25-4 record, is a 13-point underdog to the mighty Bruins and Lew Alcindor, a team that has lost only two games in three years and is gunning for a record third consecutive national championship.

North Carolina, No. 4 with a 27-3 record, plays Purdue, No. 6 and 22-4 in the opener of the NCAA semifinal doubleheader at 7:40 p.m., EST.

The winners move into the title game at 4:15 p.m., EST, Saturday afternoon.

All games will be televised nationally by NBC-TV.

All four teams arrived Wednesday afternoon and each took a one-hour workout. UCLA and Drake both are at top physical condition, while both North Carolina and Purdue have injury problems.

Purdue will lack the services of 7-foot Chuck Bavis, their regular center, who had an opera-

Freehan of Tigers Breaks Nose, Squad Also Loses to Redlegs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

His day off turned into an awful day for Bill Freehan, the slugging catcher of the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers left several players including Freehan behind at their Lakeland, Fla. training base Wednesday while the rest of the squad moved over to Tampa for an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds. As it turned out, Freehan would have been better off playing in the game.

An errant batting practice pitch by outfielder Jim Northrup hit Freehan squarely in the face, breaking his nose. He'll be sidelined at least 10 days. And to make the day a total washout for the Tigers, the Reds won the exhibition game, 4-3.

Other Action

In other exhibition action Wednesday, the New York Yankees edged Atlanta 3-2, Boston bombed Houston 13-1, Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 3-0, the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 5-4, Baltimore downed Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs dropped Cleveland 10-7, San Francisco defeated Seattle 9-4, the Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota tripped Washington 6-4 and the Yankees' "B" team edged Montreal 5-4.

Freehan was tapping home plate with his bat when Northrup's pitch hit him. "Jim shouted and I looked up just in time to get smashed," Freehan said "That bone must have shattered in 10 places."

"It was stupid of me not to look before I threw the thing," said Northrup. "I could kick myself for being so dumb."

Fourth in Row

Meanwhile, at Tampa, the Tigers dropped their fourth in a row with rookie Darrel Chaney's sixth inning homer giving the Reds the victory.

Catcher Frank Fernandez tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Yankees to their victory over Atlanta. It was the sixth loss in the last seven starts for the Braves.

Jim Lonborg pitched four hit-

Won't Get Specific Now

Erickson Mum About Drafting Alcindor For Milwaukee Club

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks flipped over their biggest victory of the National Basketball Association season Wednesday—but wouldn't talk about the next step.

Milwaukee won the first draft pick when Phoenix called heads and the half dollar tossed by Commissioner Walter Kennedy came up tails in the league's New York office.

The victory gives the expansion Bucks the right to draft UCLA's Lew Alcindor.

"I don't want to get specific about names," said John Erickson, general manager of the Bucks, when asked if the team would draft Alcindor.

"We will get together soon with Coach Larry Costello and his assistant, Tom Nissalke, and see what our needs are and who is available for the draft," Erickson said.

Out of Reach

Meanwhile, the UCLA star was kept out of reach of newsmen.

The team arrived by plane in Louisville, Ky., Wednesday for the NCAA tournament finals. Specific orders were left at the team's motel that neither Alcindor nor Coach Johnny Wooden would accept calls.

Erickson and Wes Pavalon, the board chairman of the Bucks, were dancing in a mutual bear hug after Kennedy said the coin "came up tails."

When things quieted down, they parried questiones about Alcindor or other prospects. Erickson shrugged off the suggestion that Alcindor didn't want to play with Milwaukee as his home base.

"Professional athletes are pros all the way," Erickson said. "They travel so much they don't complain about that."

Erickson said he was going to the NCAA tournament.

Knows Pressures

"But I won't talk with players until after the tournament," he said. "As a former coach at Wisconsin, I know what pressures they have."

He and Wooden are old friends and he has his foot in Alcindor's door.

"I've seen him, Wooden, and talked with him many times this year," Erickson said. "But never once have we discussed Alcindor or any other players. I don't believe it would be fair to him or anybody else involved."

It could cost Milwaukee plenty to seal Wednesday's victory.

Alcindor reportedly wants a contract in a million bracket and the rival American Basketball Association is said to be passing the hat among its members to give it to him.

"We could go to the stockholders, who are fans from the entire state of Wisconsin," Pavalon said when asked about the figure. The Bucks team is a publically owned corporation.

"But remember," added Pavalon, a multimillionaire, "I'm a Bucks' fan, also."

U. S. Rink Mauls West Germany

PERTH, Scotland (AP)— The Bud Somerville Rink of Superior, Wis., blitzed West Germany 21-1, in the third round of the World Curling Championship Thursday.

The victory moved the rink into a tie for second place.

Viking '9' Makes Spring Trip

BY JIM HARP
Post Crescent Staff Writer

For the first time in history, the Lawrence University baseball team will make a spring trip and Coach Bob Mueller and his 20-man squad is looking forward to the chance to get in some early exhibition games.

The Vikings, who are building a team around eight lettermen, head south this weekend and will face a tough slate of seven games in four days between Monday and Thursday.

In preparation for the trip, the Vikes have been working indoors for the last few weeks.

Starting off the southern swing for Lawrence will be a doubleheader at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill. Monday. On Tuesday, Lawrence will play a single game at Greenville College, Greenville, Ill.

Another twin bill will be on tap for the Vikes when they play at Union University, Jackson, Tenn. Wednesday and Lawrence will round out the spring trip Thursday with a doubleheader at the University of Tennessee, Martin, Tenn.

First Winning Team

In spite of having eight letter winners back from Lawrence's first winning team in history (the Vikes had a 5-2 Midwest Conference record and 5-4 overall mark) Coach Mueller says the 1969 team is a definite question mark.

Major losses from the 1968 team include 2-time all-confer-

Bucks Attain Goal of 25-Win First Season

Jon McGlocklin Sparks Milwaukee Over Suns, 117-110

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Milwaukee reached one of its early season goals Wednesday night when the Bucks won their 25th National Basketball Association game, 117-110 over Phoenix.

Coach Larry Costello set the goal at the start of the expansion club's first season last fall.

Milwaukee erased an early Suns' lead and had an apparently comfortable 64-47 advantage at intermission.

Phoenix rallied three times in the second half, coming as close as 113-106 with less than two minutes to go. But each team added four points and it was all over.

Dick Van Arsdale led all scorers, getting 32 points for Phoenix. Jon McGlocklin got 26 for Milwaukee and Don Smith added 22.

less innings and singled two Boston runs across in a seven-run rally against Don Wilson as the Red Sox battered Houston. George Scott had a two-run double in Boston's big fourth inning.

Len Gabrielson's two-run triple was Los Angeles' big blow and the Dodgers got shutout pitching from Bill Singer and Claude Osteen to beat St. Louis. Curt Flood had two hits for the Cards.

Homer, Single

Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a homer and a single against Philadelphia, leading the Mets to their fifth straight victory. Jones boosted his spring average to 433 and has three homers and 12 RBI in eight spring games. Deron Johnson had a three-run homer for the Phillies, his first hit of the spring.

Brooks Robinson walloped a grand slam homer and Frank Robinson added a two-run shot as Baltimore beat Pittsburgh. Rookie outfielder Al Oliver had three hits including two triples for the Pirates.

The Cubs spotted Cleveland six runs in the first inning and then roared back to beat the Indians. Rich Nye worked six innings in relief, allowing one run and smashed a two-run homer to lead Chicago's comeback.

Gaylord Perry worked six innings in San Francisco's victory over Seattle, allowing three runs. Bob Ethridge drove in three runs for the Giants.

Bill Melton rapped two doubles and two singles, leading the White Sox past Kansas City. Tommy John and Gary Peters each hurled four scoreless innings for the White Sox.

Rod Carew stole home to climax a five-run Minnesota rally in the seventh inning that gave the Twins their victory over Washington. The rally came after Frank Bertaina of the Senators had pitched four hitless innings.

Hortonville Sets Grade School Wrestling Clinic

HORTONVILLE — A wrestling clinic for all boys, fourth through eighth grades, in the Hortonville school district will begin Saturday in Hortonville High school. The clinic is set for 9 a.m. until noon.

Polar Bear Coach Tom Nadeau will be in charge of the clinic and some of his high school wrestlers will assist. The agenda will include wrestling movies, basic techniques and a tournament, in which boys will be matched according to size and ability.

No fee will be charged, but boys should bring their own gym trunks, T-shirt and tennis shoes.

Team Seeks Financial Aid

Kaukauna Highlanders Set for National Test

The Kaukauna Highlanders will compete in next week's national AAU women's basketball tournament at Gallup, N. M.

Last weekend, the Highlanders won the Tri-State regional title at West Allis. They edged Indianapolis, 76-74, in the final seven seconds on a basket by Lindy Kemp.

Sherry Ploor paced the Highlanders, with 19 points, and Jane Hahn added 15. Other Fox Cities area girls on the team include Karen Dix, Judy Weigman, Sharon Jernsted, Pat Moede and Kris Ostrowski.

The Highlanders, who earlier had won the state women's crown, have posted an 8-3 record for all games. They plan to leave for New Mexico this weekend.

The team needs some financial assistance to help defray the cost of the trip. Anyone interested making a donation should contact Miss Ostrowski.

Appleton 'Y' Mermaids Break 3 State Records

One team and two individual state records were established by members of the Appleton YMCA swimming team in the Girl's State Swim Meet held at Oconomowoc last Saturday.

All of the marks were set by girls in the 11-12 age group. The new standards were chalked up in the 200-yard medley relay (team) plus the 200-yard butterfly and 25-yard backstroke events (individual).

Members of the winning relay quartet were Ellen Savage, Marietta Martin, Jody Mendelsoh and Maud Hardacker. Their time was 2 minutes, 15 6 seconds

Miss Hardacker then went on to capture first in the butterfly event with a record 2.38.3 clocking. Later, she also added another individual title by taking first in the gruelling 500-yard freestyle in 6.16.8, her best time.

Robin Savage got the other state record for Appleton with a 19.0-second time in the backstroke.

Second To Racine

Other firsts for Appleton were taken by Kathy Weyenberg in the 50-yard backstroke in a time of 38.7 seconds, her personal best; Peg Kuehmsted and Marietta Martin in the 50-yard breaststroke with clockings of 42.1 and 36.5 seconds, respectively.

There were six competitive age groups in the meet. In addition to the 11-12 bracket, also included were the 8-and-under, 9-10, 13-14, 15-17, and open. Appleton's best finish was second to Racine in the 9-10 class.

Many other Appleton participants also placed high in various events Garnering second-place finishes were the team of Robin Savage, Jane Rouman, Adrianna Holy, and Jenny Kading; the team of Kathy Weyenberg, Pam Kichefski, Peg Kuehmsted, and Judy Winski; Jeannie Martin; Amy Savage (two events); Chris Grunwalt, and Kris McArt.

Third places went to Kris Meltz and Leslie Swalby

Retson's Wins Boys Cage Title

The Retson's Restaurant team is the champion of the Appleton YMCA High chool Boys Basketball League after defeating Crystal Print Inc , 54-43, in the finals recently.

Retson's Bob Heideman and C.P.I.'s Don Knaack each tossed in 16 points to lead their teams' attacks.

In the Grade School Boys League playoffs, the B-25s captured the American League title and the P-38s won in the National League. Each finished with 5-0 records.

Recent American League action saw the B-25s whip the Jets, 41-21; the Skyhawks topple the Raiders, 32-19; and the Starfighters get past the Flying Tigers, 24-21.

National League competition saw the P-38s get past the Blims, 22-18; the Mustangs downed the Choppers, 27-21; and the Spitfires nudged the Bombers, 17-15.

Some of the outstanding individual efforts were turned in by the B-25s' Paul Calloway, who hit 23 points; the Flying Tigers' T J. Utschig, who nettd 17; and the Mustangs' John Brazner, who tallied 16.

Bruins Face Drake Tonight

Alcindor and UCLA Favored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The era of Lew Alcindor at UCLA, unmatched in the history of college basketball, ends this week in Louisville where the Bruins are favored to win an unprecedented third straight national title.

The 7-foot-1½ agile giant is the main reason the Bruins are favored to turn back Drake tonight and take the championship Saturday. After that he's assured big money from the professionals as the No. 1 target of both major leagues.

The incredible collegiate era of Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor Jr. was heralded at a 1965 news conference in New York when he announced he would enroll at UCLA.

"It has the atmosphere I wanted and the people out there were so nice to me," he said

Dedicated Pavilion

UCLA dedicated its new Pauley Pavilion on Nov. 30, with a varsity versus freshman game. The varsity the previous year had won its second straight national college title. The frosh had Alcindor.

He hauled down 21 rebounds, scored 31 points and the yearlings won 75-60.

During an unbeaten freshman season, Alcindor was shielded from the press. The same has been true during much of his career.

Coach John Wooden knew the consequences of having such a superstar, explaining, "There are others on the team, too. I was concerned about how the other players would feel"

In Alcindor's sophomore year UCLA had a 30-0 record won the national title and he won player-of-the-year honors.

An eye injury during January of his junior year hampered his effectiveness for a few games, including a 71-69 loss to Houston in the Astrodome, the first defeat of the Alcindor era after 47 victories

UCLA avenged the loss with a 101-69 shelling of Houston and Elvin Hayes in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament and then beat North Carolina for its second straight title.

During his first two years, Lew took few chances with the ball since guards Mike Warren and Lucius Allen were extremely adept at handling the Bruins' fast break. This year, Alcindor has been asked to start the fast break himself with long passes from the back court

He's more relaxed now and found he can hit an 8- or 10-foot jump shot with accuracy. He also dribbles more toward the key and fires more hook shots, with either hand

Over 86 games, Lew has scored 2,263 points for an average of 26 3. He has grabbed 1,326 rebounds.

Does More Things

"He's stronger this year and he's able to do more things," said Wooden of the player he always calls Lewis.

"The fact that he is not a selfish individual has helped us. He dedicates himself to the total effort of the team. I think all players want to do well individually, but I think he's more concerned about the overall effort of the team, figuring he can help without necessarily scoring."

Currently Lew is asked if he'd like to attend graduate schools at Yale or Harvard. He's reportedly been offered a million dollar contract to play for the Harlem Globetrotters. He is a history major who may someday teach.

Schmidt, Parish Win Paddle Title

Jay Parish and Wolfgang Schmidt are the Appleton paddle racket doubles champions for 1969 The same team recently won the state doubles title.

Last Saturday, Parish and Schmidt won the city title by defeating Jack MacDonald and Bill Branta, 21-16, 20-21 and 21-15, in the finals Schmidt and Parish reached the finals with a 21-10, 21-10 win over Greg Kittleson and Bob Gallert, Branta and MacDonald reached the finals by beating Jim Warrick and Dr. Bill Chandler, 21-15 and 21-8

In the consolation finals, Bill Farrey and Bill Prosek beat Bill Blum and Hugo Wimmer, 15-21, 21-14 and 21-16.

Zussman Crashes 724 National Count

Mendy Zussman, a 26-year veteran in Appleton bowling circles, posted the 20th men's national honor count of the season for the Fox Cities as he came in with booming 724 total in the Fraternal League at Hahn's Lanes Wednesday night

The southpaw kegler, who has been over the 700-pin mark two other times in his lifetime, put together games of 259, 223, and 242 He rapped 24 strikes in all, including a string of seven at the end of the first line and three more at the start of the second. He had just one split all night.

Zussman, a member of the Odd Fellows team who had hit only "a small 600" as his best effort previously this year, credcredited better lift and timing as the keys to his big series

"A few years ago I changed my style," he explained this morning, "and I need to have a lot of lift when I bowl Last night, I got it. I took my time more and everything rolled in there"

A 3-nights-a-week bowler, Zussman also competes in the Builders League at Hahn's Lanes Monday and the Grocers League at 41 Bowl Thursday He averages between 173 and 175 per game

Zussman works at his own grocery business, where he has been involved for 33 years.

Among other high counts posted in the Fraternal loop were Jerry Jensen's 617 total and Dick Fellner's 601

Don Klemp took the spotlight in the Merchants League at 41 Bowl, as he fired a 278 singleton He finished with a league-leading 645 total.

Klemp started out his big game with nine straight strikes. He left the 3-pin on his first roll in the 10th frame, then spared. His final roll toppled nine pins

Three more Merchants circuit keglers went over the 600-pin mark, including Rev Tom Keller, 235-626, Jack Hidde, 245-617, and Jack Stingle, 603

The Kimberly Classic League at Jerry's Lanes saw Dick Van Hammond set the pace with a 246-671 combination Bud Van Hammond followed with a 245-225-620 combination, and Dave Henderson was third with 615, including a league-high 262 singleton

Wayne Engel took the spotlight in the Bachelors League at Twin City Bowl, as he smacked games of 251 and 249 on his way to a 657 total

Roger Loret toppled a 225 line and 621 series for top honors in the Fox Valley Classic League at Lakeroad Lanes Bill Berndt took runnerup laurels with 607, while Mike Simonis hit a 234-602 aggregate and "Willie" Karnopp came in with 233-600.

Al Seeman cracked a 219 singleton and 619 series for the best performance in the American Legion League at Little Chute Recreation Lanes Joe Reynebeau fashioned a 225-610 set for runnreup, and Gary Buntrock hit 602.

Nine Football Prospects to Enroll at UW

MADISON (AP) — University of Wisconsin Head Football Coach John Coatta reported Wednesday nine prospects have signed scholarships and will enroll at Madison in September.

Among the nine are six Wisconsin all state selections and one junior college transfer student. The other two played prep football in the Chicago area.

Three Madison stars are among those who signed. They are quarterback Tim Healy, end Bob Storck, and halfback Art Sanger.

Linebacker Keith Nosbusch from Wauwatosa, quarterback Chuck Di Francesca from Waukesha, and linebacker Robert Braun from Union Grove are the other Wisconsin athletes.

Gary Lund, a back, and Jim Benda, an end, are the Chicago preps while halfback John Fowler spent last season at Centerville, Iowa Junior College.

Appleton West Track Prospects Are Improved for 1969 Season

The Appleton West High School track team stacks up as "200 per cent improved over last year," according to Terror coach Pat O'Reilly.

O'Reilly, in his second year as head man of West track fortunes, currently has a squad of about 50 athletes working out in preparation for the Terrors' first competition. That will come in the Fox River Valley Conference Indoor Meet at Manitowoc March 28.

There are just three lettermen returning from last season's outfit, which placed eighth in a field of 11 schools. They are distance men Tom Sommers, Mike Moriarty and Jim Ruwoldt.

Sommers, a senior, is slated to run the mile. Moriarty is a junior who will compete in the mile indoors, then switch to the 2-mile when outdoor meets start. Ruwoldt, another junior, is scheduled for the 880.

Although final spots are not yet established, O'Reilly has made a tentative lineup for the FRVC meet. Most of the Terror competitors will be juniors.

2 More Juniors

In the dashes, likely West performers should be Larry Alexander,an ABC student and a junior, plus Mark Eggert, a junior. The two will probably be joined by two more juniors, Mark Stevens and Jeff Plantz, to make up the 4-lap relay team.

The mile relay team should be compromised of four out of the following five boys: Mike Keene, a transfer from Wausau; Jeff Callahan, Dick Schoenbaum, Don Hietpas, and Jim Hardt. All are juniors. Keene and Callahnn are slated for 440 duty also.

The hurdles events should be handled by juniors Jim Werner and Larry Frye.

The field events look like this:

Shot put — Mike West, junior, and Mike Wollen, soph.

If Buffalo Falls Through

Claims Simpson May Play With CFL Team

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The president of the Orlando Panthers says O.J. Simpson has offered to play for his Continental Football League team for $400,000, and the Panthers think that's a fair price to pay Orange Juice to promote the Sunshine state's favorite beverage.

"O.J. and his agent approached Jim Dunn, the Continental League commissioner, two weeks ago and offered to play for $400,000 if O.J.'s negotiations with the Buffalo Bills fell through," said Elmer Cook, Panthers president.

"We went to the Florida Citrus commission and asked them to put up the money, since it was a natural promotional bit to go along with their slogan—Drink O.J.," Cook explained.

Warm to Proposal

The Citrus Commission seemed quite warm to the proposal, Cook said, figuring that a specimen of manhood like the ex-Southern California running back would do as much to up the sale of orange juice as all the vitamin-C plugs put together.

At present, Simpson is committed to contract negotiations with the Bills of the American Football League, and cannot legally play for any other AFL or National Football League team if he fails to reach a contract with the Bills.

However, there's nothing to stop him from playing for a Continental or Canadian team.

Cook's CFL may be bush, but his business acumen is big league, and he thinks there is a very good possibility from a business angle that O.J. will play for Orlando.

"This is just my opinion," he said, "but I think the AFL-NFL club owners will decide how much O.J. gets paid, not the Bills.

Other Top Choices

"Look—right now there are about 50 other top draft choices who are stalemated with their clubs on contracts. The players are all waiting to see how much O.J. gets," he explained.

"At the club owners meeting in Palm Springs (Calif.), I'll bet they're saying something like, 'fellas, if we give this guy all the money he wants, how much will we have to pay the others?'"

The big leagues might decide they really don't need Simpson's prestige enough to fork out twice as much as they planned to pay the other holdouts, Cook argued, so Simpson might be given a hearty thanks for his time and a cheery goodby at Buffalo.

Ralph Wilson, owner of the Bills, has said that Simpson must believe that Wilson is Howard Hughes to request a $600,000 plus contract from the Bills' owner.

First-Round Finale

Beloit Favored Over Eau Claire Tonight

By BOB GREENE

MADISON (AP) — Top-rated Beloit and fifth-ranked Eau Claire Memorial clash at 8:45 tonight to wind up the first round of the 54th annual Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association state basketball tournament.

Neenah met Wausau to open the eight-team battle and Milwaukee Lincoln took on Glendale Nicolet in afternoon contests.

Tonight's 7 p.m. contest will send Durand, ranked sixth among the small schools, against undefeated Kimberly. The Associated Press' No. 2 school in the Big Ten.

Beloit was runner-up to Manitowoc in the state meet last year, and could be considered the favorite this time out The Purple Knights, like Kimberly, have rolled over all 23 opponents this senaso without a loss

3 Starters Back

Three of last year's starters are still performing for Coach Bernie Barkin. They are 6-foot-7 Bruce Brown, 6-3 Chuck Loft and 5-10 Lamont Weaver

A fourth starter, 7-4 David Kilgore, was the No 6 man a year ago, while the starting quintet is rounded out by 5-11 Dan Wohlfert

"Usually, I can pick four of my five starters immediately after a preseason practice," Barkin said "But this year I knew who the five were going to be And I haven't changed a thing."

The Knights marched through the rough Big Eight Conference without a hitch, although Racine Park gave them a scare before falling, 47-46

A strong rebounding club, the Knights also get good mileage out of their top two reserves, 6-6 Dave Hanzlik and 5-9 Mike Masterson.

Beloit is averaging 74 points per game while limiting its foes to 55.8 with a multiple defense that switches smoothly from a zone to a man-to-man.

Scouting reports show Beloit has no weakness, with size, polish, speed, quickness and defense in its arsenal

Eau Claire Memorial on the other hand, is young and small

"I didn't expect us to do very much this year," Coach Jim Gleboff said of his Old Abes

But it's the third time in the last four years that Gleboff's team has been in the state tourney.

It's Downhill

From there it's downhill Tom Poquette and Gregg Bohlig are both 5-8 while Stan Morley, Greg's brother, is 5-11

Memorial tied La Crosse Central for the Big Rivers Conference crown and wound up the season with a nifty 22-1 record The success of the Abes is remarkable considering that their top player Greg Morley was sidelined two months with an injured foot

A tight man-to-man defense with both half and full court presses have carried the Abes to victories this season Offensively, the club is well balanced with both Morleys averaging around 17 points per game and Gregg Bohlig and Almberg averaging 13

"The big thing Gleboff said, "is the boys seem to come through with the big victories, although they don't seem to impress very many people with their performances"

Who will win the championship trophy?

As Beloit Coach Barkin said, "I'll let you know after Saturday night.

ence shortstop Dennis Kirchoff and all-conference pitcher, Chris Olsen. Another letter winner, Mark Harju has transferred to the University of Illinois

Mueller cites the lack of experienced pitchers and depth in the infield as the major problems

Junior letterman Jon Tittle is expected to be one starting pitcher while Doug Faile, the only other returning moundsman with experience will not be able to report until after the seventh game on the schedule

Others who are expected to see some action on the mound include regular first baseman Bob Townsend, and outfielder Roger Hildebrand, both lettermen Sophomores who will be trying for a starting spot with the hurling staff include Dave Jones, Jerry Kaminski and Jeff Riester. Dave Spear, veteran outfielder, also may get a shot at pitching

Townsend will probably hold down the first base spot with letterman Dave Matz at second, Marty Thurnblad, a sophomore, at shortstop and Randy Merza at third. Merza was a catcher last year, but underwent knee surgery and has been forced to try a new position.

To Join Later

Rob Thomas, last year's regular second baseman, will not be able to join the team until late and therefore will move to the outfield.

Kaminski and Hildebrand are expected to man two of the outfield spots with Spear expected to handle the other. Coach Mueller has six other outfield candidates on the squad including letterman Rick Wylie and sophomores Russ Birkos, Rick Clauter, Bill Hegan, Frank Kinney and Toby Schreiber

In the catching department, Mueller will have sophomores Jim Ralph and Rick Clauter as the top prospects. In addition, Birkos also may get a shot at catching along with some outfield work. Merza and Matz did the catching last year and could be called on in a pinch

After the spring trip the home opener for the Vikes will be April 7 against Stevens Point.

Super Bowl to New Orleans

Majority Prevails In Balloting for Post-Season Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The 1970 Super Bowl football game will be played in New Orleans after a two-year residence in Miami.

New Orleans won out in a spirited tussle with Miami for the Super Bowl game between the AFL and NFL champions Jan 11.

The vote, not announced, was not unanimous. But the majority prevailed for New Orleans in both leagues.

It's a one-shot deal for New Orleans, which was what the city advocated.

"This does not set a pattern. We'll play it loose, just as we have for the first games," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

IPC Captures Men's Golf Chipping Honors

The golf chipping segment of the Appleton YMCA Industrial Olympics continues tonight with the women's competition.

In last week's men's test, Appleton Wire Works took the title, with the Institute of Paper Chemistry finishing second. The top shooters were the Wire Works' Jim Schmidt and Nibs De Young and the Institute's Harold Swenson.

Kimberly-Clark still holds the over-all Olympics lead, with 1,295 points. Appleton Coated Paper is second, with 980.

3 More National Honor Counts

Lois Bayer, Evelyn Myers, Julie Hidde Top 600 Mark

Three more national honor counts were recorded Wednesday night as women keglers in the Fox Cities boosted the season's output to a total of 54.

All three of Wednesday's counts were recorded in the Women's Classic League at the 41 Bowl. Lois Bayer set the pace as she slammed a 644 total. Evelyn Myers cracked 610 and Julie Hidde jolted a 603.

For Mrs. Bayer it was the first national set in a 25-year bowling career. Her previous high was a 595 rolled "about 15 years ago" and her best effort earlier this season was a 562.

"There's no special reason, everything just went right," Mrs. Bayer said this morning as the once-a-week kegler recalled the high set. Lois started with a booming 243 game and followed with a 184 and 217. In the 243 game she finished strong with six strikes in a row. Mrs. Bayer had a total of 18 strikes in the three games.

Has 162 Average

Lois averages 162 in the Classic circuit and the 243 also was a career high for her.

For Mrs. Myers it was the seventh national honor set of the season. The veteran New London kegler pounded games of 221, 200 and 189 for the 610 total.

Julie Hidde started with games of 191 and 180 and then boomed a 232 line for her 603 series.

Shirley "Butch" Helser socked games of 204 and 214 for a 588 series. JoAnn Goettel had a 214 singleton and 584 set while Sue Lundberg fired a 213 game and 568 series.

Donna Ziegler rolled a 549 series Wednesday to lead the way in the Four-for-Fun League at Hahn's Lanes. Ann Knause had 201, Ann Hahn rolled 193. Aggie Witeck cracked 193 and Diane Arent had 518.

Slams 548 Series

Carol Dietz smacked a 212 game and 548 series to lead the Gemini 12 League at Sabre Lanes Lois Wittman had a 217 singleton and finished with a 545 and other leading scores included Jackie Kuehne 195, Lois Grassl 190, Nelda Kolosso 513 and Garold Lucas 192.

Marion Holschuh slammed a 537 series while Helen "Butch" Elting had a 191 game and 516 series and "Muggs" Elting rolled 503 in the Alley Cat League at the Village Lanes, Little Chute.

Florence Sears had a 192 singleton and 534 series to take individual honors in the Twin City Bowl League Wednesday.

Clair Popp smacked a 205 game and 533 series to lead the action in the Lucky Strike League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday. Also hitting high counts were Geri Wogsland 202-521, Janet Haviland 204-519, Judy Martin 200-512, Janice Peterman 511, Gail Meredith 504, Kitty Kahl 500 and Ellie DeShaney 194

Rolls 213 game

In Wednesday's Donut League at Sabre Lanes, Alice Getsfried had a 213 game and Donna Jarosinski rolled a 502 series. Marcella Peterson hit a 190 game, Joan Jensen smacked 198, Mae Stitsberger slammed 207 and Pat Price rolled 501

Marge Vanderloop blasted a 522 series in the Tuesday Ladies League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes. Elaine Mignon had high games with a 196 and finished with 505 while Dorothy School hit a 191 game and Ethel Van Nuland had a 190 singleton.

Women's Classic, 41 Bowl

Leone Uetzman 197-515, Bea Albrecht 512, Toby Hoffman 202-544, Teri Umland 190-528, Evelyn Steinacher 190-517, Corky Behrent 196-526; Bev Behrent 501, Ruth Schmidt 193-501, Elaine Schmidt 200-524; Judy Boeder 201-534, Priscilla Koenigs 190, Joan Kolosso 529, Donna Larson 195-550, Sue Judge 209-530, Fritzie Meyers 194, Joan Schneider 191; Kathy Sodermark 195-521, Jerry Erb 214-522, Celia Whitman 502

tion for a shoulder separation earlier this week.

Herman Gilliam, the Boilermakers' No. 2 scorer behind All-American Rick Mount, worked out with the team but favored an injured Achilles tendon.

Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina said Dick Grubar, North Carolina's floor general "and the boy who's put us in the national tournament for three years," definitely is out with a knee injury.

Wooden barred interviews with his players but said the 7-foot-1 Alcindor, a three-time All-American, "has a lot of pride. I think he would like to be involved in this third championship.

"No one else has before. I think that's something that would appeal to his pride."

KALEIDO-SCOPE SHOCKS!

One symptom of the current unrest on campuses is the controversial student newspaper which satirizes prevailing standards, questions conventional wisdom and speaks out with a new frankness on subjects like sex. A series now appearing in the Saturday Young America Section of The Milwaukee Sentinel discusses these papers in Wisconsin. On March 22, Milwaukee's exuberant "Kaleidoscope" is explored in an illustrated article by Keith Spore of The Sentinel staff.

"Young America" Covers a Wide Band

OF INTEREST TO YOUTH

This sparkling Saturday section in The Milwaukee Sentinel, with its psychedelic color cover layouts and its wide awake approach to the contemporary scene, includes up to date reviews of new recordings, the latest word about the new cars, discussions of controversial issues by high schoolers and stimulating features about what's going on.

Shareholders Of Iron Works Favor Merger

Brillion Foundry, Beatrice Foods Co., Chicago, to Join

BRILLION — Shareholders of Brillion Iron Works voted in favor of the iron foundry and farm equipment manufacturer merging into Beatrice Foods Co. Chicago it was announced Wednesday

R D Peters, president, said the shareholders gave overwhelming approval, and at the same time, endorsed plans to retain the present name of the Brillion firm

Peters said the Iron Works will continue under the same management

Terms of Agreement

The merger plan was announced last month and still is subject to a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service Company officials have not revealed terms of the agreement

Brillion will operate as an independent division of Beatrice which has expanded from dairy and grocery foods into agricultural products, specialty chemicals and home and institutional furnishing accessories.

The acquisition of the iron works, a closely held company until the merger, is the company's first move into the hard goods field

Crying Wolf With Our National Security

Whatever the decision of the Naval board of inquiry over the Pueblo case, there should be considerable concern about the failure of a National Security Agency warning to reach the men for whom it was intended.

A House investigating subcommittee, headed by Representative Otis Pike, has found that the National Security Agency directed a message to the Joint Chiefs of Staff warning that the mission approved for the Pueblo might be more risky than had been earlier determined and that consideration should be given to protecting it. But the Joint Chiefs never received the message. Instead it was received at the staff level and redirected to the commander in chief, Pacific, Rear Admiral Frank Johnson. But Admiral Johnson didn't get the message either as it was received at the staff level of his office and never brought to his attention. It was Admiral Johnson's decision that the Pueblo mission involved only "minimal risk" and no provisions for air or sea protection were made.

It might be easy to blame the lower levels of command at both the Joint Chiefs' office and in Admiral Johnson's office. But even more disturbing was the testimony of Admiral Johnson. He would have made the same decision even if he had received the warning, he told the House subcommittee. "These messages come through all the time . . . there is a constant flow" of reports of possible enemy attacks.

The House committee says that the National Security Agency had supervision of the special intelligence unit aboard the Pueblo as it deals mainly with electronic surveillance and cryptographic work. Even if there is a large number of intelligence missions, it would seem logical that a message from the directing agency ought to reach its destination and be taken under consideration. The incident does not encourage confidence in our military affairs.

Condemnation of Youth

Many of the problems being discussed today deal in one way or another with the younger generation. Although despair over what young people will do with the world they are inheriting is something which was recorded by the Egyptians more than 6,000 years ago, many feel that conditions are worse now than ever before.

It is unfortunate that a member of the Wisconsin Assembly seems to have fallen into this trap by categorically condemning the young generation. George B. Belting, R-Beloit, favors raising the voting age to 25 because today's youth are "apathetic, weak, non-self-reliant and preoccupied with animal needs." Claiming that today's young people are less mature than previous generations, Belting bases his argument solely on the growing rate of early marriages among this age group and a divorce rate he cites as accounting for 76 per cent of all divorces.

The Beloit legislator says this immaturity is proved by early marriages, which he says are recognized by sociologists as a sign of immaturity. He claims that brides in such marriages seek a soft life of dependency in a fantasy world and their grooms want a mother image with sexual convenience. We do not favor the earlier age of marriages, although we do feel that many young people entering such marriages are just as mature as the present generation of parents were at that age. We would like to see documented proof for Belting's statistics.

Such charges, besides being designed to block the move to lower the voting age to 18, have serious implications for the employment of young people in responsible positions, as well as for serving in the military, driving an automobile or purchasing alcoholic beverages. If Assemblyman Belting is going to make such rash statements, we invite him to consider all the consequences.

Japan Balks at Nuclear Treaty

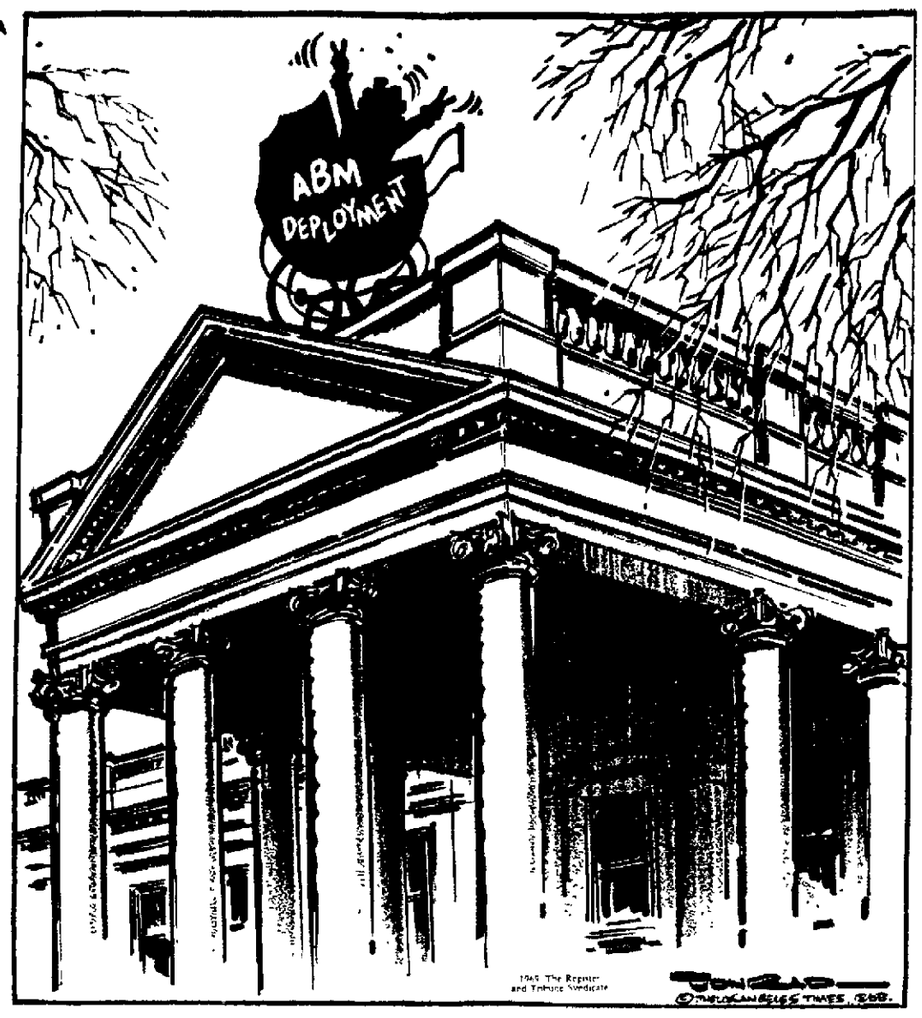

Although the United States Senate has ratified the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and although the United States has another treaty with Japan extending our nuclear protection, there seems to be doubt that Japan will ratify the new treaty. Along with West Germany, Israel and India, Japan has not even signed the treaty.

The Japanese arguments are many. They point out that there is nothing in the treaty toward disarmament among the nuclear powers although the non-nuclear nations must pledge not to construct an atom bomb. Non-nuclear nations must also accept regular inspection teams to make sure they are living up to their promises. West European nations are to be inspected by members of Euratom, a six nation Western European organization, but all other non-nuclear nations must submit to procedures by the International Atomic Energy Agency made up of 97 nations, including the Soviet Union and Japan's industrial rivals in Europe. The Japanese fear that the inspection procedures will hinder their development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. The treaty states that the inspectors are to seek "indications and intentions" which certainly are difficult to classify. And the Japanese further point out that a nation could stop just one step short of developing an atomic bomb and still be within the treaty's limitations.

The closeness of China, which has already developed its own nuclear devices for war purposes, is another disturbing influence upon the Japanese. With its crowded cities, Japan is particularly vulnerable to atomic attack as it discovered a quarter of a century ago.

There is another sore point. The United States has developed a means of enriching uranium for nuclear production but it keeps the process a secret on the grounds that it is important military information. The Japanese argue that non-nuclear nations which sign the treaty should be let in on the uranium-enriching process. The United States balks at this for both military and economic reasons.

It may be that Japan will not sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty at least until the pact with the United States is renegotiated next year. American concessions on Okinawa are expected to be demanded before the pact is agreed upon.

$400 Million State Debt Would be Made Legitimate by Vote

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Not so long ago, when the subject of the comparatively high ratio of taxes borne by the residents of Wisconsin would enter a political conversation someone would caution:

"Yes, but it is necessary to remember that Wisconsin has no state debt and that many other states have borrowed heavily. We have maintained a pay as you go policy."

Such a rejoiner has not been possible for some years. One of the salient facts about public finance in Wisconsin is that the current generation of politicians is reversing abruptly and speedily the policy of their predecessors on such claims.

Indeed, the rate at which the long-term debt of the state is increasing, not to mention the heightened pace of borrowing of the creature local governments, exceeds the rate of increase in current taxation, although the taxes are immediate and painful and therefore have attracted more political attention.

Wyngaard

DEBT AT $400 MILLION

Consider what has happened in recent years and what apparently will happen in the immediate future in a state government which has a constitution that upon a literal reading prohibits state bonding for more than $100,000 except for the suppression of rebellion or resistance to invasion:

Through the subterfuge of the "dummy" corporations, as state affairs reporters have succeeded in naming them, the state now has an actual bonded debt approaching $400 million.

Mostly it represents capital investment in public institutions of a dozen kinds.

MANY ARE NONRESIDENTS

The new state budget, if approved, will add nearly $100 million to that total for a continuation of the enlargement, improvement, replacement and construction of additional facilities for ever-increasing populations in welfare and correctional institutions, but more particularly, the swelling enrollments at tax supported institutions of higher education.

The realization that an extraordinarily high number of nonresidents attend those schools is one of the reasons for the current movement to curb the ratio of such nonresidents who are not contributing either to debt retirement or debt service costs.

Lately the "dummy" corporation concept has been extended to embrace the accelerated construction of major highways. A bond issue of more than $35 million was sold the other day to permit earlier completion of the Interstate highway segments in western Wisconsin. Freshly introduced into the legislature under the auspices of the state administration and the majority party in the legislature is another measure that would permit bonds to build bridges that otherwise would not be had for another decade or more. Both of these programs will be difficult to control with respect to size.

REFERENDUM ON BONDS

Finally, the people of the state will be asked on April 1 to express themselves in an advisory way to the legislature on a $200 million bond issue for accelerated acquisition and development of recreational lands and the subsidization of municipal pollution control projects.

All of this is not to say that state borrowing is wrong. It is as logical for a state or a municipality to borrow for long-range purposes as it is for the private corporation. Bonding is a means to spread the cost liability over the generations of beneficiaries of such investments.

Yet it is worth noting that there will also be on the April ballot a ratification referendum which if approved will approve state bonding by including its authorization in the constitution and to make possible "full faith and credit" issues, as they are called.

DECISION COMES LATE

The decision to face up to the issue literally and straightforwardly comes late for the people of Wisconsin and their government.

The limit of the bonding in the amendment as it is written will probably be about $1.5 billion.

But the new system will absorb the debt already outstanding, which amounts to about half of that maximum borrowing power. Perhaps it is time to make an honest woman out of "Miss Forward," who adorns the dome of the statehouse.

Hussein Plays Key Role in Mideast And His Position Is Flexible One

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

AMMAN — For most of the world, the Near East has become Israel, Nasser, and the Palestine commandos. But in many ways the most critical role is the role of King Hussein of Jordan. And in a chat at his palace here in Amman the other day, the King mad it plain that he will be playing that role seriously, and with care and discrimination — not, as some suppose, in the fashion of the James Dean of Arab feudalism.

Hussein has a critical role to play because he is, literally, in the thick of everything. In one way or another, his country and his throne are involved with all the active forces in the Near East.

For openers, Hussein is deeply embroiled with Israel. The fairest part of his country (the West Bank of the Jordan) and its major city (Jerusalem) have been under Israeli occupation since the six-day war. More than half the population of the territory that remains to the King are Palestinians who live largley to get back to the homes they fled under Israeli pressure.

COMMANDO PROBLEM

In addition, Husseni is wound up with the big new political force in the Near East — the fedayeen or Palestinian commandos. The commandos have most of their training camps, and almost all of their bases for operations against Israel, on Jordanian soil. Their men, dressed up in garish tiger-striped fatigues, strut up and down the streets of Amman, guard offices, and run schools and clinics in a way that suggests they have — or think they have — sovereign rights in Jordan.

Finally, Hussein is a recognized Arab leader, accepted as such by all the other Arab rulers, including President Nasser of Egypt. He has a seat at the United Nations and close ties to the United States and Britain. The Russians are obviously wooing him.

In sorting out these different connections, the King plainly gives first priority to peace with Israel. The palace denies there have been direct conversations with Israeli officials, but there have obviously been many indirect contacts through many different third parties. The King is unquestionably ready to negotiate with the Israelis through the offices of the United Nations mediator, Gunnar Jarring.

Kraft

In return for Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories, he is prepared to make a number of changes in what was the status quo before the six-day war broke out in June, 1967. With respect to the West Bank of the Jordan, which is the best point of departure for Arab action against Israel, he speaks of demilitarizing the area as "one good way to promote security." In talks with American officials he has accepted the principle of minor border rectifications to ease Israel's security problem.

As regards Jerusalem, the King says it would be "very difficult" for him to abandon sovereignty "over the Arab quarter." But he is prepared to consider all kinds of accommodations, including international supervision and mixed local government, to keep the city open for Israelis and others. "The city of peace," he says, "should not be an obstacle to peace."

With respect to the Palestinians, the King is confident that in any test of strength his army could roll up the fedayeen. He seems to have no idea of retreating forward by making himself a "commando king" in a "partisan state" as some have suggested. But he would like to avoid that kind of extreme choice altogether.

PEACE IS POSSIBLE

His hope is that the Palestinians will continue to life, as he puts it, "within the Jordanian family." Under that umbrella, he would be prepared to afford the Palestinians "increasing self-government" of an entity on the West Bank of the Jordan. He is convinced that under such an arrangement pressures would diminish and a durable peace become possible.

With respect to the rest of the world, the king's first priority is to be in step with other Arab leaders, particularly Colonel Nasser. He does not, by making peace all alone, want to be stamped as the patsy of the Israelis. For that reason, he even prefers not to air certain undertakings given to him by the United States about the future boundaries of Jordan. He says: "I am associated with one tendency in the Arab world. President Nasser is associated with another tendency. All the tendencies should be making peace together."

As to the great powers, the King would plainly like to maintain the close relationship he has had with the United States. To that end, he would like Washington to play a more active role in fostering a settlement in the Near East — particularly in preparing Israel for an accord. He would also like to have a more generous and regular arms flow. If only as a last resort, he is obviously considering several Soviet offers of assistance. Just after my audience with Hussein, two Soviet "journalists" went in to see him.

What is remarkable in all this is King Hussein's flexibility and moderation. Almost alone in this troubled area, he is prepared to see another point of view, and to make adjustments for it. Moreover, even though it is not exactly popular to be moderate around these parts, the King is not panicky.

He does not insist on having a settlement all at once. He does not act as if his regime will collapse if he doesn't get his way. While he thinks it is very important to "make a beginning" on a settlement, he is prepared for a long, evolutionary process. And that calm and wise outlook seems the appropriate stance for everybody to be taking in this area — even the government of the United States.

Looking Backward

'Sirs, You Are Foreigners!'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post of March 11, 1869

"Imported" This is the taling accusation Judge Howling Jacobinism Jr (meaning Editor Sam Ryan Jr of Democratic Crescent) Editor-in-chief of the Radical Jacobin Exterminator (meaning The Crescent) of Appleton Wis, brings for the twentieth time against the present conductors of the Post.

He must suppose this argument to possess some mysterious potentiality, for whenever he wishes to extinguish us with his exquisite, Judicial editorialities, he stretches his magisterial corporosity to its utmost powers of elongation, and deliberately flings with the full force of his judicial quill the unanswerable and undeniable charge, "Sirs, you are foreigners." (Post Editor John Buchanan and his co-workers were from Canada)

If his language means anything at all, it means that and nothing else.

"You are foreigners — it becomes you to hold your tongues — you have no business, as foreigners here, unless you vote the straight Democratic ticket — remember, we natives do the talking and the office-holding, and you vote as we tell you."

Thursday, March 16, 1944.

The St. Patrick Minstrels at St. Mary Church were abroad again, rehearsing for the annual show put on in St. Mary parish. J. F. Bannister was directing the production with Mrs. Gilbert Beglinger the accompanist. Interlocutor that year was J. M. Van Rooy with end men George Theiss, Maurice Lewis, Karel Richmond and Bob Piette. Soloists were Betty Hanegraaf, Celine Hanegraaf, Keith Jahnke, Teddie Slater, Richard VerHoeven and Gilbert Walsh.

When Hillsdale 4-H Club sponsored a card party at the Hillsdale School, route 2, Appleton, winners were George Teehlin, Lawrence Buss, Dorothy Schroeder, Muriel and Ila Mae Schroeder, Harold Beyer and Mrs. Albert Riehl.

The Estlund Trio, Bruce, Sally and Douglas Estlund, children of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Estlund, New London, were to present a program of songs at the St. Patrick's Day banquet sponsored by the Fond du Lac Rotary Club at Hotel Retlaw.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 19, 1959.

Seniors Richard Binsfeld, David Boldt, Donald and Kenneth Kloehn were active members of the production crew for the comedy "Leave it to Psmith," being given as the class play at Appleton High School.

Scouters keys and awards were presented to several adult workers in the Tri-City District of Boy Scouts in recognition for their outstanding work. Award recipients at a potluck dinner in Appleton were Daniel Coonen, Menasha Troop 45; John Mueller, Appleton Troop 5; James Seekins, neighborhood commissioner in Appleton; Richard Masten and Francis King, both of Neenah Troop 45; Miles Meidam, Appleton Troop 6.

Preparing for the big moment in the state basketball tournament were Kimberly High School players Tom Rooyakkers, Don Hearden, Darrell Jansen, Jack Lamers, Dave Minten and Jack Vander Velden. Gil Frank was their coach.

Bethany Home Qualifies Under New U. S. Standards

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

After reading the letter of March 4 concerning the withdrawal of state aid from Bethany Home in Waupaca, I felt perhaps an explanation of the reasons for the changes would be in order.

On July 1, 1966, Medicare, or Title 18, went into effect for hospitals and on January 1, 1967, it also became effective for extended care facilities. These were basically nursing homes who could meet the stricter requirements beyond state licensure as defined by the federal government. In addition to meeting many physical plant specifications the most difficult compliance factor involved having either a registered nurse or a licensed practical nurse on duty 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Also, on July 1, 1966, any individual state could elect to participate in Title 19 or Medical Assistance, and Wisconsin chose to do so. This too is a federally-sponsored program and the state is reimbursed approximately 55 per cent for costs incurred under Title 19. However, in the participating states, the nursing homes were given until January 1, 1969 to comply with the federal standards under Title 19. These are substantially the same as Medicare or Title 18.

My personal belief is that a licensed nurse should be on duty at all times when dealing with patients who truly need skilled nursing care. Anything less for this kind of patient is an injustice to both the patient and the nursing staff that is attempting to meet these needs 24 hours a day. Unfortunately, this requirement and others may cause a definite hardship on nursing homes who are sincerely attempting to meet these requirements and I sympathize with these facilities. However, the standards have been established for some time. These requirements were not unexpected and I feel nursing homes have had ample time to come into compliance. In fact, several extensions of these requirements have already been granted. The line had to be drawn.

I am happy to note that Bethany Home in Waupaca has now met the requirements and I only hope that others who want to provide a really skilled nursing care program will be able to do the same.

This Parent Would Like To Try Ungraded School

Editor, The Post-Crescent

In answer to the parent in the educationally deprived area, parents who shy away from the nongraded concept often do so for fear of change or because of lack of information.

Nongraded schools opened in 1960 and their main purpose was to give the child such experiences as to develop four keys to success. These are: self-discipline, initiative, self-evaluation and self-reliance. As for our teachers in the nongraded schools, they take courses, read books and articles, go to school held workshops, have dicsussions, try ideas and preliminary plans are made. Most of all, they must be challenged and motivated. In short, the total program results from joint planning, evaluation and sharing of ideas and knowledge.

The judgment on the nongraded schools should not be polarized on an either or basis. The parent knows the child over a longer period of time and in more diverse situations. The teacher has special training and often has an objectivity the parent does not possess. The judgement should recognize both sets of opinions. I'm willing to give our schools in Appleton a try at this new system and it will work; after all, we want our children to be curious and adventuresome human beings.

Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Some people actually pervert the words of Jesus, "The poor ye always have with you," to justify their indifference to the problem of poverty; which is as wickedly absurd as saying that because "the sick ye shall always have with you," therefor nothing or little should be done to find a cure for cancer or heart disease.

There still is no substitute for personal ingenuity: while 90 per cent of research dollars in industry are spent by large companies, 70 per cent of innovations come from individual inventors or small companies.

People who are militantly "anti-superstitious" are as foolishly dogmatic as their opposites who are blindly enslaved to superstitions: for many so-called superstitions are rooted in biological and psychological truths that we have not yet rationally apprehended.

The busy man who says "My time is money" has got hold of the wrong end of the stick — for the human truth is that money is time, and unless our assets are used to buy us time, we are no richer on the scale of mortality than the man who slaves all his life for a pittance.

We will soon need new words for lunar discoveries: the Astronauts spoke of "the terrain of the moon," but "terrain" applies only to the Earth, and the moon's different land surface calls for a different name.

Speaking of the Astronauts it's frustrating to realize that we can put a space-ship in orbit around the moon, and still not devise an automobile battery that will invariably start on a wet morning.

The revival of the German economy with hardly any money should instruct us in the important maxim that energy is the creator of wealth, and wealth itself cannot create energy, so that merely providing funds for projects that are inadequately motivated is a waste of effort.

One law that all communities should pass immediately is that every new industrial enterprise must build in anti-pollution facilities at the start, not only as a health measure, but because it is infinitely cheaper to prevent pollution than to rectify the problem in a plant already built and operating without such facilities.

If prostitution won't be legalized, it should at least be equalized — so that the women who practice it aren't the only ones prosecuted, while the men who patronize them are not even booked for a misdemeanor.

One of the most incisive and useful comments on the subject I've ever heard is Paul Valery's: "The purpose of psychology is to give us an entirely different idea of the things we know best."

* * *

The closer you approach the truth, the more you see it was not the truth you were looking for, but something more comforting.

To Your Good Health

Keep Pumping; Don't Worry About Hecklers

MARCH 20 THURSDAY
By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

A little while ago a gentleman, initials A.P.C., wrote that he'd tried riding a bicycle but people hooted at him and made fun of him.

Among replies have been:

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About A.P.C. riding his bike at 58, my goodness, that is a very young man. My husband at 66 would really enjoy riding with him if he lived nearby. Don't worry about these ignorant people that harass others. My husband rode a bike two summers ago and it was great fun, but it wore out, so now he walks miles a day. — M.L.S.

Dr. Thosteson

Dear Doctor: He should go to Florida and visit the trailer parks. Many men and women ride bicycles for the exercise and pleasure.

In the last few years there are tricycles big enough for adults, and many women and some men ride them — they didn't ride bikes when young. These people are from 60 to 80 years old. I know, I am one of them. — Mrs. P.T.

And from New York came a fat envelope from Ralph Hanneman, director of community relations for the Bicycle Insitute of America pointing out that many cities and states have established special bicycle routes, some of them just safe places to ride, some actually scenic tours. Wisconsin has an "across-the-state bikeway."

In Pendleton, Ore., there's a Red Beret Bicycle Club, with all the members over 60.

One organization, which appeals to bike-riders of all ages, sizes, and energies, is the League of American Wheelmen 15118 West Foster Ave., Chicago, Ill., 60630, if anyone is interested) which offers bike insurance and a bike publication, "American Cycling," to its members.

A physician, Dr. Paul Dudley White, has done as much as anyone to popularize the bike as a health gadget, one of his remarks being, "I'd like to put everybody on bicycles, regularly. It's a good way to prevent heart disease."

Others have observed that bikes help their arthritis, which makes plenty of sense. We know very definitely that movement of arthritic joints (but not excessive strain) keeps them limber.

My vote is with the bicyclers. Let the hooters hoot, if they want to be so bad-mannered.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is pernicious anemia hereditary? Although I feel healthy I wonder if I should seek preventive measures. — M.L.

It occurs sufficiently often in families to raise a strong suspicion that there may well be a hereditary factor.

There is no preventive measure, but the best precaution would be examination and a blood count from time to time. The disease can be readily controlled when detected. Some of the common symptons are sore tongue, weakness, loose stool, and pallor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am having a terrible time with my weight. Do you have a list of foods that burn up more calories than are consumed? — Mrs. J.M.

There's no such thing. This is a fiction dreamed up by somebody to popularize one of the many trick diets.

Overweight people are people who like to eat — naturally! To reduce, they need to eat less and at the same time use up more calories by physical exercise.

Since these folks enjoy eating, they are suckers for any glib promise that they can "Eat more and still lose weight."

There will be foods that "burn up more calories" about the same time the Easter bunny really starts delivering those Easter baskets.

Be a realist. Stop dreaming.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tell you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' qestions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Handlebar Mustache Finally Shaved Off

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Randolph Stroble was so proud of his handlebar mustache he was suspended and fired for refusing to shave it off. Then he went to Circuit Court and got an injunction ordering the sheriff to give him his job back—with back pay.

But, Stroble found, there is no appeal from a ruling made by "the boss at home." His wife made him shave it off.

Ray Changes Mind, Wants To Face Trial

Letter to Judge May Result in A New Hearing

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray wants the judge to reopen the Martin Luther King Jr. murder case, void his plea of guilty and give him a trial by jury.

Ray's intention to seek a new hearing was stated in a letter he wrote from his cell in the state penitentiary to Judge W. Preston Battle, who on March 10 accepted the guilty plea and imposed a 99-year sentence.

"He said he's going to file a post conviction petition and get a lawyer," Judge Battle said Wednesday in disclosing receipt of the letter. "If he does, then we'll have an evidentiary hearing."

Such a hearing would give Ray a chance to show that his legal rights were impaired to the extent that a new start in the case is warranted.

Expressing no surprise at Ray's move, Judge Battle commented: "Everybody does it." Petitions from prisoners have flooded the courts in recent years in the wake of Supreme Court decisions more sharply delineating the pretrial rights of accused persons

Percy Foreman, the lawyer who advised Ray to plead guilty and who says his connection with the prisoner is now ended, said in New York·

"I think that James Earl Ray enjoys the spotlight and any way he can keep the center of the stage he will do it I wish him well. I don't think it advisable, but that's his responsibility, not mine."

"James Earl Ray decided, and he alone decided, to kill Martin Luther King so that he could claim the glory," Foreman declared

"I think James Earl Ray was a racist He thought he would be a hero. He completely misconceived the thinking of the white race"

Only a day after his guilty plea Ray told officers taking him from Memphis to the Nashville penitentiary.

"I was convinced if I didn't plead guilty I was going to the electric chair. I wish the hell I hadn't now because with what they had on me I believe the worst I'd gotten would have been life."

Under a 99-year sentence, Ray now 41, is meligible to seek parole until he has served 30 years With a life sentence he would be eligible in 13 years 7 months.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird meets with reporters Wednesday after testifying at the Senate Armed Services Committee. Laird returned today to present the Nixon administration's case for the Sentinel antiballistic missile system. (AP Wirephoto)

First Objective of U.S.: Prevent Nuclear Raids

Laird Presents Nixon's Plan for ABM System Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States "cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities" but contended the modified antiballistic missile (ABM) system would "protect people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Opening the Nixon administration's fight for public and congressional approval of the controversial ABM project, Laird said the system is based on the theory, "We must rely on our deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start"

Laird rejected the contention by ABM opponents that the project is an escalation of the arms race. He called it instead "a building block for peace" which "opens the door wider to mutual arms control" with the Soviet Union.

"It strengthens our ability to prevent nuclear war," Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.

Calling the revised ABM by the same "safeguard" name given it last week by President Nixon, the defense secretary said it "is not a stumbling block to arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union," adding: "The Soviet Union is given an added incentive to negotiate a meaningful agreement."

Greater Protection

In the event the Soviets fail to take advantage of this opportunity, Laird said, the safeguard strengthens the nation's defense posture by providing greater protection of its strategic deterrent force.

Laird made clear his program is aimed both at the possibility of a Communist Chinese missile attack in the 1970s and the growing offensive missile force of the Soviet Union.

"We cannot stop a massive Soviet attack on our cities," Laird said. "We just don't have the know-how. We must rely on our nuclear deterrents to make sure a nuclear attack doesn't start in the first place."

He added that the system "truly protects people by making sure a nuclear attack doesn't occur in the first place."

Laird said that China cannot provide a strategic threat for some years but added that the Red Chinese are devoting "an astonishing portion" of their resources to long-range nuclear weapons.

"Adequate Reaction"

"By the mid 1970s," he said, "China could pose a threat to our people and our property" And he contended the ABM system recommended by the President "is carefully designed to meet these threats adequately without overacting"

Deputy Secretary David R Packard, who followed Laird to the witness stand, said flatly the proposal rejects the idea of a later expansion into a "thick" network designed to protect American cities from Soviet attack

Thus, Packard sought to counter in advance the argument of ABM critics that the Nixon plan could be the opening wedge for an expanded and vastly more expensive system.

In a change of plans the Armed Services Committee opened the hearings today to television. Hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the missile system Friday also will be televised.

Packard also reported:

—That Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles deployment and development are continuing and that "parity has been reached" with U.S. missile forces.

—That a Chinese ICBM threat "is still likely to come about sometime soon."

Soviet "Polaris"

—That the Russians have "a rather active program" for production of Polaris-type missile submarines. Packard said: "We are very much concerned about this threat which could reduce the ability of our bombing force to get off."

Packard said the United

Several May be Safe; Small Craft Attempting to Land

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A chartered plane carrying a group of Tennessee sportsmen crashed and burned while landing in a heavy fog this morning at New Orleans International Airport and one report said 19 men were killed

Fire Chief William Mancuso of Kenner, who set up a temporary morgue at the airport, said there were 19 bodies visible in the wreckage.

Earlier, a spokesman for the Jefferson Parish sheriff's office said there were 24 persons aboard the DC3 and state police reported 11 survivors

The survivors — including a judge, assistant public defender and two dentists—were rushed to Ochsner Foundation Hospital. None of the survivors were listed in serious condition and only three were admitted to the hospital.

The plane, owned by the Avion Corporation of Houston, Tex., had been chartered by the West Tennessee Sportsmen's Association.

"A doctor said he counted 10 bodies in sight in the plane," said Jay Charrier, a lineman for the General Aviation Corp "Myself, I saw about three bodies.

Authorities said the plane came from Memphis and was headed for Belize, British Honduras It was landing here to refuel and go through customs

The plane crashed at 7 02 a.m (CST) on the east-west runway. The crash left a gaping hole in the fuselage, and propellers and other parts were scattered across the runway for 1,000 yards

Charrier said he was alerted by the control tower to rush to the crash scene and to take another man with him "because we might get lost in the fog"

"I saw fire just in the front part of the plane," Charrier said. "Just a wing and part of the fuselage were left"

"When I went out there I saw a young man walking around in a daze I also saw some persons bent over others, apparently trying to give first aid Some were bleeding from their heads and arms Most of them were in a daze"

"We went out there and at first, because it was so foggy, we didn't see anything," said Earl Williams, the other General Aviation lineman "We looked around some more and then saw flames through the fog"

One of the survivors, Billy Joe Spencer, who operates a riding academy in Memphis, called his wife from the hospital after the crash

"He was not seriously hurt and expects to be released from the hospital today," Mrs Spencer said

"He said the plane tried to land in heavy fog, that it came in at an angle The pilot tried to correct it but couldn't and one of the wings came off My husband got out through a small hole in the side of the plane He said if he had weighed 10 pounds more, he wouldn't have been able to get out"

U.S. Casualties Near Mark of Korean War

SAIGON (AP) — The U S Command announced today that 351 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, pushing the total of U S battlefield dead to 10,112 in the 10 months since the Paris peace talks began and to 33,063 in more than eight years of war

The American toll last week was 15 more than the previous week's total and raised the number of Americans killed in the first three weeks of the Viet Cong's spring offensive to 1,140, only 240 less than the 1,380 U S troops reported killed during the eight weeks of 1969 prior to the offensive

If the current casualty rate continues the total of American dead in the Vietnam war will exceed the Korean war toll of 33,629 by the end of this month More Americans then will have been killed in Vietnam than in any other war in U S history except the Civil War and the two world wars.

The U.S. Command said 1,401 Americans were wounded last week, compared with 1,694 the week before.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed and 1,156 wounded, up from 259 and 1,058 the previous week, the government said. Despite the mounting allied casualties, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were paying a far heavier price for their offensive.

U S headquarters said 4,137 of the enemy were killed last week, bringing the total enemy dead to at least 119,100 since the Paris talks began last May and to at least 465,479 since the United States entered the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The enemy toll for the first three weeks of the offensive is 15,099 dead, according to allied figures.

As the enemy's offensive rolled into its 26th day with no end in sight, U S. headquarters reported about 30 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns Wednesday night. For the second night, the chief target was Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city and a major military base.

U S. spokesmen said more than 20 rounds of 100-pound rockets and mortars hit two buildings at the U S Navy's Camp Tien Sha, a Navy cargo loading pier, a Seabee base, a Navy hospital and a Marine air base

Two rounds missed Camp Tien Sha and landed in a nearby village, killing two Vietnamese civilians and wounding six others.

Casualties Light

Spokesmen said military casualties and damage were light, with about half a dozen Americans wounded but none killed One mortar round did light damage to a ward in the hospital.

Peru Grabs, Frees 2 More U.S. Boats

Negotiations Still Scheduled To Take Place

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru seized two more U.S. tuna boats but released them Wednesday night after their captains paid $25,000 in fines.

The incident could complicate the negotiations John Irwin, a special representative of President Nixon, is beginning with the Peruvian government over the expropriation of U.S. oil properties.

Irwin, who arrived last week, declined to comment on the seizure of the two ships from San Diego, Calif., the Cape Anne and the San Juan, 23 miles off the north coast of this Andean nation

A Peruvian torpedo boat took the two U.S. ships in tow. Peru claims a 200-mile territorial fishing limit while the United States and most other nations recognize a 12-mile limit

For the San Juan, whose captain had to pay a $17,000 fine, it was the second encounter with Peruvian naval power. Last Feb 14, when a gunboat seized another U S. ship, the San Juan was fired on.

The Cape Anne, whose captain paid an $8,000 fine, was involved in a similar incident in 1965 when it sailed under the name Mayflower, maritime sources here said. Then it was sailing 75 miles offshore when a Peruvian vessel fired at it, slightly wounding an American seaman.

In Washington, several congressmen called for reprisals against Peru,

92 Killed in Plane Crash at Egypt Airport

CAIRO (AP) — A Soviet-built Egyptian airliner returning from a Moslem pilgrimage to Saudi Arabia with 101 persons aboard crashed in flames at the airport in Aswan in upper Egypt today. Officials said 92 persons were killed.

The Ilyushin 18, delivered to United Arab Airlines two weeks ago, exploded and burst into flames after a wing hit the runway, officials reported Wreckage was scattered 800 yards

Fourteen persons were taken alive from the wreckage but five of them died shortly after reaching a hospital

Among the dead were 33 women and 2 babies One of the survivors was a woman.

135 Britons Begin Task of Occupying Isle in Caribbean

ANGUILLA (AP) — British troops broiled under the Caribbean sun today as they went through the motions of military occupation. The Anguillans remained quiet following the bloodless invasion of their tiny island

"Doesn't this sun ever go down?" complained a sunburned paratrooper manning a highway checkpoint.

The 35-square-mile island has few trees, and many of the young men flown out from cold, gloomy Britain were badly sunburned a few hours after their dawn landing Wednesday. Temperatures were in the upper 80s

Shout Support

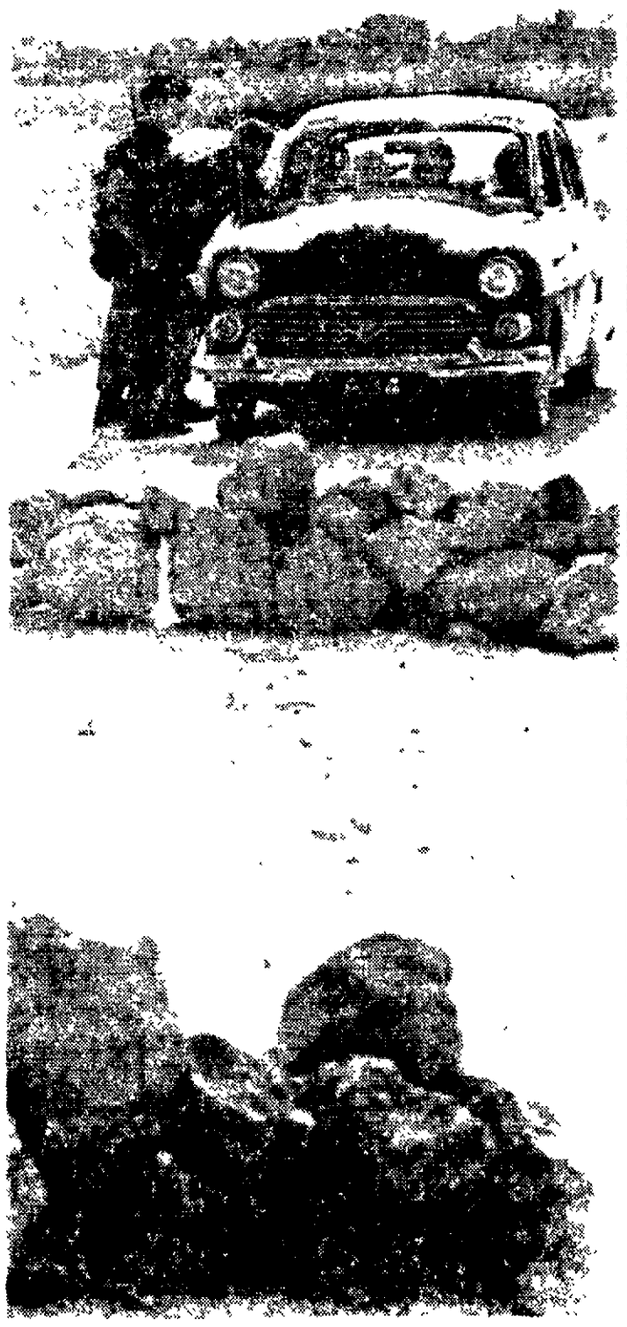

The 6,000 Anguillans offered no armed resistance to the occupation by 135 British paratroopers and marines, and there was only one major emotional outburst. When acting President Ronald Webster called on British officers at their command headquarters Wednesday, a crowd of about 300 of his people hoisted him to their shoulders, shouted their support and sang the Anguillan freedom song to the tune of the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Webster went to the schoolhouse headquarters to arrange a meeting with the occupiers, which he said would be held today. However, he said he would hold no formal negotiations until the British troops are withdrawn.

Webster also protested the invasion in a note to London Wednesday night.

Anthony Lee, an official from London installed by the invasion force as commissioner for the island, said the British occupation might last several years. But the paratroops and marines are expected to depart soon, leaving a detachment of London

Fox Cities — The beginning of spring brings with it a chance of rain mixed with snow early tonight, diminishing to flurries late tonight. Increasing cloudiness Friday. Low tonight near 26, high Friday near 33. Northwest winds 10 to 18 m.p.h. tonight and Friday. Precipitation probability 30 per cent tonight, 20 per cent Friday.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours high 43, low 33. Barometer 29 52 and falling. Winds east at 8 m.p.h. Humidity 93 per cent. Dew point 39 degrees. Skies cloudy. Precipitation .28 inch in overnight rain.

Road Report — Many highways in the state's northern areas are slippery due to rain and fresh snow, although conditions were expected to improve later today. More snow tonight will cause many Fox Valley area roads to be slippery.

Sun sets at 6:06 p.m., rises Friday at 5:56 a.m. Moon sets at 9:15 p.m.

Search for Equality

Women to be Better Criminals?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing numbers of American women will turn to serious crime as they search for independence and equal status with men, a California sociologist predicts

Gilbert Geis of Los Angeles, in a special report for the Joint Commission on Correctional Manpower and Training, warns that the nation's correctional system must make plans to deal with the changing prison population.

He forecasts rapid increases in crime among both women and the young—women because they seek independence, youth for a variety of reasons compounded by the national migration to the cities.

"As the woman strives for a more independent, less protected role," he asserted, "she will commit, and be convicted of, more serious crime"

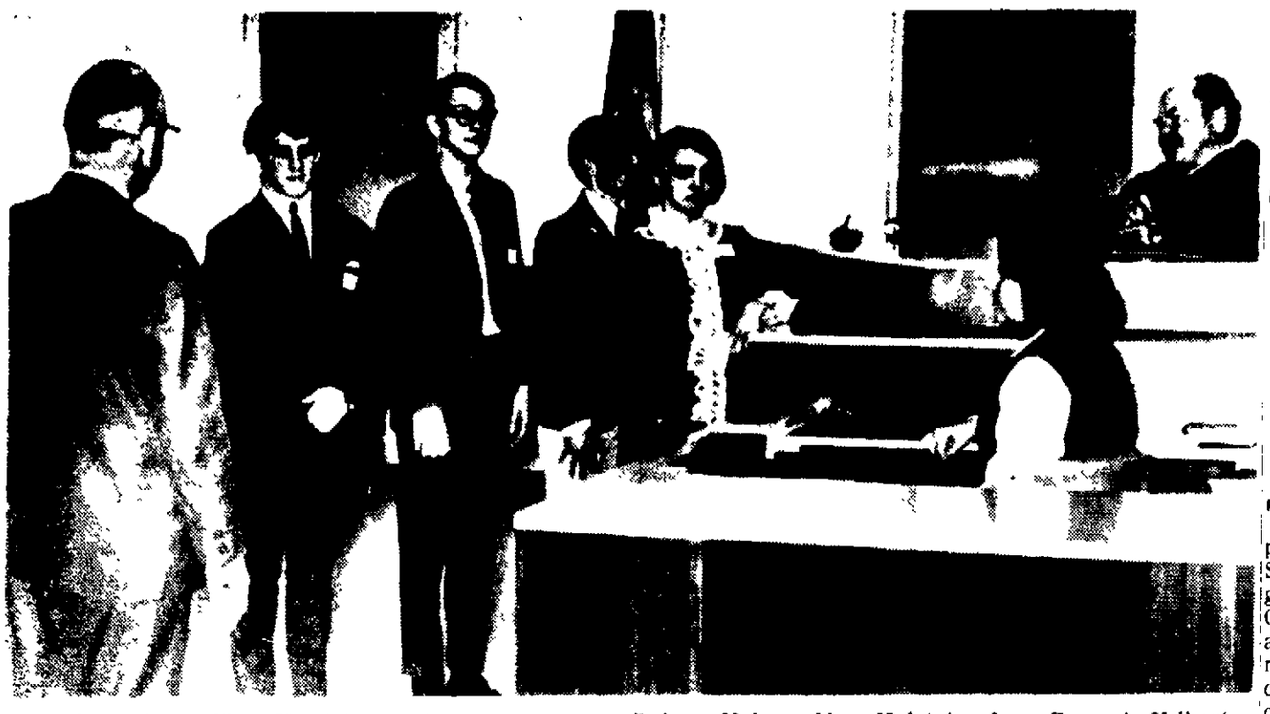

Less Protected

Already, he said, this trend is becoming evident through "the growing convergence of crime rates of Negro men and women, as a consequence of the less well protected position of the black female"

Geis' report declared that the problem posed by increasing juvenile crime is especially serious because "offenders begin their criminal activities at an early age"

"It is discouraging to see how early an 'early age' really is," he added. "More youths under 15 are arrested for serious crimes than adults over 25. One out of every two persons arrested for burglary in 1967 was under 18."

Outagamie Given 30 Days To Complete Jail Plans

State Wants Actual Proof Of Intentions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Department of Health and Social Services today reluctantly granted a 30-day extension to Outagamie County for compliance with an earlier order for remodeling or relacing the county jail to bring it into compliance with law and the state agency's rules.

Wilbur J Schmidt, department secretary, wrote Sylvester Esler, Outagamie County board chairman, that the 30-day extension was granted to allow the county time to employ an architect to prepare actual drawings.

Esler had written Schmidt that the project has been started and asked an extension on that basis Two earlier extensions of six months each had been issued by the department at the request of the county, after the formal requirements for the reconstruction or replacement of the detention facility was promulgated by the state department

But Schmidt said he is not convinced of the "commencement" of the project, and said that unless an actual architectural contract is completed within the next 30 days, no further postponement will be permitted

But if the county retains an architect to draw plans, shows that an agreement has been reached on a site for a new building and that steps have been taken to acquire the necessary land, "we will regard these steps as sufficient progress to permit us to extend the original order for an additional three months," the state official said

Schmidt said the state department would want a copy of the architectural contract and a description of the land to be acquired, because of the requirements of state law.

Esler wrote to Schmidt last week to ask for another extension, explaining that the county board and the city council have entered into an agreement to build a city-county building on a cooperative basis.

Allowances Determined

Calumet Sheriff's Pact Negotiated

CHILTON — Three law enforcement-related contracts were negotiated by county board Tuesday.

The sheriff contract for C J Kosmosky states that he will board regular prisoners for $2.00 per day and Huber Law prisoners at $2.25 per day.

The contract also stipulates that all laundry for prisoners be done at county expense, but any necessary mending will be taken care of at the sheriff's expense. The stove and refrigerator at the jail will be provided by the sheriff at county expense and title will remain with the sheriff

Allowance for transportating prisoners to the State Prison at Waupun will be $40 per prisoner plus $25 for additional prisoners conveyed on the same trip. Transportation of patients to Winnebago State Hospital will be $30 and for prisoners going to the state reformatory at Green Bay will be $20. The sheriff also will receive 10 cents per mile for all other official travel outside of the county

Annual car allowance was set at $1,000. It will be paid in equal monthly installments

The county also will furnish all utilities, including intercom phone between Kosmosky's home and the sheriff's office, and any other necessary expenses in connection with the office.

The two other contracts negotiated were for radio service for the Calumet Memorial Hospital and the New Holstein Police Department at $37.50 per month.

The next county board meeting will be April 15.

Public Hearing Starts on Tax Redistribution

Rural Communities Violently Opposed To Tarr Proposal

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A landmark plan for a total redistribution of state taxes shared with municipalities drew the expected response at its first public hearing in a crowded state Senate hearing room Tuesday

The larger cities of Wisconsin, seeing a chance for slight relief of their local tax burdens in the formula drafted by the Tarr Task Force on Local Government, applauded mildly.

Spokesmen for some of the rural communities and especially the wealthier suburbs which will suffer income losses under the measure, protested angrily. Mayor Frank Meyer of Port Washington, leading off the parade of hostile witnesses, bluntly called the proposal "preposterous, a deception and a fraud," and added that it could have been conceived by Karl Marx, the philosophical founder of communism

Tax Islands

Major purpose of the bill, explained State Revenue Secretary James Morgan, is to eliminate the "tax islands," districts that have a favored status under present distribution laws.

The bill won the endorsement of the newly formed Alliance of Cities, representing the larger urban localities of the state, the League of Women Voters, and Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who set up the task force headed by Lawrence University President Curtis Tarr. The Task Force asked for the scuttling of the complex distribution formulas in effect for decades and substitut-

Progress Report

Chilton Council Assured of Haste in Fluoridation Effort

CHILTON — A progress report assuring the city council that all possible haste is being made in fluoridating the water system was made Tuesday by Walter Muehl director of public works

Muehl said he and several members of the council have been accused of lagging in an effort to complete the installation

He reported that last July the city's consulting engineers had sent plans and specifications for the city's five wells to the Department of Resource Development (DRD) requesting an inspection and approval of the plans.

The department acknowledged receipt of the specifications and the city was instructed not to proceed until plans were approved.

Accepted Bids

However, during the interim the city accepted bids for fluoridation equipment and approved contracts. The last piece of equipment arrived last November

The engineers contacted the state department asking why approval was being delayed but received no reply.

Shortly after the first of the year Oscar Eggers from the state Department of Health and Social Services came here to check on the progress of the installation He was unaware of the delay and returned to Madison to discuss the matter with DRD, Muehl said

Two persons from DRD inspected the wells March 5 and indicated approval would be made in four to six weeks.

In other action the council referred to the public grounds committee a petition requesting a barn on Reed Street be removed The petition was signed by residents on Reed, State and Washington streets The committee was authorized to inspect that building and others that are questionable and report back to the council

Ronald P Dhein, representing the Masonic Lodge, offered to sell the lodge hall currently being used for a youth center for $35,000 The public property committee was instructed to inspect the building and report back to the council.

Mayor Harry Thompson, who has been appointed to represent the city on the freeway committee, named William Kartheiser, Chamber of Commerce president; to assist him on location studies and hearings regarding the proposed interstate highway planned between Milwaukee and Green Bay between Lake Winnebago and Lake Michigan.

Cancer Fund Crusade Will Begin on April 1

April 1 has been set as the opening of the American Cancer Society's Crusade for funds to support its three-fold program of research, education and service

The Outagamie County unit this year will use the door-to-door method to gather the hoped-for $26,115 Calls will be made between 6 and 8 p m. April 11 A second canvass to homes not visited will be the following week Mrs. Owen Kuehnsted, Appleton residential chairman, explained

According to Francis Summicht, Appleton postmaster chairman, budget needs for the and general campaign chairman, budget needs for the local unit amount to $4,721, with the rest going to support state and national programs.

The society provides education through films, journals, courses, demonstrations and pamphlets. Statistics state that last year 200,000 cancer patients were saved through early detection. An estimated 471 cases were under treatment during 1969 in Outagamie County

More than 500 separate research projects are in operation today with grants from the society. Locally, a loan closet is maintained with sick room equipment and dressings available free to cancer patients.

Switch Train Is Derailed In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Five cars of an eight-car Chicago and North Western Railway switch train were derailed near Government Lock 2 about 5:30 p.m Wednesday

Three of the cars rolled down a 20-foot embankment while the other two, and a diesel engine, which also was derailed, remained upright

The fuel tank on the diesel was punctured and firemen were called to the scene to flush over 2,000 gallons of fuel into the river.

A large portion of track also was torn up and company officials still are investigating the cause of the accident.

The tracks are on a spur line used for switch and hauling pulp to the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co

Issue Debated at New London

City Disputes Who'll Take Fire Calls

NEW LONDON — Elimination of the chief engineer in the fire department is opposed by the police and fire commission

The commission's feelings on the matter was made known Tuesday in a letter to the city council

One of the factors being weighed by city officials in their deliberations on a state order to remodel or construct new fire facilities is the necessity of retaining a full-time man in the fire department

Mayor S W Krostue suggested at a previous meeting that calls could be handled by the police department as in other near-by communities.

Set Own Policy

Police Chief Jack Algiers stated Tuesday he didn't think what other communities were doing should be used as the basis for making decisions or setting policy in New London

Krostue grilled Algiers about the police chief's statement that an additional radio operator would be necessary if the police were to handle fire calls "Let's get everything out here," Krostue said.

Krostue said Waupaca and Clintonville police departments take fire calls with less man power

Algiers replied that Waupaca utilizes auxiliary police to fill in during various shifts, which amounts to additional man power, and also has the sheriff's department available.

"If we are to take fire calls, we will need two men on duty at all times," the police chief said. He explained there are various times when only one man is on duty and the department must either be locked up in case of emergency or someone put in charge temporarily

Ruben Voss, chief engineer, whom the city government is considering relieving of his duties, most often sits in at the police desk. Algiers indicated Voss has an apartment above the fire station and is available 24 hours a day

Algiers also said additional funds would be necessary for extra help during vacation and sick periods

Opposition Stated

The letter signed by Kenneth Meating, police and fire commission president, stated, "The New London Police and Fire Commission is opposed to the elimination of the position of chief engineer, who is on duty 24 hours a day in the fire department We believe such action will definitely and seriously impair the efficiency of the fire department It will be impossible to respond to fire calls promptly and with the necessary fire fighting equipment during nights, on weekends and over holidays, when no driver-engineer is present or close to the station"

The commission also recommended that the apartment above the fire station be renovated if the present facility is to be kept and that a new fire station contain domicile facilities

Krostue told aldermen that a decision in reference to the apartment above the station must be made soon. We must decide if we are going to let the chief engineer go or retain him, he said.

Five Empty Cars of an eight-car Chicago and North Western freight derailed late Wednesday afternoon in Kaukauna on the approach to the bridge over Lock No. 2 of the Fox River. The derailment occured as the second engine of a double diesel was rounding a curve. It derailed, but stayed on the embankment. Three cars in the center of the train rolled down the 20 foot embankment. Firemen estimated that about 2,000 gallons of diesel fuel spilled when a tank on an engine ruptured. University Awards

Chilton Turkey Farmer Cited for Contributions

A Chilton turkey producer and processor is among six persons in the state who will be cited by the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture and Life Sciences for exceptional contributions to rural life and agriculture.

The awards will be presented at an honorary recognition dinner April 15 at the university in Madison.

Among the honorees will be Hugo Herzog, 69, a native of Calumet County who first became interested in poultry production when he carried out a broiler project while still in high school. Today, his Northland Turkey Farm hatches, grows and processes more than 35,000 turkeys annually. Many of the birds are "further processed" into a host of gourmet items, including smoked turkey breast, processed turkey loaf, and turkey rolls.

Industry Leader

The family enterprise is widely recognized as a leader in the turkey industry. His development of low-cost confinement growing facilities, and unique processing equipment have won wide recognition. Many of his developments have been copied by individuals and firms throughout the world.

In addition to leadership in many community organizations, Herzog has been president of the Wisconsin Turkey Federation and member of the organization for 23 years. He is also a member of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture Market Advisory Committee, director of the Wisconsin Poultry Improvement Association and of the National Turkey Federation. In 1963 he was a member of the official U.S. delegation to the World's Poultry Congress in Sydney, Australia.

Other citation recipients will be Mrs. Clarence Stolle, Lincoln County teacher and artist; W. D. Hoard Jr., Fort Atkinson, publisher of Hoard's Dairyman magazine; John E. Olson of Chetek, former state senator and Barron County cooperative leader; J. Kenneth Stern, president and executive head of the American Institute of Cooperation, Roaring Spring, Pa.; and John Wuethrich, owner and manager of a creamery in Greenwood, Clark County.

New London Retains Financial Consultant

NEW LONDON — First Wisconsin National Bank, Milwaukee, has been retained by the city to act as financial consultant.

The firm will give the city advice on financial matters and help in preparing a bonding program. A meeting of the finance committee with representatives of the city's two banks led to retaining the Milwaukee bank.

Projects totaling $1.3 million are facing the city, in addition to costs for repairing or constructing a new city hall complex

Ald. Jerome Freiburger, chairman of the economic development committee, said because of major capitol expenditures facing the city, it was recommending that airport planning be delayed at this time.

Reports were made on regulations in effect for all municipal employes approved by the personnel committee regarding vacations and insurance for injured or sick employes. They include:

—An employe earning vacation in any year, whose employment is terminated for any reason before his vacation is taken, shall be paid for vacation time

—A 12-month period must be worked before an employe is entitled to vacation.

—If an employe is unable to work because of illness or injury, the city shall continue to pay its share of employer's insurance premium for 90 days.

ing a simpler system that would give some preference to localities with high local tax rates.

Tax Formula

Essentially, the measure would pool all of the money now paid to localities, paid out $30 per capita throughout the state, plus additional sums to those communities with local equalized tax rates in excess of 20 mills. Morgan said such a system would mean gains for 70 per cent of all the municipalities in the state. The Tarr report also asked for a sizeable boost in local school aids, but Knowles did not include that plan in his budget recommendation.

Sen. Allan J. Busby, representing a group of Milwaukee suburban communities and a foe of the bill, aptly summarized the fight as a struggle between the "haves and the have nots."

Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee, noting that the bill would not substantially help his city, observed however that it is a step in the direction of equitability in tax distribution. If Milwaukee becomes a "poorhouse," as he put it, the repercussions will be felt by the whole state.

General Loss

But Assemblyman Herbert Schowalter of Washington County complained that every single municipality in that county would lose state funds under the bill.

Mayor William Beyer of Racine echoed Maier's sober warning when he said his city of 100,000 "is struggling to survive."

Countering testimony came from Allan Smith, a Marquette University economist retained by the League of Suburban Cities, a Milwaukee County group, who claimed that the redistribution plan would weaken the financial structure of municipalities.

Utility Taxes

Noting that one of the objectives of the measure is to deprive those localities which have big utility plants within their limits of the tax payments of those utilities, he said the utility cannot fairly be classified as property that is different from any other corporate property in a city, village or town that is liable for its taxes to the municipality.

Smith also challenged the Tarr report for its failure to suggest a redistribution of highway taxes, which some listeners took to be a hint that the authors of the bill flinched from the inevitable political consequences of such a proposal.

Morgan estimated that the bill would pay to localities about 36 per cent of their income requirements beyond the receipts of a 20 mill tax. That ratio would not be high enough to encourage inpurdent spending, since the local officials would be required to vote 64 per cent of the taxes beyond the 20 mill base for any new program or service. Otto Festge, Madison mayor and alliance president, called the bill "equitable."

Knowles Discounts Alleged Dangers of Navy Project

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles discounted public worries about the impact of the Navy's secret Project Sanguine on Northern Wisconsin.

"We have been assured by the people in the Navy Department and by their security people that this is simply an experimental and planning program and that it will be tested fully before it is installed," said Knowles.

"Therefore I have no concern about the environment or the security of the people of the state" said the chief executive.

At a press conference he was asked about his reaction to concern over the nature of the Navy communications project in the Chequamegon National Forest.

Purpose of the program is to construct a special, low frequency antenna for one way communications with submerged missle carrying submarines anywhere in the world.

The project, with its code name of "Sanguine," could not be completed until the late 1970s, Knowles said.

Later stages of the project, calling for the burial of cables across the Northern part of the state, would be carried out if the experimental stages of the project — to start in the forest this summer — prove successful.

One of the main problems confronting Navy engineers, according to the warnings voiced about the system, is that the high energies used in the system could electrify all metal objects running parallel to the antenna grids, and blot out radio, telephone and television communications throughout Northern Wisconsin.

Critics of the system have also looked at the power needs of such a system and concluded that insufficient electrical supplies are now available in that part of the state, and that the only probable source of energy for such a project would involve the construction of nuclear power plants on Lake Superior.

That development in turn would lead to the danger of thermal pollution in the last of the unpolluted Great Lakes, they say.

Jury Awards $10,000 to Crash Victim

A 12-member Circuit Court jury ruled Tuesday that a route 1, Hortonville man was entitle to $10,000 for personal injuries he suffered in an auto accident three years ago.

The jury found that William J. Wunderlich, 19, route 2, Appleton, was 80 per cent negligent in causing the accident at Mill and Embarrass streets in Hortonville on Dec. 19, 1965.

Norman Priebe, route 1, Hortonville, who sought $25,000 for personal injuries, was adjudged 20 per cent negligent in causing the accident. He suffered face cuts, an arm injury, and multiple bruises and contusions.

Circuit Court Judge Andrew W. Parnell ruled that Priebe was entitled to $588 for damage to his car, loss of wages, and hospital and medical expenses. The award made by Parnell was separate from that made by the jury.

City Police on Campus Bill Gets Okay

MADISON (AP) — A bill to put municipal police officers on public university campuses was approved Tuesday by the Assembly State Affairs Committee.

The committee also recommended for passage a bill limiting most freshmen students to dormitories.

University officials have attacked the bill which would force them to contract with local authorities in their areas for campus police protection. The measure is aimed primarily at Wisconsin's Madison and Milwaukee campuses.

Representatives of law enforcement agencies, including Madison police, supported the bill—saying it would eliminate duplication of effort and bring police closer to students.

The bill, approved 9-2, provides that police service at public universities be provided by the community in which the campus is located.

The other bill would require all freshmen—except those over 21, married, or with parental approval to live elsewhere—to live in university housing.

State Urged Not To Stop Bussing Of Private Pupils

MADISON (AP) — Hundreds of private school pupils might flood into public schools if public transportation were withdrawn, a state senator said Tuesday.

Present law requires public schools to provide transportation to private schools up to five miles beyond the public school district boundary.

Each of the students who quit private schools would cost the state $600, Sen. Raymond Heinzen, R-Marshfield, told the Assembly Public Welfare Committee.

The committee is considering a bill allowing school districts to abandon such transportation.

Fishing Violation Fines Are $105 in Calumet County

CHILTON — Eight persons paid fines totaling $105 for conservation violations when they appeared Monday before Calumet County Court Judge D. H. Sebora.

Six of the violators paid fines of $10 each for having more than three lines for fishing. They are Clarence Becker 62, route 1, Port Washington, arrested March 3; Joseph D. Castro, 25, Manitowoc, March 2; Delton R. Gottschalk, 35, 3508 W. Pine St., Appleton, March 2; Robert G. Reeners, 44, Green Bay, Feb. 28; George E. Ruechert, 65, Sheboygan, March 4; and Ralph Winnekins, 34, Green Bay, Feb. 28.

No resident fishing licenses brought a fine of $15 for James H. Siebers, 1553 Crystal Spring Road, Oshkosh. He was arrested Feb. 20.

David F. Mann, 19, route 1, Menasha, paid a fine of $15 for having an uncased firearm in auto. He was arrested March 2.

All arrests were made on Lake Winnebago by Calumet County Conservation Warden Richard Streng.

OES Honors Mrs. Blissett's 50-Year Service

NEW LONDON — Mrs. D. O. Blissett received a life membership during ceremonies Monday at the Fountain City chapter 28, Order of the Eastern Star, meeting at the Masonic Lodge.

She was cited for 50 years of service in the organization.

Jone Blissett and Barbara Oxholm were initiated into the chapter. Jone, granddaughter of Mrs. Blissett, became a member of the chapter exactly 50 years after her grandmother who was initiated on March 17, 1919.

Plans were made for an Easter egg hunt for all children and grandchildren of Eastern Star members from 2 to 4 p.m. April 5 at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Richard Schwan and Mrs. Tom Blissett are in charge of planning.

Mrs. Norbert Dahlke Hired as Agent for Waupaca County

MARION — The agricultural committee of the Waupaca County Board and University of Extension Division announces the hiring of Mrs. Norbert Dahlke of Waupaca as home economics agent.

Mrs. Dahlke will receive a bachelor degree in home economics education from Stevens Point State University in June and will start her new duties July 1.

She will replace Mrs. Ty Seils, who is moving to Colorado. Mrs. Dahlke is practice teaching in home economics at the Appleton East High School. The Dahlkes have three children and have lived in Waupaca since 1946.

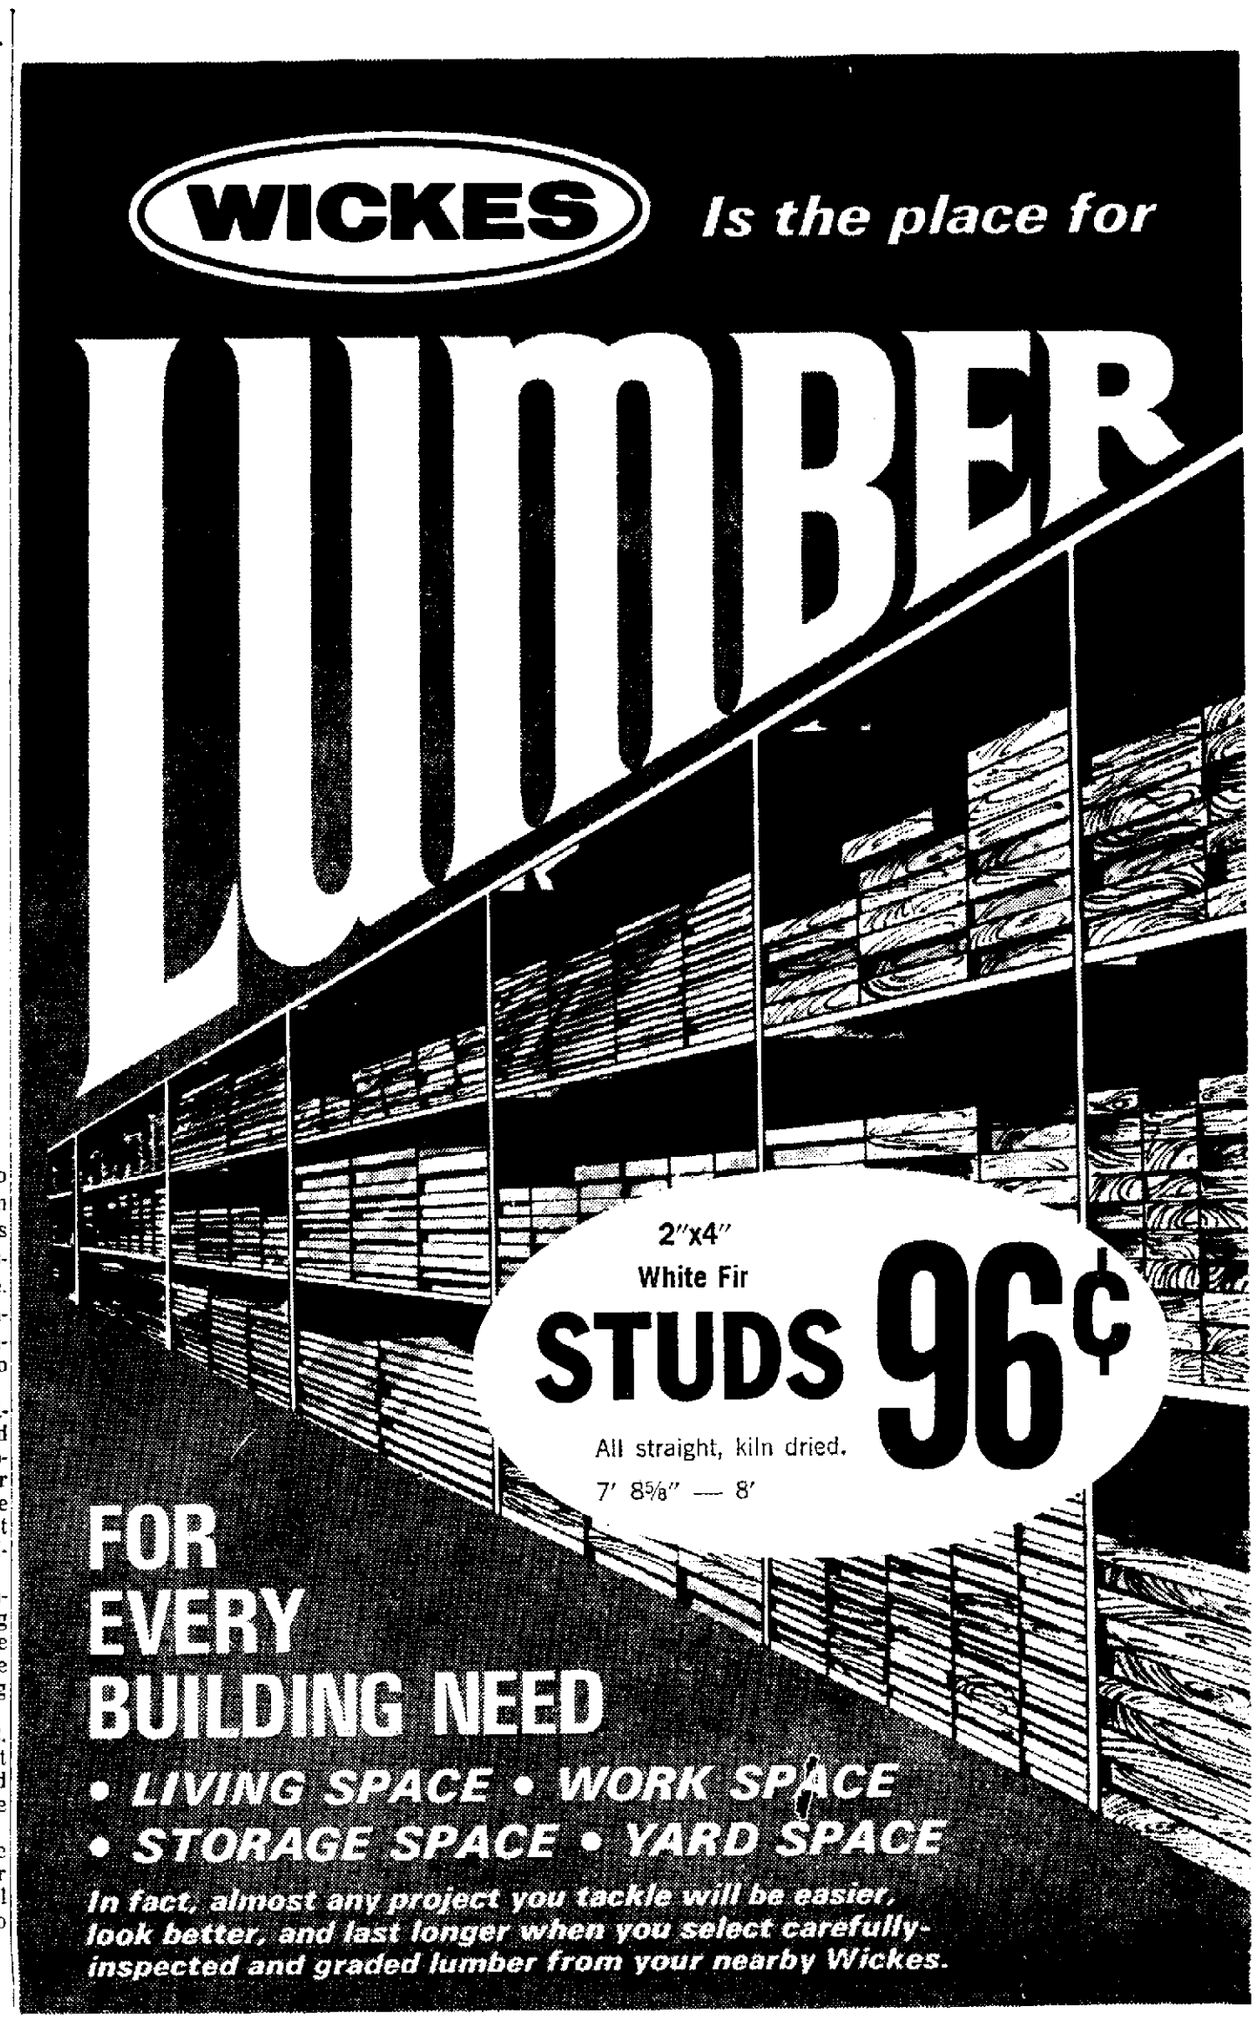

Kindergartners Will Register Friday at Marion Grade School

MARION — Registration for next year's kindergarten classes will be conducted Friday at the elementary school.

To avoid congestion is has been suggested that parents of youngsters living in the city register in the morning and the remainder of the district register their youngsters in the afternoon.

Prospective kindergartners must be five years of age before Oct. 1. The child's burth certificate is needed to complete the registration. Also the child's immunization record should be brought if it is available.

The Waupaca County nurse will be available all day to consult with parents.

Pentagon Cuts Plans For Advanced Bomber

F111 Dealt Big Blow By Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Pentagon leadership has all but shot down the FB111 strategic bomber former defense chief Robert S. McNamara insisted would be a good replacement for aging B52s.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told Congress Wednesday he is cutting plans for the swing-wing jet to only four squadrons—a nominal 60 planes.

Three years ago McNamara was proposing 250 FB111s—variants of the controversial TFX design—contending it would be about as good, and less expensive, as another advance bomber the Air Force could develop to haul its nuclear bombs int he 1970s.

Laird made plain he was buying the four squadrons mainly to recover something from the vast funds spent on the program —"to salvage what we can of the work in process," as he put it.

Mounting Costs

Despite months of work, Laird said, the FB111 "is still experiencing development and production difficulties and the cost per aircraft continues to mount."

In an even more damaging comment on the McNamara theory, Laird asserted that "the FB111 will not meet the requirements for a true intercontinental bomber."

Pentagon officials said the 60 planes will cost $1.7 billion over-all, which includes heavy research and development expenses. McNamara originally estimated 250 models would cost $1.9 billion.

Laird said he would accelerate efforts to develop a completely new nuclear-equipped plane the Air Force calls the Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft—AMSA.

Laird proposed spending $100 million to move toward full-scale engineering development for an AMSA in the next fiscal year.

Probe Rejected

Scandal Involves Premier Gorton

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian House of Representatives voted today not to investigate scandal charges involving Prime Minister John Gorton and actress-singer Liza Minelli.

One of the charges was that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency paid $15,000 for an article about Gorton which Miss Minelli had written and then sold it to African, European and American publications.

Defending himself in the House the 57-year-old Gorton said he had been the subject of a scurrilous whispering campaign.

"I am glad it has now been brought into the open," he declared.

Gorton said he was satisfied with his own conduct and that Miss Minelli, the 22-year-old daughter of singer Judy Garland, had said the whole thing was "a pack of lies."

An opposition member, Albert James, told the House that an Australian gossip sheet called Things I Hear had reported that Miss Minelli, who visited the country last year, had written the article for the British magazine Private Eye in which she "recounted what she claims were her experiences with the leading Australian political figure."

James said the article allegedly dealt with incidents at a Sydney night club, in Bali during a visit by Gorton to Indonesia and in Canberra last Christmas.

The gossip sheet, which is published by Sydney journalist Frank Browne, said Private Eye sold the world rights of the article to the CIA.

James called for an investigation by the Parliamentary Privileges Committee.

The vote against the investigation was 75 to 34 and followed party lines, with one member of the Labor opposition voting with the government.

Labor opposition leader Edward G. Whitlam said Gorton had not given a complete denial of the allegations.

"There is a suggestion that the Central Intelligence Agency bought up the rights to a story by Miss Minelli and the only inference could be that this could be used to blackmail the prime minister.

"If this is true, it would obviously affect not only the prime minister and the government but also Australia. If it is not true, it ought to be repudiated immediately and completely," Whitlam said.

Gorton, who begins a visit to the United States and Canada March 29 and meets April 1-2 with President Nixon, said: "The kind of approach made by Mr. James can do nothing but good to me and nothing but harm to him.

"I have a belief in the Australian people and part of this belief is that this kind of political activity will not go down well with them."

The prime minister was supported by the Labor Party leader in the Senate, Lionel Murphy, who told the upper house: "I accept without reservation the prime minister's statement that his conduct has been entirely proper."

Woman Gives Birth to Twins; Quads in 1968

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Mrs. Dandy Jimrin, an Aborigine who gave birth last April 7 to quadruplet girls, had twin girls today in a Darwin hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimarin now have 12 children—the twins, three surviving quads and seven others ranging in age up to 15 years. One of the quads died eight weeks after birth.

Catholics, Protestants to Study Ties

NEW YORK (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States have taken major steps toward official negotiations with the predominantly Protestant National Council of Churches for what could become a historic Christian alliance at the national level.

A small team of experts from both sides will be named in about a month to study admission of the Catholic Church into the council, it was learned.

The council is a voluntary fellowship of 33 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox denominations with 44 million members. The Roman Catholic Church, which has kept itself aloof from the council since it was formed in 1950, claims 47.4 million American members.

Annual Meetings

Catholic inclusion in the council, still regarded as a few years away, would thus bring together the leaderships of 91.4 million of the estimated 126 million Christians in the United States.

The council holds annual meetings, elects officers and takes policy positions about secular issues but has no control over the creeds of its member Churches.

Although the doctrinal and moral tenets of the member churches are not the council's concern, Catholic membership one day could cause difficulty in trying to develop a council stand on such matters as contraception, where Catholicism and the rest of Christianity sharply disagree.

Catholic dioceses have joined the councils of other Christians on a scattered city or state basis so far, the first time in 1964 in New Mexico and the most recent last month in Texas.

The Roman Catholic bishops of the country told the council last September that they were ready to consider national membership seriously. The new development is the selection of a team of experts to work out the details.

The group is being held to 15, already chosen but not yet announced, in the belief that fewer people can get more done. The initial meeting may be as soon as April, a council official said.

"We in the NCC welcome the move tremendously," Dr. Cynthia Wedel, the council's associate general secretary for Christian unity, said Thursday.

She said it "won't happen overnight" but estimated it might be four or five yeare until all the details are firm and Catholicism sits in the council.

Major Topic

A major topic for the panel of experts is the impact on existing council structure of letting in one Church whose followers outnumber those of all other 33 churches together. Voting rules in the council are based on member-church size. Neither Catholic nor council officials want to see the apparatus thrown out of balance, Dr. Wedel said.

"There are other real questions to be resolved as well," she said.

"For example, while the NCC member Churches belong to world confessional bodies for the most part, they are autonomous American Churches.

"How autonomous is the Roman Catholic Church? Can the American hierarchy make decisions without always first running to Rome?"

The Catholic bishops have questions they want answered, too, the council official said. They would like the council to define its position with precision so Catholicism can find out whether it can live with membership.

The Catholic decision of last fall to press toward council membership brought about the disbanding of a larger joint working group of 30 members, started in May 1966. The original working group—15 council members and 15 Catholic—had confined itself to liaison and coordination.

Nomination of Otepka Awaits Senate Okay

Position on SACB Would End Long Federal Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Otto F. Otepka's Senate allies in his five-year battle with the State Department predicts seedy confirmation of the former security officer's apointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board.

"Justice has finally triumphed," said Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland Wednesday after President Nixon nominated Otepha to the SACB.

Eastland, whose committee will consider Otepka's nomination for the $36,000 a year post, predicted prompt Senate approval and said it should "clear the air once and for all in the Otepka case."

Otepka

Eastland's comments were typical of senators who backed Otepka in his fight against State Department charges of unauthorized disclosure of classified documents to Senate investigators.

Do-Nothing Agency

And senators who tried two years ago to abolish the SACB as a do-nothing agency indicated they would not opose Otepka's confirmation even though they might continue efforts to cut the board's funds.

Otepka, who was the State Department's chief security evaluator, was dismissed in November 1963, after superiors accused him of supplying documents and information to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee without authorization.

In December 1967, after reviewing the case, Rusk changed the dismissal verdict to demotion, transfer and reprimand.

Milwaukee's Mayor Presents His Version of 'Facts'

Fiery Maier Blasts Journal Co., Wyngaard

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — Will Milwaukee get another newspaper?

Mayor Henry W. Maier, again embattled with The Journal Company, hopes so.

The fiery Maier says — contrary to local published reports — he is not about to go into the newspaper business himself but wishes someone would to "take on The Journal Company monopoly press."

Maier, who received an unprecedented 86.5 per cent of the vote when re-elected to a third term in 1968, charged in a telephone interview that while The Journal Company operates two newspapers here, the city has only "one newspaper voice."

"It's time for a second newspaper here," Maier said. "There is a deplorable lack of competition in this community with the 'Journal Press' building continuous synthetic conflict and suppressing the news to suit its own point of view."

Maier said local stories that he wanted his own third newspaper — and personal critical comment in an editorial page column in The Post-Crescent recently by columnist John Wyngaard, Madison, — prompted him to "set the record straight."

He nailed The Journal for featuring Wyngaard's column on a news page last Sunday, and rapped Wyngaard for "carrying on a longtime personal vendetta while being the mouthpiece of vested interests."

The Journal Company publishes the Miwaukee Journal and Milwaukee Sentinel, the combined circulation locally and out-state over 600,000. It also publishes the Sunday Journal. Maier alluded to all as "The Journal Press" and alleges they represent but one voice.

"The Journal Press," according to Maier, distorted the news by inferring he wanted to start up a third newspaper with city funds.

No Public Monies

"I don't want my own newspaper," Maier said, "but I do want a competitive, free press here in Milwaukee."

Pointing the finger of accusation at stories here and Wyngaard's remarks Maier said he never made any public statement that he was considering the use of public monies to start a newspaper.

"My reference about another paper came out of a facetious remark, made to a reporter in an off-hand manner and they (Journal - Sentinel) played it straight all the way," Maier declared. "It was a deliberate misrepresentation of the news and typical of 'The Journal Press' distortions."

Maier said in his speeches he has stated clearly that Milwaukee needed "a second newspaper" and as far as he was concerned "The Journal Press" is one newspaper.

However, Maier noted there was precedent for expending municipal funds for communication purposes, citing the city furnished the Vocational School (educational television) TV station with $600,000 a year.

"We've got educational TV," Maier added, "maybe educational newspapering should be explored."

Documented Report

Maier said he had a documented report — available to any newsman in the state — on the alleged unfair operations of "The Journal Press." He disclosed, also, that two 30-minute television programs are in the works "to present the facts about Milwaukee city government to the people."

"The Journal Press presents the public the news around the same basic theme," Maier contended "It takes a point of view and only submits facts to the people to support that point of view."

The mayor said a new, independen newspaper he hopes for would provide competition and not "off-balance" news reporting, which he accused The Jorunal Company holdings of doing

Maier says he has only taken exception to "The Journal Press" treatment of sensitive areas, and elaborated

"The local newspaper regime hurt Milwaukee nationally by its over-play of a John Doe investigation a few years ago," Maier said.

"They also built up Groppi's (Father Groppi, militant civil rights advocate) public image, but when the blacks unloaded him the local press never recognized this because it had launched him nationally in the first place."

Maier indicated the local press for casting a bad image on the Social Development Commission, embroiling it in unnecessary conflict and holding up needed programs.

Maier complained the Model Cities project dispute, which resulted in two top program administrators resigning in frustration, represented "another synthetic controversy created by "The Journal Press" and that it had been costly to the public because it created roadblocks and took time away from other city government priorities and programs.

Offer to Journal

He said if Milwaukee had another newspaper, the public would be able to read more about a letter he sent to The Journal editor offering to fill the Model Cities posts with two Journal Company executives — conditioned on one being black and the other white.

"Here is the big company that has been advising the community image, thoughts and attitudes, but it can't furnish a $1 a year executive for Model Cities because it doesn't have a black executive," Maier declared.

"While we battle against the relative impoverishment of the city as a whole on many, many fronts — the Journal Press continues to manipulate little slivers, who allegedly represent the poor, into continuous confrontation with the city administration," Maier contended.

The mayor said he was glad his dispute with The Journal Company was out in the open.

He then shifted from The Journal Company to take issue with Wyngaard's statement that Maier never liked newspapers and especially reporters.

"Bad Memory"

"Wyngaard has a bad memory or he would recall as a Democratic candidate in the 1956 campaign against Sen. (Alexander) Wiley, I made the public statement and was quoted that I enjoyed remarkably good press and I didn't feel there was a one-party press in Wisconsin," Maier said.

With regard to an incident, dating back to when he was minority leader in the state senate and serving with Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Maier discounted Wyngaard's "blown up account" of his alleged complaints to a reporter's editor.

"On instruction of the Democratic caucus, including the insistence of Sen. Nelson, I did file a documented complaint, over a story by the Journal's legislative reporter, Willard Smith," Maier said. "I never had an ill word for Mr. Smith personally.

"Kenneth Fry, Smith's successor at Madison, never heard about what Wyngaard rambled about," Maier added. "In fact, Mr Fry is now my Economic Development Division director, and furthermore my chief administrator is James Newcomb, a former Appleton Post-Crescent reporter."

"I singled out Wyngaard as an individual target because he doesn't seem to realize this is the age of nationwide urban crisis, and it affects Milwaukee and other central cities in the state and across the country," Maier continued. "He is a manchild in an urban age."

No Respect

Maier also said he didn't think any objective urban affairs reporter in Wisconsin "has any respect for Wyngaard or his knowledge of urban affairs."

At the same time, Maier said he has long respected The Post-Crescent for its news coverage and confining its editorial views to the editorial page.

"This interview alone puts the mighty Journal Company to shame because it won't let me tell my story to the people," Maier remarked.

To counteract alleged mistreatment of news at the hands of The Journal Company, Maier provides a "beeper" service for local radio and TV media in which he issues "newspaper corrections" for daily public broadcast.

For an opener, Maier says, "This is Mayor Henry Maier on Radio Free Milwaukee . . ."

Enlarged Patrol Bid Severely Criticized

Implied Consent Bill Meets Little Highway Committee Opposition

MADISON — Gov. Warren Knowles' implied consent law faced surprisingly little opposition before the Senate Highway Committee Wednesday, but a proposal to increase the size of the State Patrol was heavily criticized.

The governor personally went before the committee to start his traffic safety package on its way through the Legislature.

A similar traffic safety package went down before the last Legislature, handing Knowles his worst defeat. At the hearing Wednesday Knowles called traffic deaths "the most tragic problem facing the citizens of our state."

Patrol Increase

The Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association threw up most of the opposition to the package, singling out a proposal to increase the state patrol from 300 to 506 men.

Robert Perina, Madison, representing the sheriffs, said there was no evidence that a large patrol would be a deterrent to accidents.

Practical law enforcement rests with the local authorities and not with the state patrol," he said.

Also in opposition, Sen. Milo Knutson (R-LaCrosse) said "there is such a thing as an optimal level of accidents," noting the accident rate per 1,000 population had remained relatively constant.

Engineering Needed

"What's really needed," he added, "is civil engineering in our highways and mechanical engineering in our cars."

John Thomas, chairman of the LaCrosse County Board, fought a larger state patrol as "just another uncontrolled bureaucracy at the state level."

Only two persons criticized the implied consent bill, one of the most controversial in the last legislative session.

The bill was called "a reasonable exercise of the powers of the state" by Dean Van Gordon, state safety director, who spoke in its support.

Implied consent would require a driver to take a chemical blood test to determine alcohol content. It also would lower the legal level of drunkenness from .15 per cent of alcohol to .10 per cent.

Knowles read letters from persons whose relatives had been killed or crippled in accidents with drunken drivers. And Dr. J. L. Weigandt, Sheboygan Falls, a member of the governor's advisory safety council, said 32 states already have adopted implied consent laws.

A third bill in the Knowles package would require that seatbelts be worn while driving on state highways. Backers said the bill would save between 30 to 55 per cent of all traffic deaths.

Conservation Division Has New Official

Thomas G. Frangos To Head Arm of State Department

MADISON (AP) — The appointment of Thomas G. Frangos, 37, as administrator of the Division of Environmental Protection was announced today. The division is an arm of the Department of Natural Resources.

Frangos, who headed the Bureau of Water Resources in the Department of Resource Development, succeeds Freeman Holmer. Holmer is now with the Council of State Governments in Washington, D.C.

Frangos was executive director of the Michigan Legislature's Water Committee before joining the Wisconsin agency in 1967.

In his new job he will coordinate activities of the division which has regional offices in Green Bay, Wisconsin Rapids, Eau Claire, Madison and Milwaukee.

The water resources bureau was merged with the Department of Natural Resources last July.

Kaukauna Plans Election Worker Training School

KAUKAUNA — An election workers' training school for the April 1 election will be conducted by City Clerk Karl E. Marzahl at 7 p.m. Monday in the council chambers.

All facets of an election and election procedures will be reviewed by the clerk and a question and answer period will follow.

Marzahl intends to make clear all duties to avoid a repetition of a mistake on a January special referendum election when the wrong question appeared on some voting machines.

Fire Destroys All of College's Sports Gear

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — Founder's Hall, a combination gymnasium and auditorium on the Lakeland College campus, was swept today by an early morning fire that destroyed all of the school's athletic equipment and caused extensive damage to the building.

Four fire departments fought the basement blaze that raged out of control for two and one-half hours starting at 3 a.m. There were no injuries.

College officials were unable to make an immediate estimate of the loss.

Also destroyed, in addition to the athletic equipment, was all of the scenery for an upcoming Drama Department theatrical production, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

The fire was confined to the basement of the two-story brick building but flames broke through a small hole in the gymnasium floor and heat warped steel girders, causing the hardwood floor to sag.

Expert Counseling Needed if Youngster Should Become Addicted to Narcotics

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

If youngsters do become "hooked" or dependent upon mind-influencing drugs, what then?

By that time, authorities advise, the problem is usually beyond the parents' ability to handle it alone.

"Some kind of expert counseling is called for," says Dr. Kenneth Keniston of Yale University. It could be a family friend, a school counselor, a minister, a physician, not necessarily a psychologist or psychiatrist.

"Don't regard it as a sign of moral corruption, but rather as something being wrong in their lives," he adds.

Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard suggests telling them that "you will not condone what they are doing, but that you will help them all you can, and stand by them."

A college counselor adds: In interviews with college youths using drugs in a self-destructive way, "it was impressive how often drugs had been 'used' to inform parents, teachers and others that the individual desperately needed help."

The young tend to copy the ideas, values, beliefs—and also prejudices—of parents, and so parents should set good examples to follow.

John Finlator, associate director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs remarks: "It's difficult for adults to answer the young person who says, 'I don't know why people get excited when I use drugs — my old man's been hung up on martinis for years.'"

Mirror of Adults

"Kids tend tell the truth and mirror what we don't want to see in ourselves," says Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, Harvard Medical School psychiatrist. "We want to separate pot and alcohol, but we are of the generation that abuses so many drugs."

The way parents behave and talk can seem hypocritical at times to youngsters, who may then look upon mind-influencing drugs as a way of escaping hypocrisy.

Many adults have "made their peace" with alcohol and tobacco and tranquilizing drugs, but give a flat No to any experimentation with marijuana or fail to give a real debate over whether a child has a right to do something, it is usually too late."

In the long run, says Dr. Keniston, "those of us who are critical of student drug abuse must demonstrate to our students that there are better and more lasting ways to experience the fullness, the depth, the variety and the richness of life than that of ingesting psychoactive chemicals."

Last presidential election year, with many young people actively campaigning for candidates of their choice, raised "if our schools developed programs teaching respect for drugs in general, or in particular. But if a high school, for example, suddenly puts on a program on drug abuse only, youngsters will laugh at it. The idea of respect for drugs should be developed in courses or classes in general health education."

The new Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs represents a merger last year of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, which Finlator headed, and the federal Bureau of Narcotics headed by Henry Giordano. John E. Ingersoll is the director.

cogent reasons for youths not to try it, points out a psychiatrist. This seems unreasonable to many young people.

Teach Better Ways

Parents are not likely to make big points with their children if they simply say, "Wait till you've been through what I've been through in life—then you'll understand." That, says one physician, isn't going to be a very impressive argument if it seems to the youngsters that the parents' lives, jobs or marriages are somewhat miserable.

"Give kids a healthy pattern to follow, and start it early," a psychiatrist suggests. "When and if it ever comes to the question whether interest in national campaigns or other issues might replace pot and pills, suggests Dr. Donald B. Louria of New York City.

The point, he says, is that "if you want to cure the drug problem, the name of the game is commitment" to something else.

Actions to spread education about drugs are sprouting across the country.

"The drug abuse problem concerns all of us: it is national in scope," says Finlator. "But it is not a national problem so much as it is a local problem, in the community, in the school and in the home. Here is the place where education has to be done.

"It would be best," he adds, "if our schools developed programs teaching respect for drugs in general, or in particular. But if a high school, for example, suddenly puts on a program on drug abuse only, youngsters will laugh at it. The idea of respect for drugs should be developed in courses or classes in general health education."

Pamphlets Available

Both of the formerly separate bureaus have distributed millions of copies of pamphlets and literature on various aspects of drug use and abuse, and the new Bureau continues to do so.

It lists a variety of motion pictures that are available for public showing.

"Today's youth demands accurate, factual, unprejudiced information, and when given such information honestly and directly, in my opinion they respond sensibly," says Dr. Keniston and others.

In many communities, there are increasing efforts to spread information about dangerous drugs. The pattern varies broadly.

In some places, parents organize special school courses, or one-day assemblies. Elsewhere, school personnel take the initiative.

Community organizations and service clubs sponsor other efforts. At least one community group also seeks "to bring pressure on local government, civic organizations, school boards, police departments and the like to act in solving the problem."

Numerous colleges and universities are initiating special educational programs about mind-influencing drugs, and other drugs.

Specific Emphasis

"To be effective, a preventive educational effort must be carefully tailored to specific population groups, and must be based on the best educational and scientific footing," says Dr. Stanley Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health. "Students are suspicious of information supplied by 'official sources.' They want authoritative information, and to know where it comes from."

"Education as to the ill effects of drug abuse has had some effect even in the ghettos," says David Gottlieb of Pennsylvania State University.

"Controlled studies indicate that even deprived youngsters who have had meaningful experience with the dangers of addiction are fearful of and reluctant to fool around with heroin," he says. "The more advantaged youngsters seem sufficiently knowledgeable about the more potent drugs, at least initially, and will steer clear of them. Education given, however, is not necessarily information accepted."

Repeatedly, people who have abused dangerous drugs make one significant point:

They say they might not have become involved if they had had factual knowledge beforehand, particularly when curiosity and thrill-seeking were the main motives for taking such drugs in the first place.

Proxmire Says He'll Oppose Extending Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says he will oppose re-enactment of the 10 per cent income surtax, which is to expire June 30.

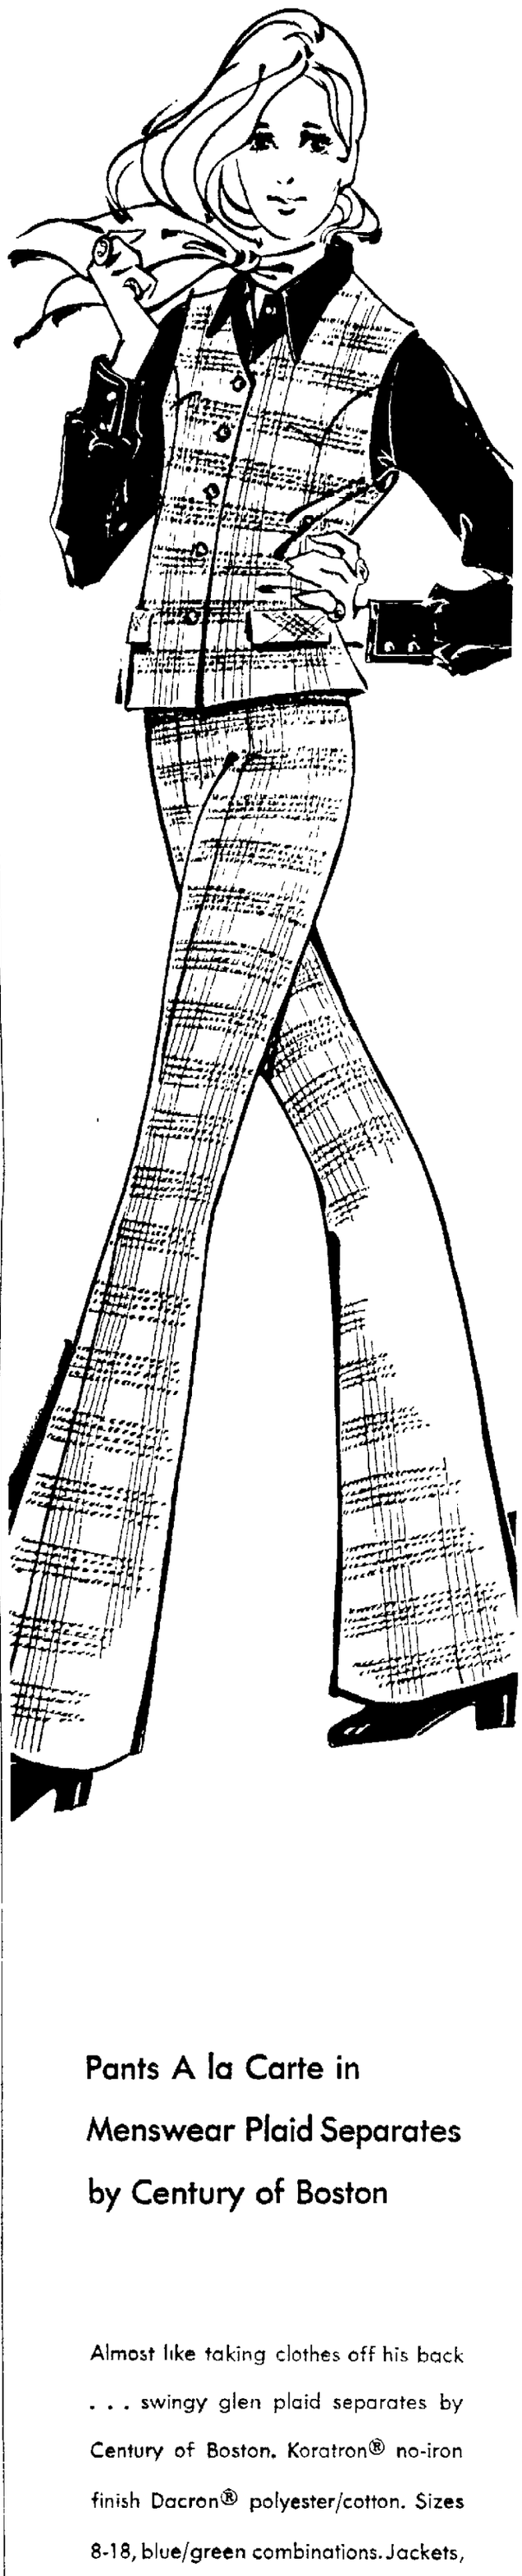

"Instead of relying on the surtax," he said, "the Congress can and should cut federal spending by at least $15 billion with the military taking $10 billion or more of the reduction and the balance from space and public works."

Proxmire said the 10 per cent surtax has been a complete failure.

"It was passed to slow inflation, to reduce interest rates and to improve our international trade balance," he said.

"It has not only failed to achieve any of these objectives; but the inflationary outlook is actually worse now than it was last July 1 when the surtax went into effect."

ORAP-200 Plan Has Bipartisan Backing, Landowner Opposition

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Strong public support for the ORAP-200 bonding proposal for pollution clean-up and resource development was voiced to the Legislature Wednesday, but it was coupled with a swift undercurrent of opposition and resentment.

Taxpayer and landowner groups centered in Marinette County and the Kettle Moraine area appeared at a joint legislative conservation committee to attack the proposed bonding measure which could range up to $200 million.

They complained that interest costs of the measure could add another $228 million to the total cost of the program to state taxpayers, and that need for the program has not been demonstrated in a time of heavier tax burdens for the average citizen.

Both Marinette County and the Kettle Moraine region have been centers of local opposition to some of the land acquisition programs carried out under the existing $50 million Outdoor Resources Act Program which is drawing to a close after nearly 10 years of operation.

Knowles Plugs Plan

The proposed program would enact legislation encompassing the long-range scope of the ORAP 200 program. Depending on the results of an April 1 advisory referendum, it would create authorization for up to $144 million in bonding for anti-pollution activities and another $56 million in bonding for some land acquisition and a great deal of resource land development.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles led a line of 35 witnesses in testimony in behalf of the proposal, prepared by a task force he named a year ago.

He drew bipartisan support, as Democratic Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Democratic Assembly Minority Leader Robert Huber endorsed the outlines of the program.

In a telegram, Nelson called on state voters to approve the plan in the referendum and for the Legislature to enact the bill, which provides $10.3 million in spending during the 1969-71 biennium to start the ORAP-200 activities.

Disputes Procedure

Huber backed the program, but said that the bonding authority proposed was improper, and that block bonding practices should be followed, instead of allowing smaller annual bond issues. Interest rates could be cut, he said.

The cigarette tax funds collected through a one cent a pack hike should not be segregated because some future governor or politician might "raid" the fund to solve fiscal crisis, Huber warned.

Opponents of the program were led by the Marinette County Property Owners Association. Most of the 10 speakers charged that adquate anti-pollution laws now exist, and that enforcement is needed rather than additional funding drawn from tax sources.

"Money can't buy off pollution," said A. J. Markus of Crivitz. "We need law, not money."

Carl Seitz of Eagle attacked the tax costs of the program, alleging that state residents are building up to a revolt against the high costs of government.

"The taxpayers rebellion is a whisper today but will be a shout tommorrow," he warned the lawmakers.

"In view of the deplorable state of state finances, I can't see how you people can have the gall to load us with another back-breaking load that will cost $400 million initially and which we know will eventually cost us even more money," said Josef Bernhardt of Polerfield, Marinette County.

The State Department of Natural Resources, which would administer the program, is becoming an "octupus" through such extensive land acquisition programs, warned Bernhardt.

All that has to be done to end pollution problems, he maintained, is for the state to enforce the law against polluters.

Assemblyman Paul Alloush, R-Minocqua, said that no committee action will be taken on the bill until after the results of the April 1 referendum are in.

Fish Opposes Salas' State Appointment

MADISON (AP) — Republican State Chairman Ody Fish says the appointment of Jesus Salas as head of a state anti-poverty program "was not made by the Nixon administration and is subject to review within 60 days."

Fish criticized the appointment of Salas, who has organized Wisconsin's migrant farm workers, as program director by the United Migrant Opportunity Service (UMOS). The UMOS is a 35-member state agency operating under the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Fish called Salas a "participator in disruption at the University of Wisconsin, an organizer of illegal picketing and a proponent of purely partisan Democrat activity."

Probe Launched On UW Disorders

MADISON (AP) — A legislative investigating committee launched its probe Wednesday night of student disruptions on the University of Wisconsin campus.

The committee, headed by Sen. Milo Knutson, R-La Crosse, viewed 90 minutes of films of protests staged on the Madison campus in support of black students' demands last month.

About 140 persons, many of them college youths, attended the meeting and hissed when the films showed police and National Guardsmen hauling off student protesters.

The films were provided by three local television station.

The committee later adjourned to a closed-door meeting for the purpose, Knutson said, of consulting with counsel and deciding on witnesses to be brought before the panel Thursday night.

The committee is to determine whether legislation is needed to guard against possible future disruptions.

K-C Reveals It Won't Buy Manning Co.

Agreement for Acquisition Set Aside by Firms

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corp. today announced the termination of an agreement for acquisition of the John A. Manning Paper Co.

The two companies acknowledged that the action was a result of government opposition on anti-trust grounds and that "under the circumstances, it does not appear practical to proceed."

The proposed merger was announced last September and subsequently was approved by directors of both companies and by the Manning stockholders.

Manning is a Green Island, N.Y., specialty papers manufacturer with annual sales of about $10 million in electrical insulating, specialty rope and abrasive backing papers.

Kimberly-Clark, a major diversified paper and cellulose products manufacturer, had 1968 sales of $720 million.

Cigarette Bootlegging Predicted if Proposed Tax Increase Is Okayed

MADISON (AP)—A proposed 2 cent per pack hike in Wisconsin's cigarette tax would be an "invitation to the underworld to come into Wisconsin with contraband merchandise," a tobacco industry spokesman warned Wednesday.

A. E. Madler of Madison, representing the Wisconsin Food and Tobacco Institute, testified before legislature's Joint Finance Committee in opposition to the proposed cigarette tax increase.

The tax, if enacted, would put Wisconsin at such a disadvantage that bootlegging of cigarettes across state lines would be inevitable, Madler said.

The proposal would boost the state's per package tax on cigarettes from 10 cents to 12 cents.

Snow Flurries Are Forecast tonight for Wisconsin and to the north. Rain and showers are due in parts of California, Oregon and Nevada. More rain is expected in the eastern Lakes area, in the Virginias and parts of Ohio and western Pennsylvania. It will be cooler over most of the nation, but warmer along the Atlantic Seaboard. Parishes in St. John, Sherwood Vote to Consolidate Two Schools

SHERWOOD — Consolidation of St. John the Baptist School at St. John, three miles east of here, and Sacred Heart School here, was approved by both parishes at separate meetings Wednesday night for a one year trial. Both parishes had to agree to put the plan in action.

The vote was 86 for the measure and 50 against at Sherwood, with 57 in favor and 36 against at St. John. Six absentee ballots were accepted at the Sherwood meeting, after the group, termed a record parish gathering, voted to accept them.

The issue was brought about by the loss of a teaching sister at Sacred Heart. By sending the first three grades to St. John, which operates with three sisters and one lay teacher, the Sherwood parish will utilize one of St. John's sisters.

Alternate Plan

Sacred Heart will have grades four through eight and will operate next year with three sisters and two lay teachers. Grades will alternate under the consolidated plan with pupils being taught in alternate years by sisters and lay teachers.

Advantages of one grade per teacher, compared to the present two, and more availability of teachers willing to teach one grade was stressed, as well as cost involved and prolonging parochial education.

Costs were quoted for 1969-70 school year based on teacher salaries with $85.73 for non-degreed teachers and $95.97 for those with a degree. Some 307 pupils are involved.

School officials of the two parishes have stated that transportation will be provided by public school districts to both parochial schools. The St. John school is in the Hilbert district and Sacred Heart in the Kaukauna district. Both fall under the five-mile limit.

Other Districts

No immediate answer was available, however, for the few families in the Kimberly district who are members of Sacred Heart congregation and those in the Brillion district who have children attending St. John.

The Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, Manitowoc, staff the school at Sacred Heart and the Congregation of St. Agnes from Fond du Lac at St. John. The two schools are in different Cooperative Educational Service Agencies (CESA), which provide specialist teachers. The Sherwood school is in CESA 8 and St. John in CESA 10.

A combined school board is expected to be elected to handle financial and other matters dealing with the parish schools.

Kaukauna Utility Truck Tips Over; Two Men Injured

KAUKAUNA — Two men suffered minor injuries and were advised to see a doctor this morning after a Kaukauna Electric and Water Department line truck tipped onto its side at Nackers Road and County Trunk ZZ about two miles east of Kaukauna. The accident occurred at 6:15 a.m. today.

Martin Engstrom, 30, 408 E. 19th St., the driver, complained of an ankle bruise and Melvin Mainville, 55, 320 Dixon St., reported pain in the right elbow, shoulder, thigh and left foot.

The truck had stopped to check a line fuse when the wheels sank into the soft shoulder and the truck, which was top-heavy due to a post-hole digging unit, tipped onto its side in the ditch.

Damage to the vehicle and auxiliary equipment may run as high a $7,000, county police estimate.

Sex Education for Adults

No Arbitrary Answer To Sexual Frequency

BY GEORGE THOSTESON, M.D.

"Dear Doctor: I am in good physical condition and 78 years old. My wife tells me it is dangerous at my age to have sexual relations twice a week. I feel that it makes me feel good and happy."

This is a very common question; there is no arbitrary answer other than the correct frequency is whatever frequency makes both partners "feel good and happy."

Such health matters as heart disease or high blood pressure may, obviously, have a bearing on the amount of exertion or excitement that can be tolerated, but the answer is moderation and reasonable calm, relaxed attitude. Flat prohibition of indulgence is not the answer.

Regarding this, I strongly recommend the book, "Sexual Life after Sixty," by Isadore Rubin. This is fairly new, is written for laymen, is frank and explicit, and very useful in disposing of a great many harmful myths. It is the sort of book that should be read long before one reaches 60.

Without Change

(A list of this and other excellent books will be sent without charge to any reader sending me a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address requests to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.)

Anyway, frequency is best guided by whether it is pleasurable and without pain, or, if some chronic illness is present, without undue exhaustion. And it requires tolerable good judgment — a wife in her 20's wrote that her husband "wanted sex twice a day and more often, three to six times. In 15 minutes he was ready again, and he even got large blisters and I was so sore I was bleeding."

That marriage, not surprisingly, broke up in recriminations and physical abuse. But perhaps what was really wrong there was simply that there was a husband who forgot a basic fact. He confused sex with love.

Pointless Sex

They are not the same — but sex without love is as pointless as marriage without love. Giving happiness is as important as receiving it. The fact alone will answer many "sex" questions. Truly understood, it will answer many a case of "frigidity" or "impotence."

And what effect does menopause have on sex life?

The true answer is, "None — unless you think it will." Menopause means the end of childbearing for women, but freedom from fear of pregnancy very often results in a sharp upsurge in interest. (One reader even asked me "why there is so much infidelity among women after menopause." I do not believe this to be true, unless a marriage is unhappy for other reasons. But sexual activity and satisfaction do not end with menopause . . . nor hysterectomy.

But one woman wrote that her husband demanded sexual relations three days after she got home from having a hysterectomy; little wonder that her affection for him vanished.

Foolish Belief

Such atrocious behavior aside, there are still men (and women) who believe that competence and satisfaction end with menopause or hysterectomy, and more than once I have had broken-hearted letters from women whose husbands insisted, "You're no good any more," or "You can't satisfy me any more." Physiologically this is not true; it is a case of mind over matter, of psychology, and believing something that is erroneous.

The same sort of problem can seriously bother the opposite sex. Prostate surgery usually does not occur until a man is at the age when he begins to worry about waning of the sexual vigor of his youth.

Medical studies have repeatedly shown that sexual powers after the usual prostate operation will be essentially the same as before. (But very extensive prostate surgery can cause impotence.) The man who doesn't worry. The man who does worry is the one who complains. Worry is the one who complains that he has "become impotent." The psychological influence simply must not be underestimated.

Temporary Loss

In addition, after any surgery or illness, general physical energy will be depleted. This temporary loss should not be regarded as permanent, but it is in that interim of lethargy that some men begin to doubt their stamina, and the doubt, rather than the physical condition, causes the trouble.

Surgery for hernia repair, because of its location near the genitals, often raises similar worries even though there is no physiological connection whatever.

Finally, there are operations (vas or tube ligation) designed to cause sterility. These do NOT interfere with sexual activity, but some people think so. When they think so, they react accordingly. So these operations should never be performed without explaining the facts carefully. The physchology of it is so important.
